Gibbes Museum of Art in Charleston, SC, Features Works by Reynier Llanes

The Gibbes Museum of Art in Charleston, SC, is presenting Reynier Llanes: Passages, on view in the Museum's Galleries 8 & 9, through Sept. 15, 2024.

The exhibition features the vibrant narrative paintings of Reynier Llanes, an established Cuban artist who spent six years working in Charleston before settling in Miami in 2015.

"We were first introduced to Reynier Llanes' work when he was awarded the Artist in Residence position at Jonathan Green Studios. For six years, Charleston's art and cultural community served as inspiration to Reynier, and we are thrilled to welcome him back to our city," says Angela Mack, president and CEO of the Gibbes Museum of Art. "This exhibition will feature works that he made while living in Charleston and will also introduce the community to many of his latest creations."

Llanes, born in 1985 in Pinar del Rio, Cuba, honed his artistic talents at the city's School of Art (Instructores de Arte) under the coaching of renowned realist artist Juan Miguel Suárez before moving to Havana in 2005 to continue his studies. Immigrating to the United States in 2007, Llanes established himself as a prominent artist with exhibitions like Strange Visitor in Naples, FL, and an artist residency at Jonathan Green Studios in Charleston.

Recognized by Oxford American in 2012 as a "New Superstar of Southern Art," Llanes's work, deeply influenced by Southern culture, was featured in a traveling exhibition, The Vibrant Vision Collection, at the Morris Museum in Augusta, GA, and the Gibbes Museum of Art in Charleston. With notable solo exhibitions at institutions such as the Butler Institute of American Art and the Polk Museum of Art, Llanes' art now resides in the permanent collections of renowned museums across the country.

Reynier Llanes: Passages features several of the artist's recent large-scale oil paintings, as well as works from earlier in his career including examples of his unique coffee watercolor paintings – a style he has

Redux Contemporary Art Center in Charleston, SC, Offers New Exhibits

The Redux Contemporary Art Center in Charleston, SC, is presenting new exhibitions, on view through Aug. 10, 2024.

On view in the Main Gallery is Creative Corridors, the annual Redux studio artist exhibition. The 2024 exhibition theme: "Experimentation". Artists were asked to create new work and with experimentation in mind. The annual studio artist exhibition is an opportunity for Redux resident artists to showcase a sample of their work, as it relates to a specific prompt and is curated as a group exhibition in Redux's main exhibition space.

On view in the Gallery 1056 is the exhibit Hale Horstman. Drawing from her archive of nearly 40 years as a professional photographer, Horstman presents her first solo art exhibition entitled Bathed In Light. In this series of black and white images taken in swimming pools in the 1990s, Horstman explores her transcendental relationship to light and the magical suspension of time experienced under the surface of the water.

On view in the Lightning Resident Gallery is the exhibit, Loose Joins, featuring works by Dylan Beckman and Joe Karlovac.

"Dear Dad", 2022, by Reynier Llanes (Cuban-American, b. 1985), Oil and mixed media on canvas, 60 x 40 inches. On loan courtesy of the collection of David and MaryEllen Rogers. Image ©Reynier Llanes.

dubbed "Espresionism." Llanes combines and contrasts scenes from nature and daily life with a mystical and imaginative elegance.

Drawing from his own memories and experience as an artist and immigrant, as well as his studies of literature, history and science, Llanes invites viewers into his unique dreamworlds. His explorations of personal and societal passages, both physical and spiritual, sensitively communicate common threads in humanity.

This exhibition is organized by the Gibbes Museum of Art and is made possible by generous sponsors BlueCross BlueShield of South Carolina, Lynch Cracraft Wealth Management of Raymond James, Gaylord and Dorothy Donnelley Foundation and the Jane Smith Turner Foundation.

In conjunction with Reynier Llanes: Passages, the Gibbes Museum of Art will hold exhibition-related programming throughout the show's time on view.

The Gibbes enriches lives through art. Charleston's only art museum, we are committed to telling the story of Charleston's ever-changing landscape and its people. Including historical, modern, and contemporary works, our collection spans 350 years and features some of the country's most celebrated artists. With world-class rotating exhibitions and a dynamic visiting artist residency program, there's so much to see inside. Set in the heart of downtown Charleston, the Gibbes is a southern museum with a global perspective.

For further information check our SC Institutional Gallery listings, call the Museum at 843/722-2706 or visit (www.gibbesmuseum.org).

Editorial COMMENTARY

by Tom Starland, Editor and Publisher

On Our Cover This Month

On our cover this month is a creation by Jim Gleason, part of the exhibition, Jim Gleason: A Study in Brass, on view at Francis Marion University's Steven F. Gately Gallery, in downtown Florence, SC, from June 4 - July 26, 2024. A reception will be held on June 13, from 5:30-7:30pm. Gleason takes parts of broken musical instruments, which can not be repaired, and turns them into magical creatures. Read about it on Page 30.

Lots of Anniversaries

Since 1984, internationally recognized artists have found a congenial home for their work at Jerald Melberg Gallery. This year marks the gallery's 40th anniversary.

A younger Jerald Melberg

As former curator at the Mint Museum, Melberg's extensive experience laid the foundation for four decades of success and collaboration with the City of Charlotte and in its Sister City Program in Arequipa, Peru. Jerald Melberg Gallery was founded on the conviction that it would be operated more like a museum than a typical gallery.

During his career Melberg has curated major exhibitions for such artists as Pablo Picasso, Romare Bearden, Robert Motherwell, Wolf Kahn and Dale Chihuly. He has focused on building the careers of the artists he represents, taking their work to the major art fairs in the United States as well as organizing museum exhibitions for them.

Smith Galleries on Hilton Head Island, SC, is celebrating its 36th anniversary. It has been 13,148 days since the opening day of Smith Galleries. While it may sound like a cliché, they are still having fun and enjoying their work even more so now. Their journey in the arts started 52 years ago in 1972, when they opened 'The Potters' Mark' in Gatlinburg, TN. Over the years, they've had many wonderful memories, but there have also been some challenging times. What they cherish most are the relationships they've built with the artists and customers they've met along the way. They would love for you to visit them at the gallery or visit their website. If you haven't been in the gallery lately, they've included some pictures they've taken over the years to give you a glimpse of what they offer at (smithgalleries.com).

Linda and I visited the The Potters' Mark studio/gallery in Gatlinburg and one of my prized works in our pottery collection is a vase created by Wally Smith. It's hard for me to believe that he no longer creates pottery works.

And then, one of our newest advertisers, With These Hands gallery, located on Edisto Island, SC, is celebrating 40 years in the biz. continued on Page 8 positions that speak to desires for control and manipulation. Through sculpture and photography, she probes at the various ways that fun and play are mobilized to lure and distract, persuade and coerce. Her work is situated in the intertwined nature of instruction, allegory and the infinite interpretations of what it means to 'believe'.

Beckman received her BA from Wesleyan University in 2017 and her MFA from the Yale School of Art in 2022. She is currently based in Charleston, SC, where she teaches photography at the College of Charleston and Trident Technical College.

Joe Karlovec relocated from Florida to Charleston with his wife and two kids in 2023. They live in a historic church that's been retrofitted into living spaces in the North Central neighborhood near Redux.

Karlovec received his BFA in Interior Architecture from the Cleveland Institute of Art, then briefly studied Landscape Architecture at Ohio State before earning his MFA in Painting at Kent State University.

Now calling Charleston home, Versteegen continues to evolve her artistic expression, seamlessly blending oil paints with mixed media techniques such as cold wax. This experimentation lends her landscapes and seascapes a captivating ethereal quality, capturing the essence of both global vistas and the charm of Lowcountry life.

McClellanville Arts Council in McClellanville, SC, Features Works by Kathleen V. Stuart

The McClellanville Arts Council in McClellanville, SC, is presenting Wax and Fiber, A Beautiful Journey, featuring works by Kathleen V. Stuart, on view through June 22, 2024.

