Work by Christopher French

Weatherspoon Art Museum, University of North Carolina - Greensboro, Cone Building, Tate and Spring Garden Streets, Greensboro. McDowell Gallery, Through Apr. 23 - "Lucinda Devlin: Sightlines". Organized by the Weatherspoon Art Museum, the exhibition is the artist's first museum retrospective. It features 83 photographs chosen from all eight of Devlin's series—many of which were printed for the first time for display. Devlin's photographs serve as social commentaries on timely and socially relevant issues such as personal rights, the death penalty, and agribusiness. An internationally recognized American photographer who now lives in Greensboro, NC, Devlin began her career in the 1970s during the genesis of color photography in America. The Louise D. and Herbert S. Falk, Sr. Gallery, Through Apr. 9 - "Hoping to Help - Danica Phelps: Falk Visiting Artist". With eloquent line drawings and an exacting system of colored marks, artist Danica Phelps records the ordinary moments of her daily life and the monetary transactions that sustain it. In her newest work, she connects her visual journal to the lives of others. In late October, Phelps turned her Facebook page into an auction site for her drawings, with the proceeds going to not-for-profit organizations. The records of these philanthropic transactions will debut at the Weatherspoon. The Leah Louise B. Tannenbaum Gallery, Through Apr. 9

- "Joan Tanner: donottellmewhereibelong". Drawing has always been central to Joan Tanner's artistic production, which also includes painting, sculpture, and installation work. This assembly of works on paper spans three decades—from 1983 to 2013—and demonstrates the confluence of the artist's hand and mind. Particularly in works from 2013 entitled donottellmewhereibelong, Tanner demonstrates the characteristic tensions in her work, between ephemeral markings and grounded elements, complexity and nuance, nature and human systems. Gallery 6, Through June 4 - "Minimalism/Post-Minimalism". Works in this exhibition explore the development of and stylistic variety within Minimalism, as well as its continued influence on visual art today. Beginning in the 1960s, many artists started to question the importance of having an object refer to something beyond itself or of it being executed by the artist's own hand. For example, Sol LeWitt's wall piece displays the Minimalists' preference for the impersonal, geometric, and modular. In addition, by hanging it on the wall, LeWitt questioned and compressed the heretofore division between two- and three-dimensional work, a concept later explored by Allan McCollum in his plaster "paintings." Still other artists such as Fred Sandback and Richard Haas, and later Emil Lukas and Peter Alexander, investigated non-art materials like spring steel, paper cups, and resin. Rounding out the exhibition are works by Agnes Martin, Eva Hesse, Ellsworth Kelly, Sean Scully, and Christopher French, among others. Atrium and Lobbies - Featuring works of art complementing current gallery exhibitions which are rotated in the atrium and public areas throughout both floors of the gallery. Tom Otterness' site-specific work, "The Frieze" is permanently installed in the atrium. Sculpture Courtyard - Featuring selections of American sculpture from 1900 to the present from the Weatherspoon Collection and on loan works from contemporary artists. Admission: Free. Hours: Tue., Wed. & Fri., 10am-5pm, Thur., 10am to 9pm and Sat. & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 336/334-5770 or at (<http://weatherspoon.uncg.edu/>).
