Work by Michelle Radford

Spoonbill Gallery, 1292 Pendleton Street in the Village of West Greenville. Through Feb. 1 - "Nature Deconstructed," featuring works by Becca Splawn and Shelley Cade. A bold new joint exhibition explores the essence of nature through personal & artistic transformation, reimagining and reconnecting with one's experiences. The exhibit features a collection of artworks featuring Becca Splawn and Shelley Cade reinterprets the natural world in abstract and dynamic ways, inviting viewers to consider the fundamental shapes, colors, and forms that compose the landscapes around us. This collaboration between two of Greenville, South Carolina's highly acclaimed artists. Both Splawn and Cade take their exploration of nature to new depths in "Nature Deconstructed." This series is about breaking down what we see in the natural world and reassembling it into something unexpected. Feb. 7 - Mar. 1 - "Life, Labor, Laundry, Lace: Collaborating with Women of the Past," features a solo exhibition by local artist Michelle Radford. A reception will be held on Feb. 7, from 6-9pm. The exhibition explores the intersection of landscape painting and domestic textiles, highlighting the overlooked artistry of women's domestic work throughout history. For centuries, women have expressed their creativity and skill through textiles, often in private spaces, their labor undervalued as an art form. Radford honors these anonymous makers by weaving their handmade lace doilies and vintage textiles into her landscape paintings, giving their work a new stage. "I begin these pieces by sourcing vintage textiles," Radford shares. "Often, they are entrusted to me by women who have received them as heirlooms. These doily donors know each piece represents countless hours of careful work by an ancestor, and they want the objects to be enjoyed and appreciated. Ongoing - The gallery's collection features a variety of national artists complemented by a showcase of rising talents. Spoonbill Gallery is dedicated to fostering a deeper appreciation for art and culture, serving as a hub for artistic expression and creativity in the southeast. Hours: Tue.-Fri., 10am-5pm & Sat., 10am-4pm. Contact: 864/735-7879 or visit (www.spoonbillgallery.com).