Kathleen V. Stuart is an award-winning quilter, specializing in whole-cloth quilts and free form art quilting, who divides her time between teaching, lecturing, and working on quilts she enters in shows. Her work has been shown in the United States, Canada, and Jordan and has been featured in magazines and in videos, with several pieces in private collections including at the Art Institute of Chicago. Originally from Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada, where she explored several different forms of art, however, she always went back to fiber.

A few years ago, she discovered encaustic painting and fell in love with that art form. Learning to work with this medium, she has taken several classes from many teachers and has found that her photography integrates nicely into her work. Although she is newer to this medium, she has given lectures on the subject and has taught classes to beginners.

Splitting her time between North Carolina and Georgetown, SC, she and her husband enjoy travel and golf, both of which provide endless inspiration and opportunity to expand her love of art.

Work by Kathleen V. Stuart

and I've found limiting my focus has helped me improve in both areas. Fiber is very tactile, and, in that arena, I try to create the natural world."

"Molding and shaping fibers into trees, flowers, and rocks, trying to show the world outside my studio and encouraging the viewer to come closer and touch because it looks so real," adds Stuart. "The other side is hard. Encaustic wax melts, but then hardens capturing a flower, inks, or even a bug. Getting the wax to hold the idea I've created while working with a blow torch is so exciting to me. One little slip and one must start over... sometimes that is a good thing! My next step is to combine both mediums, but that won't be for a while."

The McClellanville Arts Council, located on Pinckney Street in McClellanville, was organized in 1977 by three young women who wanted to bring the fine arts, arts instruction, and cultural activities to the sleepy little fishing village where they had chosen to live. Furthermore, working through the local schools, churches, and fraternal organizations, they hoped to encourage residents to record, preserve, and publicize the unique culture of the coastal area encompassing the northern half of Charleston County, South Carolina.

For further information check our SC Institutional Gallery listings, call the Council at 843/887-3157 or visit (<https://www.mcclellanvilleartscouncil.com/>).

Work by Kathleen V. Stuart

Stuart offered the following statement, "At the ripe old age of 70, I discovered that I am an artist! Not one trying to impart the wisdom of my years, but rather one who loves to create art. I also found that I have too many ideas and want to try it all. With that said, I have put a restriction on my work... fiber and encaustic..."

City of North Charleston, SC, Features Works by K. Kim Thomas and Doug McAbee

The City of North Charleston's Cultural Arts Department is pleased to announce that concurrent solo exhibitions of mixed media assemblages by K. Kim Thomas (Charleston) and drawings and sculptures by Doug McAbee (Laurens, SC) will be on display at Park Circle Gallery from June 5 - 29, 2024. Thomas will offer a guided tour of her work from 1-2pm on June 8, and both artists will host a public reception at the gallery on June 28, from 5-7pm. Admission is free.

Charleston-based artist K. Kim Thomas presents Plastic Beach, mixed-media assemblages that are a visual discussion around climate change, nature, and our insatiable consumer culture. In manipulating debris through a variety of media - primarily sculpture, installation, and printmaking - she presents the viewer with an everyday object in an unexpected, new form.

In her exhibit, Plastic Beach, Thomas presents imagined future relics pieced together from the debris of both the natural environment and our plastic single-use culture. "I am particularly interested in the way these forms mimic human consumption and its relationship to pollution, which spreads over and suffocates the world around us, just as plastics become entangled in the environment," she explains.

Each piece brings with it the narrative associated with its materiality, the juxtaposition of nature and manmade, and challenges the viewer to contemplate their own relationship with these materials. Crocheted plastic shopping bags, prints made by inking and pressing found objects, and sculptures and installations created with materials sourced on neighborhood and beach walks and collected at home and work are displayed together to give clues of what future civilizations may view as artifacts from this current period of consumer culture.

Thomas completed her MFA in Studio Art at Memphis College of Art in 2012. Her works have been exhibited in various venues, including at the University of Georgia, Southern Illinois University, Latitude 53 in Alberta, Canada, and Museo del Brigantaggio in Itri, Italy. In 2011, she was selected for a solo exhibition at the Brooks Museum in Memphis, TN, and more recently presented a solo show at the Saul Alexander Gallery in 2023 and exhibited in and curated Recent Remnants, a group show at Summerville's Public Works Art Center in March 2024. Aside from being a practicing artist, Thomas is also a full-time high school art teacher in Summerville, SC.

In his exhibit It Don't Cost Nothin' To Be Nice, Laurens, SC, based artist Doug McAbee presents a collection of colorful drawings on uniquely shaped wood panels, vibrant hollow-form steel sculptures, and site specific drawings with acrylic paint marker. The result is an immersive opportunity for the viewer to walk through the interior of McAbee's mind. Characters from McAbee's imagination create narratives about interpersonal relationships in his ink drawings and steel sculptures. Even his most abstracted imagery is derived from organic forms with recognizable heads, eyes, and feet.

These characters interact within individual works of art and similarities in image, theme, and color begin to form among various works in the exhibition. These relationships are further enhanced with the site-specific murals on the gallery's movable walls. These murals introduce new characters who jump, play, and share stories with one another and create an environment similar to a life-sized illustrated story.

Work by Doug McAbee

"I was taught the power of laughter and humor by my father, and I seek to channel that power into my creative work," McAbee explains. "Knowing that art has the power to change how people think, I have chosen to communicate positive and hopeful messages to my audience through my work."

Doug McAbee learned to weld at age 7. While his imagination was running wild, his father began teaching him practical construction methods with steel. The sense of play and exploration he valued then is still with him as he creates whimsical and organic drawings and sculptures. McAbee earned his BA and MFA at Winthrop University, and his work has been exhibited in solo and group exhibitions and is part of numerous private and public collections throughout the US. He currently works as Associate Professor of Art at Lander University in Greenwood, SC. He lives out in the middle of nowhere with his family and their dogs and he creates drawings and sculptures when he's not teaching.

The Park Circle Gallery is located on Jenkins Avenue in North Charleston. Admission is free and free street parking is available on Jenkins Avenue in front of the gallery, as well as on the adjacent streets and in parking lots close by.

Charleston Crafts Co-op in Charleston, SC, Offers a Group Exhibit

The Charleston Crafts Co-op in Charleston, SC, will present Gone Fishin', featuring works by co-op artists, on view at Charleston Crafts Gallery, from June 1 - 30, 2024. An Open House will be held on June 7, from 5-8pm, in conjunction with the Charleston Gallery Association Art Walk.

June brings the prominence of summer time vibes, days of endless play, and a feeling of mischief. Outdoor activities such as fishing, hiking, camping and travel are among the various ways to relax and endure the long days.

Selma Andrews' whimsical polymer clay adornments are a must for summer wear. New fish brooches will delight.

Dan Diehl crafts engaging puzzles and maps - so useful to track summer adventuring. Lynn Gettlefinger layers intricate patterns of fiber creating delightful quilts that touch on fond summer memories.

compositions.

Regina Semko creates decorative origami using a wide range of papers. Look for new sailboats and shrimp in the gallery.

While these members are in the spotlight, the work of all the gallery's members are also on display and available for purchase, including jewelry, wood puzzles, encaustic paintings, mixed media collages, fiber art, apparel and accessories, as well as functional and decorative objects in wood, ceramic and glass.

Charleston's destination for Fine Craft since 1989, the gallery is located on East Bay Street, in the heart of the French Quarter, on "Gallery Row".
Charleston Crafts Cooperative Gallery is a dynamic community of more than two dozen jury-selected artisans, all from South Carolina, making this the city's only exclusively local craft gallery.

For further information check our SC Commercial Gallery listings, call the co-op at 843/501-7522 or visit (www.charlestoncraftsgallery.com).

The deadline each month to submit articles, photos and ads is the 24th of the month prior to the next issue. This will be May 24th, at 5pm for the June 2024 issue and June 24, at 5pm for the July 2024 issue. After that, it's too late unless your exhibit runs into the next month. And where do you send that info? E-mail to (info@carolinarts.com).

