Seagrove Area

Work from L to R, by Vernon Owens, Pam Owen, Travis Owens, Bayle Owens, and Ben Owen III

North Carolina Pottery Center, 233 East Avenue, Seagrove. Through Apr. 22, 2017 - "The Busbee Legacy: Jugtown & Beyond, 1917-2017". The NC Pottery Center is pleased to present "The Busbee Legacy" marking one hundred years of the Busbees' influence on our state's pottery. Jacques and Juliana Busbee introduced classical ceramics from around the world to local Seagrove potters and fundamentally changed how Seagrove pots were designed, made, and marketed. Through Feb. 11, 2017 - "North Carolina's Traditional Women Potters". The exhibit is the culmination of a study and lecture presented at the Catawba Valley Pottery & Antiques Festival, in Hickory, NC, in 2015. The twentieth century saw the emergence of women potters from the lineage of European settlers, and while Native American women had been making pottery here for thousands of years, their names and works were definitively recorded through writing and images only as the century progressed. Through Dec. 30 - "Into the Surface: Senior Exhibition, Abby Barringer". Barringer is a candidate for BFA in Art with Concentration in Ceramics, School of Art and Design, East Carolina University. She creates geometric designs that she carves and smoothes into her wheel thrown pottery. These patterns are based on her love for equal, consistent, and repeating designs. Ongoing - Featuring permanent and changing exhibits on the history of North Carolina pottery, "The North Carolina Pottery Tradition" and "Seagrove Area Pottery".
