Finding ground in their shared interest in the landscape, pattern, light and the perception and navigation of the natural world, Rachelle Thiewes and Suzi Davidoff's collaborative projects range from artist books to installation to video with a focus on human interaction with the environment. Mezzanine Gallery, Through Sept. 26 - "The Seen & the Unseen: Annie Waldrop," featuring a mixed media installation. Waldrop's sculpture re-imagines a feminine narrative by linking personal experience and cultural myths with elements found in nature. She pays homage to family ties across generations, an unbroken lineage suggested by intimate symbols of the life cycle, fertility, and rebirth. Community Gallery, Through Sept. 26 - "Reassembling from the Heavy Metal Series: Nancy Britelle". Britelle uses recycled and water-based materials to transform ordinary detritus into ancient sculptural forms made of precious metals that look centuries old but are shaped within a modern context. Gallery A, Sept. 4 - Dec. 19 - "Can I Touch It?: Endia Beal". A reception will be held on Nov. 6, from 6-10pm. "What's really going on here?" That's a question the artist Endia Beal asks throughout her work, which shines a bright, unwavering light on the ways in which black women are relegated to obscurity in our culture. "Beal is acutely aware of the underrepresentation of minority stories in contemporary art circles; it is even more rare to find stories of black women working within the structures of corporate America," says Turchin Center Curator Mary Anne Redding. Gallery B, Sept. 4 - Dec. 19 - "Intervention: Kirsten Stolle". A reception will be held on Nov. 6, from 6-10pm. Take a closer look at the pretty floral wallpaper featured in the multimedia artist Kirsten Stolle's mid-century kitchen, "Miracle Grow," and you'll notice not-so-innocent pesticide cans and herbicide containers where a daisy's cheery center should be. "Stolle's installations examine the influence of corporate agribusiness and biotech companies on the food supply," says Redding. "Using the 1950s as a post-atomic stage set with its inherent tensions between domestic contentment and the ongoing threat of nuclear annihilation, Stolle explores the complex relationships between economy and ecology, creating interactive environments for the viewer to contemplate where their food comes from, how it was grown, and how the choices big business make 'behind the scenes' impact every-day choices about consumption." Mayer Gallery, Sept. 4 - Dec. 19 - "Sightings: Ruth Ava Lyons". A reception will be held on Nov. 6, from 6-10pm. "The artist Ruth Ava Lyons is inspired by her passion for diving, endangered watery ecosystems, natural disasters, and other environmental factors," says Redding. Lyons is also a hoop-dancer, a motorcyclist and a keen adventurer, whose experiences at the Great Barrier Reef in Australia, the Florida Everglades, Congaree National Park, Cumberland Island and other national parks and forests have intensified her concern for the negative effect of man's behavior on the natural world. Rather than a dark and gloomy vision, however, Lyons has translated her preoccupations into "brightly colored mixed media paintings that evoke the shimmering hues of the sea and the sensuality of moist surroundings," says Redding. Hours: 10am-6pm, Tue., Wed., Thur., & Sat. and Fri., noon-8pm. Contact: Hank T. Foreman at 828/262-3017 or at (www.turchincenter.org).