Celebrating forty years of business

Robert Lange Studios in Charleston, SC, Features a Celebration of 20 Years of Works by Robert Lange

Works by Robert Lange

The Robert Lange Studios in Charleston, SC, will present Time and Time Again, featuring a 20 year anniversary of works by Robert Lange, on view from June 7 - 28, 2024. A reception will be held on June 7, from 5-8pm.

Robert Lange's distinctive style and imaginative compositions have captivated art enthusiasts worldwide, and Time and Time Again promises to be a showcase of his artistic brilliance. The 20-year anniversary exhibition will feature a collection of paintings that look back at Lange's favorite subjects to paint over the past two decades, each imbued with his signature flair for imaginative, optimistic work.

Lange's fascination with round reflective balls, magical realism style animals in shiny bowls, and optical illusions takes center stage in this highly anticipated show. Through his mastery of technique and keen eye for imaginative storytelling, Lange invites viewers into a world where reality intertwines with the surreal, offering a fresh perspective on familiar subjects.

"We are thrilled to host Robert Lange's Time and Time Again exhibition at our gallery," said RLS director, Curry Ernst. "Robert's ability to capture the spirit of his subjects in such a unique and captivating manner is truly remarkable. This exhibition promises to be an unforgettable experience for art enthusiasts and collectors alike."

Visitors to the exhibition can expect to be mesmerized by Lange's intricate brushwork, vivid colors, and thought-provoking imagery. From the mesmerizing reflections in round spheres, to depictions of 20 foot masterworks on tiny canvases, to the whimsical charm of animals nestled in bowls and paint tubes making love, each painting tells a story that invites contemplation and reflection.

Time and Time Again is not only a celebration of Lange's artistic journey over 20 years in Charleston but also an exploration of the passage of time and the cyclical nature of life. Through his evocative compositions, Lange encourages viewers to embrace the beauty of the present moment while reflecting on the eternal themes that unite us all. Lange is creating 24 works for the exhibit including 2 works depicting his favorite subject of all, his children.

"Looking at the magic of childhood through my children's eyes has allowed me to create the paintings I have always searched for. My paintings of Teya and Bear tend to be imagination-filled surreal expressions of youthful joy," says Lange.

Lowcountry Artists Gallery in Charleston, SC, Features Works by Teresa Jones

Lowcountry Artists Gallery in Charleston, SC, will present Here and There, featuring works by Teresa Jones, on view from June 1 - 30, 2024. A reception will be held on June 7, from 5-8pm, during the Charleston Gallery Association's Art Walk.

This exhibit will transport you from the charm of Charleston to inspiring destinations in European cities and the countryside beyond.

Jones's serene oil paintings of landscapes and architectural landmarks showcase her keen eye for detail and color. The exhibit highlights Jones's ability to blend the familiar subjects of the Lowcountry with the broader and diverse beauty that she encounters in her travels.

Having lived in South Carolina most of her life, Jones is extremely familiar with the subtle beauties of this region. Her passion for capturing a glimpse of such beauty is what makes her paintings truly Southern and uniquely realistic. From coast to countryside to the mountains, she offers the

With These Hands Gallery on Edisto Island, SC, Celebrates 40 Years of Serving Up the Arts

With These Hands Gallery on Edisto Island, SC, will celebrate 40 years in business on June 7, 2024, from 10am-5pm, featuring in-store specials, giveaways, and mimosas while you shop.

With These Hands Gallery first opened its doors on June 10, 1984, by original owner Bill Brown and his vision of a true American Craft Gallery. 40 years ago, the importance of buying handmade, made in USA, and shopping local was not widely recognized. In 1993, Bill retired, and Beth Chessick became the second owner of the gallery. She continued to keep the gallery a true American Craft Gallery, and in 2003 won the NICHE award for Top 100 Retailers of American Crafts. NICHE was the magazine of The American Crafts Council.

In 2007, Carolyn Kelsey Wilson became the third owner of the gallery, and she continues to stay true to keeping the gallery an American Craft Gallery. Wilson has supported American Craft Week, a project of CRAFT (Craft Retailers & Artists For Tomorrow) since its inception and won an award in 2018 for Outstanding Charity Event Fundraiser for our local breast cancer organization, The Edisto Belles. Wilson is proud to be part of the American Craft Industry and its promotion.

A view of With These Hands Gallery

With These Hands Gallery has been an Edisto tradition for 40 years. Owner and long-time resident Carolyn Kelsey Wilson organizes and coordinates an array of handmade, one of a kind crafts and artwork by some of America's finest artists in Pottery, Art Glass, Wood, Metal, Jewelry, Fiber, Shells, Paintings and more. Visitors will discover unique gifts individually crafted in the tradition of a handmade lifestyle.

With These Hands Gallery is located at 547 Highway 174, on Edisto Island, SC.

Of course others are celebrating anniversaries this year including the Harvey B. Gantt Center for African-American Arts & Culture in Charlotte, NC, it is celebrating 50 years; the North Carolina Art Society is celebrating a 100 year anniversary of the date this grassroots citizen effort initiated the call for an art collection to belong to, serve, and represent the people of NC. This eventually led to the opening of the NC Museum of Art in Raleigh, NC. But the Senior art venue of the Carolinas is the Gibbes Museum of Art which opened in 1905 - 119 years ago.

The Arts Council of Fayetteville/Cumberland County, in Fayetteville, NC, is celebrating 50 years; GreenHill in Greensboro, NC, is celebrating 50 years; Piedmont Craftsmen in Winston-Salem, NC, is celebrating 60 years; Asheville Art Museum is celebrating 75 years; and the Hickory Museum of Art in Hickory, NC, is celebrating 80 years. And I'm sure there are others. The Carolinas are part of America's original 13 states, so their institutions are fairly old. We started showing art long before the rest of the country eventually caught on to the fact that people would want to see art.

Greenville Center for Creative Arts in Greenville, SC, Offers Three-Person Exhibition

The Greenville Center for Creative Arts in Greenville, SC, will present Silent Surfaces: Mapping Spatial & Personal Discoveries, on view in GCCA's Main Gallery, from June 7 through July 24, 2024. A reception will be held on June 7, from 6-9pm.

Silent Surfaces: Mapping Spatial & Personal Discoveries is a three-person exhibition featuring the artwork of Donnie Copeland (Arkansas), Ryan Lewis (Michigan), and Matthew McLaughlin (Maryland) - each offering distinct avenues of exploration into introspection, spatial cognition, and nuanced patterns of existence.

Copeland's "Interrupted Paths" series examines ideas interruptions and transitions through painted collage, prompting viewers to consider the parallels between the visual disruptions of his painted striations to the complexities of life's journey.

Lewis's "Everted Sanctuaries" delves into the nature of introversion, revealing the delicate balance between speaking out and blending in. Through stop-motion animation videos, Lewis uncovers the unseen struggles of introverts, utilizing found objects as metaphors for the transformative process from silence to expression.

Kilgore Condon is among South Carolina's most prolific and respected painters. She is the owner of Greenville's Artbomb Studios. Established in 2001 in the Village of West Greenville, Artbomb launched what is now Greenville's most important arts district.

It is Kilgore Condon's long standing relationship with the West Village and the changes to the community that she wrestles with in her current work. Birds, Chimney Swifts in particular, appear throughout her work in flocks and as individuals in natural environments. Chimney Swifts are small birds that look somewhat like swallows and are sometimes mixed in with flocks of swallows - they are nothing if not resilient creatures. They originally nested in old tree stumps then wood fence posts. After eastern forests were cut down and wooden fence posts went to the wayside, they adapted to nesting in chimneys. It is the Chimney Sweep's need to find a place to nest, to find quiet and stillness, that intrigues Kilgore Condon and resonates with her desire to hang on to the simple sound of emptiness. Kilgore Condon states, "There is a colony of about 75-100 Swifts that swoop through West Greenville every night in the summer - they tend to catch insects in big loops around the 140 year old oak tree in the heart of the Village. Soon the tree will be cut down and apartments will be erected in its place. I wish this wasn't allowed to happen but I'm hopeful that the Swifts will find homes in the neighborhood where there are still trees."

This show explores two distinct approaches to the life of the world. Virginia Russo's work is an intensely personal unfolding of a mysterious inner world, exploring things external and internal, seen and unseen. Rissa Berlin's work reveals the poetry of patterns and movements in nature, focusing primarily on birds while juxtaposing them against abstracted order. This represents the invisible knowledge revealed in migratory paths and cosmic forces. Together, they paint nature and reality from both sides, harmonizing visually into a two-woman art show of unusual depth.

Artists Collective | Spartanburg, SC, Features Works by Logan Foster

Artists Collective | Spartanburg, in Spartanburg, SC, will present Daydreamin': Love Is Blue, showcasing oils, acrylics by Logan Foster, on view in Gallery III, from June 4 - 29, 2024. A reception will be held on June 20, until 8pm, as part of Spartanburg ArtWalk.

Upstate artist Logan Foster, aka Divinity, welcomes those viewing her oil and acrylic works and poems into her daydreams to help them recapture feelings from childhood in her upcoming exhibition Daydreamin': Love Is Blue.

"This exhibition in particular is a meditation on my daydreams," Foster explains. "The color blue is usually seen in my work. Blue, for me, represents the essence of love and pain, being met with both in my life. I use acrylic and oil paints to form Black/indigenous beings so that we can be seen in our full glory."

"Each painting tells a story, all special and true in my heart," continues Foster, who has been an artist for just three years and a member of the Artists Collective since 2021. "Each piece is a gateway. I am welcoming the viewer into my mind, into my daydreams. My intention is that the viewer will be able to take a step back and remember what it felt like to have a childlike nature. I believe that we can access our dreams at any time. Being that I am a Pisces, I gravitate toward the unseen. My intention is to make those spaces visible."

Foster, a self-taught artist based in Spartanburg, combines poetry and painting together to guide the viewer through an experience of black culture. She says she works "to improve the representation of Black and indigenous peoples in American art. I believe art is to shift the consciousness collective in a positive direction," she says.

She wants her works to "ignite a conversion. I also hope that the viewer feels some sense of humanity and playfulness throughout the show. One can expect to see a lot of blue in the exhibit, and I hope the viewer can see themselves in the work in some way. I hope that people are able to leave with a feeling of gratitude and an appreciation for dreaming."

The 15 works in the exhibition will be available for purchase, with prices starting at $50.

"I am grateful to be exhibiting at ACS," Foster says. "I'm thankful for the support of my community. ACS has been a huge part of the development of my career as an artist. I have been able to receive so much support through the Collective."

The Artists Collective | Spartanburg, located on W. Main Street, provides a forum and home for the arts and creative population of Spartanburg, providing facilities and services to artist members for exhibits, performances and creation.

Arts Council of York County in Rock Hill, SC, Features Works by Doug McAbee & More

The Arts Council of York County in Rock Hill, SC, is presenting Chain Reactions of Light, featuring works by Doug McAbee, on view in the Dalton Gallery at the Center for the Arts, through June 7, 2024.

Using playful creatures as symbols for human challenges, McAbee's pieces carry a hopeful undertone, inviting viewers of all ages to engage with their whimsy. The imaginative creatures are used as stand-ins for the characters in McAbee's narratives, and his work focuses on the challenges that face all humans regardless of race, gender, or class. These issues are communicated through narratives and while the problems and dualities are acknowledged, there is always a sense of hope that we will overcome these challenges with kindness and community.

Doug McAbee learned to weld at age 7. While his imagination was running wild, his father began teaching him practical construction methods with wood and steel. The sense of play and exploration he valued then is still with him as he creates whimsical and organic drawings and sculptures.

McAbee earned his MFA at Winthrop University and works as Professor of Art at Lander University in Greenwood, SC. He lives out in the middle of nowhere with his family and their dogs and he creates drawings and sculptures when he's not teaching.

On view in the Perimeter Gallery is BMX Invitational Art Exhibition, on view through June 7. Experience the exhilaration of the cycling scene through artists' eyes. The BMX Invitational Art Exhibition captures the thrilling spirit of BMX as cyclists round the corners, race the straights, and jump the gaps.

Participating artists include: Mary Brown, Constance Buchanan, M.C. Churchill-Nash, Barbara Curry, Sarah Kennedy Irwin, Gerry King, Dr. Bradley Sabelli, and Deena Shuffler.

The Arts Council is headquartered in downtown Rock Hill, a state-recognized cultural district.

This Year's Juror

C. Allen Coleman

Artist, educator, critic, curator, consultant

Artist, educator, advisor, curator, administrator, and collector are all words that can be used to describe Allen Coleman. Coleman, who is an artist and the principal consultant for AI's Fine Art & Musings, is a seasoned creative professional with a diverse background and experience in business and the arts. With graduate and post-graduate degrees from Appalachian State University and New York University, Coleman, a native of Easley, SC, has served in positions ranging from high school art instructor to university adjunct instructor. He was the director of the 80 Washington Square East Galleries, and an associate at the André Emmerich Gallery in New York, NY.

Before his professional retirement, he was the 20-year director of the Pickens County Museum of Art & History as well as the Hagood Mill Historic Site & Folklife Center. In addition to the curation of more than seventy exhibitions, Coleman has administered approximately two hundred exhibitions and has been involved in the mounting of over four hundred exhibitions, performances, and presentations. In addition to the above ventures Coleman still pursues his first passion as an artist, a painter of his own quixotic interpretations.

Mint Museum Uptown in Charlotte, NC, Offers Work by Whitfield Lovell

The Mint Museum Uptown in Charlotte, NC, will present Whitfield Lovell: Passages, curated by Michèle Wije, PhD, on view from June 29 through Sept. 22, 2024.

Consisting of two immersive installations and approximately 30 additional works, Whitfield Lovell: Passages is the most comprehensive exhibition of works by artist Whitfield Lovell.

Lovell (born in 1959) is renowned for his masterful conté crayon portraits and multi-sensory installations that focus on aspects of African American history, while raising universal questions about identity, memory, and America's collective heritage. The exhibition brings together two of Lovell's major installations, Deep River (2013) and Visitation: The Richmond Project (2001), with a selection of freestanding tableaux and works on paper from his acclaimed Kin series (2008–2011) and Spell Suite (2019–2020), as well as the premiere presentation of his forthcoming Card Pieces II. Through a combination of visual projections, sound, and found objects, as well as examples from Lovell's works on paper, visitors will be enveloped in hidden histories and cultural memory of the African American experience.

The subtitle, Passages, also refers to the subject matter of his work, which explores the struggle for equality, physical migration, social progress, and self-sufficiency that have been part of the African American experience. The exhibition includes works from Lovell's past series, Kin (2008–2011), and his newest, The Reds (2021–2022). Audiences will bear witness to works created on luscious, deep crimson paper that evokes warmth, passion, and the sanguine. The Reds are presented alongside two operational telephones that, when their receivers are lifted, emit the familiar and galvanizing refrain of "Lift Every Voice and Sing," the hymn written and set to music by brothers James Weldon Johnson (1871–1938) and J. Rosamond Johnson (1873–1954).

Photographs of African Americans taken between the Emancipation Proclamation and the Civil Rights Movement provide inspiration for his work created on paper or salvaged wooden boards. He uses a highly refined portrait style to depict stories of African American individuals' daily lives and extraordinary journeys.

Organized by the American Federation of Arts (AFA) in collaboration with the artist, the exhibition is supported by the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) and the Terra Foundation for American Art, the exhibition will fill galleries on Level 3 and Level 4 of Mint Museum Uptown. This is the first exhibition these multisensory installations by Lovell are presented together in a museum-wide show of this monumental size and scope.

Whitfield Lovell is the recipient of a 2007 MacArthur Foundation Fellowship, colloquially referred to as the "genius grant," and the 2014 National Academy Award for Excellence. Lovell has had solo exhibitions at the Smith College Museum of Art (2011) in Northampton, MA, and The Phillips Collection (2016) in Washington, DC, and he was a featured artist at the opening exhibition of the National Museum of African American History and Culture in Washington, DC. His works are featured in the collections of major museums, including the Whitney Museum of American Art, New York; the Metropolitan Museum of Art; the Smithsonian American Art Museum, Washington, DC; the National Museum of African American History and Culture; the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts; the Yale University Art Gallery; the Hunter Museum of American Art; the Brooklyn Museum; the Studio Museum in Harlem, New York; the Seattle Art Museum; and many others.

Michèle Wije, PhD, is a former curator of exhibitions at the American Federation of Arts. She began her career at the Metropolitan Museum of Art and has organized several exhibitions including Sparkling Amazons: Abstract Expressionist Women of the 9th St. Show (2019) and Bisa Butler: Portraits (2020) for the Katonah Museum of Art, Katonah, New York.

The American Federation of Arts is the leader in traveling exhibitions internationally. A nonprofit organization founded in 1909, the AFA is dedicated to enriching the public's experience and understanding of the visual arts through organizing and touring art exhibitions for presentation in museums around the world, publishing exhibition catalogues featuring important scholarly research, and developing educational programs.

Harvey B. Gantt Center for African-American Arts + Culture in Charlotte, NC, Offers Works by Qualeasha Wood

The Harvey B. Gantt Center for African-American Arts + Culture at Levine Center for the Arts, in Uptown Charlotte, NC, is presenting Qualeasha Wood: code_anima, curated by Leandra-Juliet Kelley, on view through Sept. 22, 2024

Qualeasha Wood: code_anima explores identity, physical and digital boundaries, and the process of individuation through analysis of complex and socially accepted paradoxes. Defined as "an individual's true inner self," anima serves as a leitmotif in Wood's introspective work, which examines the archetypes found within physical and digital societies. As the artist states, "This body of work draws inspiration from the concept of deus ex machina - a narrative device that introduces an unexpected, external force to resolve a complex situation. This device allows us to highlight the paradoxical position of Black women in society - cast simultaneously as both saviors and scapegoats within a white supremacist framework."

Wood's technical skills are evident in the digital collages of her tapestries as well as the colorful scenes of her hand-made tuftings. The materiality of these textiles (the warp and weft) are embedded with a "code," serving as a symbol for the inner workings of the dual experiences felt by Black people, particularly Black women, as well as the multifaceted online identities that mirror or oppose our physical exist-

For Wood, "code_anima delves into the complexities of identity, expectation, and erasure through the prisms of race, gender, and sexuality. This exhibition is a critical examination of the roles historically ascribed to Black women, which demand both a resolution to systemic issues and the simultaneous stripping of personal autonomy and agency."

Qualeasha Wood (b. 1996 Long Branch, NJ) is a textile artist whose work contemplates realities around black female embodiment that do and might exist. Inspired by a familial relationship to textiles, queer craft, Microsoft Paint, and internet avatars, Wood's tufted and tapestry pieces mesh traditional craft and contemporary technological materials. She navigates both an Internet environment saturated in Black Femme figures and culture and a political and economic environment holding that embodiment at the margins. Like the vast majority of her age-peers, Wood has operated one mortal and multiple digital avatars since pre-adolescence. For her, intuitive combinations of analog and cybernetic compositional processes make for a contemporary exploration of Black American Femme ontology.

While Wood's tapestries blend images from social media with religious, specifically Catholic, iconography, her "tuftings" represent cartoon-like figures that recall the racist caricatures widespread in popular family programs of the early-mid-20th century and beyond. The tuftings have a distinctly different visual style from the artist's tapestry pieces. In them, Wood adopts a naive aesthetic that calls on the nostalgia of cartoon animations and their association with racial stereotyping to unpack notions of Black girlhood. Despite their formal simplicity, the tuftings reveal a lurking tension drawn from the artist's own experiences of consuming media rife with anti-Black prejudice throughout her life. Where the tapestries are absorbed in consumption and cyberculture, the tuftings speak to inherited trauma and necessarily implicate accountability in the viewer.

Wood has exhibited at The Art Institute of Chicago, The Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York), Hauser and Wirth (New York, Los Angeles, and Somerset, UK), Kendra Jayne Patrick (New York), Pippy Houldsworth Gallery, (London), Cooper Cole (Toronto), New Image Art (Los Angeles), and more. Her work is held in institutional collections, such as The Metropolitan Museum of Art, as well as international private collections. Wood lives and works in Brooklyn and Philadelphia, and is represented by Gallery Kendra Jayne Patrick and Pippy Houldsworth Gallery.

Celebrating 50 years, Harvey B. Gantt Center for African-American Arts + Culture is a multidisciplinary arts institution located in the heart of Charlotte, NC. Founded in 1974, the Gantt Center's mission is to present, preserve, and celebrate excellence in the art, history, and culture of African-Americans and those of African descent through visual and literary arts, dance, music, film, educational programs, theatre productions, and community outreach. The Gantt Center features fine art exhibitions from around the world and is home to the nationally celebrated John and Vivian Hewitt Collection of African-American Art, which was generously donated by Bank of America and is accessible online. Named for Charlotte civic leader and former mayor Harvey Bernard Gantt, the Gantt Center is housed in an iconic, award-winning structure designed by architect Philip Freelon, co-designer of the Smithsonian National Museum for African American History and Culture (NMAAHC).

Hickory Museum of Art in Hickory, NC, Offers Works by Randy Bacon

The Hickory Museum of Art in Hickory, NC, is presenting CURATING LIFE: Our Museum, Our Story - A Randy Bacon Exhibition, on view through June 30, 2024.

In honor of Hickory Museum of Art's 80th anniversary, the Museum is pleased to present its newest exhibition, which celebrates the impact art holds in everyday life. Art plays a role in all of our lives. This is captured in a special project by humanitarian and renowned photographer Randy Bacon.

Members of our community were invited to spend time with Randy Bacon, reflecting on their personal journeys with art and with the Museum. The result is a breath-taking exhibition of still photography portraits, written narratives, and conversation films. The individual films with each participant were woven together into a feature-length film.

Randy Bacon is an award-winning American photographer with an extensive history in portrait, commercial, and documentary photography, both motion and still. Bacon is also co-founder and artist behind the photography and cinematography of the nonprofit, people empowering story movement, "7 Billion Ones". The Museum premiered his exhibition of the same name, "7 Billion Ones", in 2022.

The Hickory Museum of Art is thankful for the generous support from our exhibition sponsors: TSH Charitable Foundation, ABS Legacy Partners, LLC, Hailey and Scott Lail, The Reyes Family, and annual sponsor Shurtape Technologies.

This project is presented in conjunction with Hickory Museum of Art's 80th Anniversary.

The Hickory Museum of Art has a rich and vibrant history that spans almost eight decades. Established in 1944, the museum has grown to become a prominent cultural institution in the region, showcasing a diverse range of art forms. Over the years, the museum has consistently offered an impressive selection of exhibitions that feature both local and internationally known American artists, allowing visitors to explore various artistic expressions. With its commitment to supporting emerging talents, the museum has also played a vital role in nurturing and promoting the artistic community in Hickory. Through its educational programs, workshops, and collaborations with other arts organizations, Hickory Museum of Art continues to foster a dynamic and inclusive space for creativity and cultural enrichment.

The museum is located on the SALT Block, on 3rd Avenue NE, Hickory. Admission is free.

For further information check our NC Institutional Gallery listings, call the Museum at 828/327-8576, ext 201 or visit (www.hickoryart.org).

City Art Gallery in Columbia, SC, Features Works by Mike Williams

Williams offered the following statement: "It begins with a gesture, no plan other than to paint. Guided by instinct and intuition, I explore subjects and materials in an atmosphere of stimulating music that enhances my ability to function creatively and sets my mind at ease. As I work into a rhythm of layering marks and colors, the process unfolds. Each added line, wash, smear, smudge, and scrape has a profound effect on the whole. As a composition begins to emerge, the arduous and often intriguing part of the creative process begins - the analysis."

"What's working? How shall I proceed? I sit and study and give the work a chance to tell me what to do," adds Williams. "If it doesn't speak, I bombard it with more paint, draw on it, scrape it, scratch it or whatever it takes to move the work in a satisfying direction even if that means grinding it down and restarting. I'm an action painter at heart. Action painters act, then think. What I want to make is an exciting painting, unique to me, with lyricism and dynamics drawn from nature and life. I use no formulas to achieve this goal; each piece is characterized by this process and that ensures its authenticity. I do not consider a work complete unless it challenges or advances my understanding of painting."

Work by Mike Williams

Mike Williams, (American b. 1963 in Sumter, SC). He earned a BFA/Painting from the University of South Carolina.

Williams adds, "I was born to be an avid outdoorsman with a love for fishing and a determination to pursue art as a career and that's what I've done for the past 34 years. Memory, metaphor, myth, and the illustration of my experiences in nature, serve as points of departure for my abstract representational work in painting and sculpture."

Work by Mike Williams

"While I love every Bonnard and Vuillard painting I see, the Post War Era and the prevailing philosophies of the Avant-garde movement are what I relate to most. Pierre Bonnard said, "Imagination is merely the exploitation of memory." With respect to purpose, Lucian Freud felt, "It is the only point of getting up every morning: to paint, to make something even better than before, not to give up, to compete, to be ambitious." Without art I'd be lost, therefore I continue to fish for understanding through my daily study and practice of painting."

Columbia Museum of Art in Columbia, SC, Offers Free Admission This Summer

The Columbia Museum of Art in Columbia, SC, has been selected to participate in Art Bridges Foundation's Access for All program, a transformative, three-year funding initiative aimed at increasing access to museums across America and fostering engagement with local audiences. Through this generous support, the CMA is launching Free Summer at the CMA, a new endeavor that offers all residents of South Carolina free general admission to the museum from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

"We are thrilled and thankful to Art Bridges for their generosity and commitment to expanding arts access across the country and specifically here in South Carolina," says Joelle Ryan-Cook, CMA deputy director. "This opportunity to focus on creative placemaking is so exciting and creates an environment where all SC residents are encouraged to return over and over for new experiences."

Funding provided by Access for All also supports expanded hours and activities, allowing the CMA to open to the public on Mondays during the summer beginning June 3 and to offer new free programs including live music, a silent book club, and tours, along with daily activities including drawing boards and scavenger hunts. Many programs have already launched, with more in development.

Free Summer at the CMA gives South Carolinians free general admission and fun ways to engage seven days a week, providing a vibrant, safe, climate-controlled space for multigenerational arts experiences.

Access for All represents a sweeping effort to get people back to museums after COVID-19 brought declines in revenue, staffing, and attendance. With many museums seeing just 71 percent of their pre-pandemic attendance, Access for All aims to restore pre-pandemic levels - and open opportunities for all people to enjoy American art by reducing barriers to access and strengthening community relationships.

Art Bridges Foundation is the vision of philanthropist and arts patron Alice Walton. The mission of Art Bridges is to expand access to American art in all regions across the United States. Since 2017, Art Bridges has been creating and supporting programs that bring outstanding works of American art out of storage and into communities. Art Bridges partners with a growing network of over 220 museums of all sizes and locations on nearly 700 projects across the nation, impacting over 4.1 million people, to provide financial and strategic support for exhibition development, loans from the Art Bridges Collection, and programs designed to educate, inspire, and deepen engagement with local audiences. The Art Bridges Collection represents an expanding vision of American art from the 19th century to present day and encompasses multiple media and voices. Columbia Museum of Art in Columbia, SC, Offers Exhibition Focused on the American Landscape

The Columbia Museum of Art in Columbia, SC, will present (Un)Settled: The Landscape in American Art, on view from June 15 through Sept. 8, 2024.

From natural wonders to the open road, the landscape has long been a muse in American art. (Un)Settled questions the shaping of national identity through objects from the colonial era to present. The variety of media and makers helps to redefine whose view is considered and expands on landscape's relevance and resonance in art.

(Un)Settled explores the rich, complicated, and evolving topic of what it means to be American. The exhibition presents historic artworks in conversation with modern and contemporary pieces to examine ideas such as defining national identity, the question of land preservation, the meaning of boundaries, the complexity of cultural landscapes, and how location shapes our sense of self.

Building upon noted Hudson River School paintings, (Un)Settled features works by artists including: Fidelity Bridges, Marsden Hartley, Georgia O'Keeffe, Benny Andrews, William Christenberry, Ana Mendietta, Ed Ruscha, Jeffrey Gibson, and Jacqueline Bishop. Through 40 artworks including examples of material culture such as furniture, glass, ceramics, and baskets, the exhibition highlights the evolving conversations around landscape and its relationship to establishing cultural and national identity over the last two centuries.

Henry François Farny, "Indian Encampment", 1911, Montgomery Museum of Fine Arts, Gift of the Ida Belle Young Art Acquisition Fund, 2021.3

This is one in a series of American art exhibitions created through a multi-year, multi-institutional partnership formed by the Wadsworth Atheneum Museum of Art as part of the Art Bridges Cohort Program. Led by the Wadsworth Atheneum Museum of Art (CT), the cohort includes three partners: the Columbia Museum of Art (Columbia, SC), the Mobile Museum of Art (Mobile, AL), and the Montgomery Museum of Fine Arts (AL). This innovative cross-regional partnership explores new ways of interpreting art and the American experience through dynamic exhibitions and an array of complimentary public programs.

The Columbia Museum of Art is a charitable nonprofit organization dedicated to lifelong learning and community enrichment for all. Located in the heart of downtown Columbia, SC, the CMA ranks among the leading art institutions in the country and is distinguished by its innovative exhibitions and creative educational programs. At the heart of the CMA and its programs is its collection, which encompasses 7,000 works and spans 5,000 years of art history. Established in 1950, the CMA now welcomes more than 150,000 visitors annually and is a catalyst for community creativity and education, engaging people of all ages and backgrounds. It is the recipient of a National Medal from the Institute of Museum and Library Services, a National Art Education Association award for its contributions to arts education, a National Park Foundation Award, and two Governor's Awards for the Arts for outstanding contributions to the arts in South Carolina.

In order to serve even more audiences, the CMA underwent a transformation. Funded by a successful capital campaign, the two-year renovation project garnered new collection galleries with a progressive thematic layout, new studios for artmaking, cutting-edge program and event spaces, and an entrance on Main Street. Overall, more than 15,000 square feet of functional space were added to the building's existing footprint.

Upstairs Artspace in Tryon, NC, Features Works by Tema Stauffer

Upstairs Artspace in Tryon, NC, will present Analogues: North & South, featuring photographs by Tema Stauffer, on view from June 9 through Aug. 30, 2024. A reception will be held on June 9, from 2:30-4:30pm.

Tema Stauffer is an associate professor of photography at East Tennessee State University, whose work examines the social, economic, and cultural landscape of American spaces.

The gallery's lower level will feature works from Stauffer's 2016-2017 series titled, "Upstate," which portray the lingering legacy of American industrial and agricultural history in and around Hudson, New York.

The upstairs level will showcase works from her "Southern Fiction" series taken between 2018 and 2021, which explore the environments that shaped the imaginations of 20th century Southern writers including Alice Walker, Flannery O'Connor, Eudora Welty, Tennessee Williams and others.

"Upstairs is excited to showcase this exhibition of compelling photographic images presenting in documentary-like fashion, a beautifully, thoughtfully told visual narrative," says show curator, Eldred Hudson. "As the show's title suggests, viewers are given the opportunity to explore the similarities and differences between two geographical regions and topical subjects that deepen one's understanding and interpretation of the American experience."

Stauffer earned her MFA in photography from the University of Illinois at Chicago in 1998. Her work has been exhibited at the Houston Fotofest Biennial, LiShui Photography Festival, Chicago Cultural Center, Terra Museum of American Art, Mint Museum, Musée Départemental d'Art Contemporain de Rouchechouart, and the Smithsonian's National Portrait Gallery, among other institutions.

Prior to her appointment at East Tennessee State, Stauffer taught at Concordia Page 20 - Carolina Arts, June 2024

Work by Tema Stauffer

University in Montreal, Ramapo College of New Jersey, College of Staten Island, School at ICP, William Paterson University, and Toxic Culture in Mexico City.

Her work is represented by Tracey Morgan Gallery in Asheville, NC.

In 2018, Daylight Books published a monograph of her series, "Upstate." The book was nominated for the Unveil'd Photobook Award 2018 and the prints were exhibited at ETSU's Reece Museum, Tracey Morgan Gallery, Ikon Art Gallery, and Hudson Hall. Daylight released a monograph of "Southern Fiction" in Fall 2022. This series was recently exhibited at Auburn University's Biggin Gallery, Tracey Morgan Gallery, ETSU's Reece Museum, and MTSU's Baldwin Photographic Gallery.

Upstairs Artspace is a nonprofit contemporary art gallery in downtown Tryon, NC. It is supported by public and private donations, sales of art, grants, and fundraising events. It is supported in part by the Polk County Community Foundation, the Mary F. Kessler Fund, and public and private donations.

Founded in 1978, Upstairs Artspace is Tryon's oldest fine art gallery and is operated by its Board of Directors, members, and volunteers. It exhibits 10 to 15 shows annually that are generally conceived around themes or genres.

Upstairs Artspace maintains three gallery spaces totaling approximately 3000 square feet and rotates fine art exhibitions every six weeks that are selected by committee and independent curators. These exhibits include most forms of art media including painting, sculpture, mixed media, works on paper, prints, photography, digital media, videography and installations. The artists are selected for their abilities and reputations, and while most are from our region, we also feature work from other parts of the country.

Upstairs Artspace is known throughout the region as a gallery featuring art that is contemporary and avant-garde. Artists are selected by qualified exhibits committee members. While most of the art in an exhibition is available for purchase, Upstairs Artspace is not a retail gallery and does not

Penland School of Craft in Penland, NC, Offers Works by Katie Hudnall, Amy Putansu, and Sarah Vaughn

The Penland School of Craft in Penland, NC, will present Where Water Meets Land, featuring works by Katie Hudnall, Amy Putansu, and Sarah Vaughn, on view in the Focus Gallery, from June 25 through Aug. 3, 2024.

Woodworker Katie Hudnall grew up along the Potomac River and spent childhood summers on the South Carolina coast. Her fanciful, sometimes functional, sometimes impractical, painted wooden objects are inspired by furniture, illustration, tools, toys, and all things nautical. Hudnall prefers using recycled and found wood whenever possible as it sparks new discoveries and encourages an openness to change and adaptation.

Textile artist Amy Putansu spent her childhood growing up on the Atlantic Ocean along the rugged coast of Maine. Her hand woven "paintings" use a rare weaving technique called ondulé which allows her to manipulate threads into wave-like patterns that suggest the fluidity and movement of water. These contemplative works keep Putansu connected to her heritage and homeland while serving as personal meditations on the impermanence of all things.

Glass artist Sarah Vaughn has always been drawn to rivers, lakes, and anywhere she could become lost in a sea of smooth stones. She creates recollections of rocks, small moments that are not meant to last, in materials that are permanent yet fragile. Her perfectly composed and stacked groupings of glass and porcelain rocks serve as a metaphor for personal experiences and the precarious nature of life.

Tryon Arts & Crafts School in Tryon, NC, Features Works by Kevin Sprouls and Janet Orselli

Tryon Arts & Crafts School at Harmon Field in Tryon, NC, will present two exhibitions including: Illustration, Glancing Back, a solo exhibition featuring original works by renowned illustrator Kevin Sprouls and the unveiling of Janet Orselli's highly anticipated site-specific art installation, Precious Things. Both exhibits will be open to the public from June 1 through July 19, 2024.

Illustration, Glancing Back is a solo exhibition of original drawings by Kevin Sprouls, creator of the Wall Street Journal "hedcut" portrait style. The selections in this exhibition capture his signature style, which is achieved with technical fountain pens and India ink, to create an aesthetic akin to engravings and woodblock printmaking.

The survey exhibit includes various themes and genres, including architecture, landscapes, cityscapes, still lifes, and portraits of celebrities. Exhibition highlights include "Barack Obama" (2012), a portrait published on the cover of Harper's Magazine; "Villa Capronie, Rome" (2008), commissioned by Temple University; and "Space Toys" (1986), a conceptual illustration for the Wall Street Journal.

Sprouls' work has been featured in the Smithsonian magazine, a web exhibit of the National Portrait Gallery. He was a regular contributor to The New Yorker magazine and for several years the principal portrait artist for Worth Magazine. Sprouls' work has appeared in various ad campaigns for American Airlines, Bell Canada, Concord Watch Company, Brooks Brothers, and Thermador. His work has appeared in the pages of The Wall Street Journal, The New York Times, The Boston Globe, Fortune, Forbes, Runner's World, GQ, Sports Illustrated, Time, Men's Health, Euroman, and Esquire magazines. Book projects include the Encyclopedia of Guilty Pleasures and The Art of Demotivation, among others.

Sprouls' pen is housed in the Newseum in Washington, DC. He is married with 2 children, and lives in the bucolic foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, in North Carolina.

Janet Orselli's Precious Things installation creates an immersive experience, inviting the viewer into two distinct yet interconnected spaces within the gallery. Positioning TACS' movable walls, she creates the illusion of intimate rooms, prompting different modes of engagement: immersion or voyeurism. Orselli's found-object assemblages provoke contemplation on visual and conceptual dualities, encouraging the audience to explore the inherent meaning of objects and their arrangement.

From Tyron, NC, Orselli holds a Master of Fine Arts degree from Clemson University. She was selected to participate in artist residencies at Anderson Ranch, Colorado, Spring Island, SC, and Kaiserslautern, Germany. She received three Regional Artist Project Grants from the NC Arts Council and was awarded a national Pollock-Krasner Foundation Fellowship. She has been included in numerous group exhibitions and had over a dozen solo exhibitions including OK Harris Works of Art, NYC, and the Gibbes Museum of Art, Charleston, SC.

Orselli asks her viewers to rely on their senses, as her works encourage a slower pace, referring to a time past in which objects were cherished and made with care.

Appalachian State University in Boone, NC, Features Works by Corinne Jones

Appalachian State University in Boone, NC, will present Flowstones: Corinne Jones, on view in the Mayer Gallery of the Turchin Center for the Visual Arts, from June 7 through Nov. 2, 2024

A flowstone is created by mineral deposits laid down by water, slowly, quietly, in one place, over time. Flowstone grows approximately one inch every one hundred years. In one hundred years, how many societal changes have occurred in one place? Flowstones is a site-specific installation consisting of sound, sandbags, paintings, window works, and a text piece.

The exhibition is the debut of a new body of paintings which share the title Flowstones. Each painting is made of modular shapes that make up figurative units of measure. They are fragments of a larger puzzle. The surfaces are thickly layered and clouded by an ambiguous haze. Two window works Double Trap and Single Use II mirror each other and parallel the modular units in the paintings. The interlocking shapes form large mazes made of window film. The transparent material suggests that we look through the maze motifs and find alternate ways to solve problems.

Sunken Cities represent the common ground we share in the midst of climate reality. The piles of sandbags operate as seating areas for communication and contemplation. It is an area designated for reciprocity. Emanating from the stacked sandbags, a harmonic frequency, Τεχτρονική Κατάβαση (Tectonic Kataba-sis) - composed and performed by sound artist Jessica Stathos - fills the gallery space. The sound invokes brainwave entrainment to promote both introspection and social connectivity.

The Untitled Text brings elements of the exhibition together with an overarching theme. Flowstone forms slowly and geological time is indifferent to our own. The comparison brings to mind the various hidden histories over hundreds of years in which this country has yet to reckon. Common ground is unequal when vulnerable communities are the first to be displaced. A radical look at our collective past and cooperative action today is essential to shaping our future.

Corinne Jones (b.1972 Memphis, TN) has lived and worked in New York City since 1991. She earned an MFA from Columbia University in 2007 and a BFA from The School of Visual Arts in 1996. Jones has realized public art projects at Situations Gallery, New York; Elizabeth Street Garden, New York; Madison Park, Memphis; and Huling Street, Memphis. She has exhibited solo and two-person shows at Situations Gallery, New York; Jackie Klempey, Brooklyn; Museum of America Books, Brooklyn; and Tops Gallery, Memphis.

Jones has participated in various group shows including the Institute of Contemporary Arts, London, Tate Modern; London; and BWA Wrocław Galleries of Contemporary Art, Warsaw. Her work is held in many private and public institutions including the permanent collections at the Museum of Art, Rhode Island School of Design; Memphis Brooks Museum of Art; Zimmerli Art Museum at Rutgers University; and the Turchin Center for the Visual Arts; New York Presbyterian Hospital; and TD Bank.

Jones has published several editions, Liam Gillick & Corinne Jones, (Brigade Commerz/Liam Gillick), 2010, Plain English, 2014, and Trends in Repurposed Abstraction which debuted at the MoMA PS1 Art Book Fair in 2015. Her artwork has received critical praise from The New Yorker, Art News, Art Slant, Artcore Journal, Ravelin, and The Brooklyn Rail.

Jones is an adjunct Associate professor at both the Cooper Union and the Fashion Institute of Technology.

Blowing Rock Arts and History Museum in Blowing Rock, NC, Features Works by Lynn Hobaica and Rickie Barnett

Blowing Rock Arts and History Museum in Blowing Rock, NC, is presenting Two Headed Diver: Lynn Hobaica & Rickie Barnett, on view in the Schaefer Gallery, through Nov. 2, 2024.

Two Headed Diver: Lynn Hobaica and Rickie Barnett is an exhibition in three entangled parts, featuring the individual yet mutually-informed studio practices of Lynn Hobaica, Rickie Barnett, and their collaborative work under the moniker "Two Headed Diver." Their characters - often simultaneously fantastic and mundane - are produced through a heady concoction of personal myth-making, morality tale, and a distinct sense of New World wonder.

Both artists' work is driven by narrative, though their singular approaches to storytelling are often pleasantly obscured by layered surface treatments and enigmatic ring patterns and decorative elements to elevate seemingly humble or alien subjects - chihuahuas and antlered beasts seen here, for example. While gauzy glazes and sheer fabrics shroud her characters in a fog that reinforces an almost mythological interpretation of them. Working in both ceramic and textile, Hobaica's compositions prioritize the inexplicability of the human experience.

Barnett's figurative sculptures, while less ambiguous in their surface treatment, are just as wonderfully confounding. Often rendered in gravity-defying arrangements or seemingly comical isolation, the characters populating his tableaux represent the lessons of folktales and a life lived in all its comedy and trauma. When Barnett's and Hobaica's sensibilities are brought together in a single object, their intuitive and deeply collaborative approach to shared making crystallizes their complementary humor and empathy. The results are acutely humane observations of the prosaic that encourage observation and, hopefully, a mutual vulnerability with the viewer.

Blowing Rock Art & History Museum in Blowing Rock, NC, Features Works by Maud Gatewood

The Blowing Rock Art & History Museum (BRAHM) in Blowing Rock, NC, will present The Hard Edge & The Soft Line: A Retrospective of Maud Gatewood, on view in the Fort, Atwell, and Rankin East Galleries, from June 28 through Jan. 5, 2025.

Maud Gatewood (1934-2004) remains a central figure in the art history of North Carolina and America. A painter of exacting technique with a keen eye for composition and cultural commentary, her pictures captured the Carolinas - and the world beyond - across much of the 20th century.

A native of Yanceyville in Caswell County, NC, Gatewood's paintings reveal rural landscapes and people in the midst of transformation while cleverly framing the experience of modern life with acerbic wit and a wealth of empathy.

BRAHM Board of Trustees President Dean Hamric notes, "I am thrilled that BRAHM is sharing the life and work of this important North Carolina artist. Maud had a huge impact on the art scene in our state, and she was also a friend. This exhibition is deeply personal to me, and I invite all to visit Blowing Rock to immerse yourself in this exhibition as well as the High Country of North Carolina."

The Hard Edge & The Soft Line is a major undertaking by the Museum. It is a comprehensive examination of Gatewood's career, showing the evolution of her work as well as her significant contributions, as an artist and educator, to painting in North Carolina and the region.

"We are preparing for the exhibition in earnest and creating a lively season of public programs. Additionally, BRAHM is building a permanent digital wing devoted to this artist," Stephan Dragisic, Teresa & Don Caine Executive Director at BRAHM, said. "Gatewood's life and work will be shared beyond those who see this exhibition in person, so we are working to create a robust timeline of her life and share an ever-growing collection of digital repositories of her works. Gatewood is deserving of this

Asheville Art Museum in Asheville, NC, Features Photographs From Its Collection

The Asheville Art Museum in Asheville, NC, is proudly presenting Shifting Perceptions: Photographs from the Collection, an exhibition on view through Sept. 23, 2024.

Shifting Perceptions continues the Museum's 75th-anniversary celebration and magnifies its expanding Collection of photographs. This exhibition is guest-curated by Katherine Ware, curator of photography at the New Mexico Museum of Art, and features over 125 artworks organized into three sections: Inside/Out, Together/Apart, and Natural/Unnatural. Each section explores seemingly opposing forces, prompting viewers to reconsider the nuances and complexities of life.

"Our brains gravitate toward hard distinctions, but life is filled with gradations, complexities, and ambiguities. The categories offer a context for considering the pictures," said Ware. "They sound like opposites, but it is up to visitors to decide if these dualities are different or part of a continuum."

Shifting Perceptions showcases photographs by 20th-century masters such as Ruth Bernhard, Bruce Davidson, Donna Ferrato, Carrie Mae Weems, and Jerry Uelsmann, alongside contemporary images by Jess T. Dugan, Matthew Pillsbury, and Cara Romero, among others. While some photographs offer a distinct point of view, many invite contemplation of the intersections and contradictions within each category. Recent acquisitions and longtime favorites are presented in new juxtapositions, providing fresh insights into the evolving landscape of photography.

The exhibition includes prints from the 19th century but predominantly represents developments in the field in the 20th and 21st centuries. It emphasizes images made by regional artists and those exploring varied aspects of the Southern experience. In-depth holdings include suites of images by Shelby Lee Adams, Rob Amberg, photo-journalists for the Asheville Citizen-Times, Bruce Davidson, Sally Gall, Walter Iooos Jr., Robert Glenn Ketchum, Joel Meyerowitz, Bea Nettles, Jo Sandman, Joyce Tenneson, Kent Washburn, and Jonathan

Southern Highlands Craft Guild in Asheville, NC, Offers Works by Haywood Community College Graduates

The Southern Highland Craft Guild in Asheville, NC, is presenting Graduating Class of 2024: Haywood Community College's Professional Crafts Program, on view in the Main Gallery at The Folk Art Center, through Sept. 18, 2024.

This show continues the historical relationship between the Southern Highland Craft Guild and Haywood, an educational center of the Guild. This new generation of craft is led by instructors Amy Putansu in fiber, Brian Wurst in wood, Emily Reason in clay, and Angela Bubash in metals & jewelry.

Students of the Haywood program come from all over, with or without prior experience of craft, and sometimes pursuing it as a second or third career. The course of study is challenging, combining craft concentrations with supplemental classes in design, drawing, craft history, business, marketing

Williams. Pamela L. Myers, Executive Director of the Asheville Art Museum, shares, "Our photographic holdings are extraordinary, and Katherine has taken a new look at the national and regional dialogues reflected in the Collection."

Shifting Perceptions: Photographs from the Collection is a captivating exploration of photography's multifaceted nature. It invites viewers to challenge their preconceptions and embrace the rich tapestry of visual storytelling.

The exhibition is generously sponsored by Joel Adams and Associates, Bitsy and Jim Powell, and Tracey Morgan Gallery.

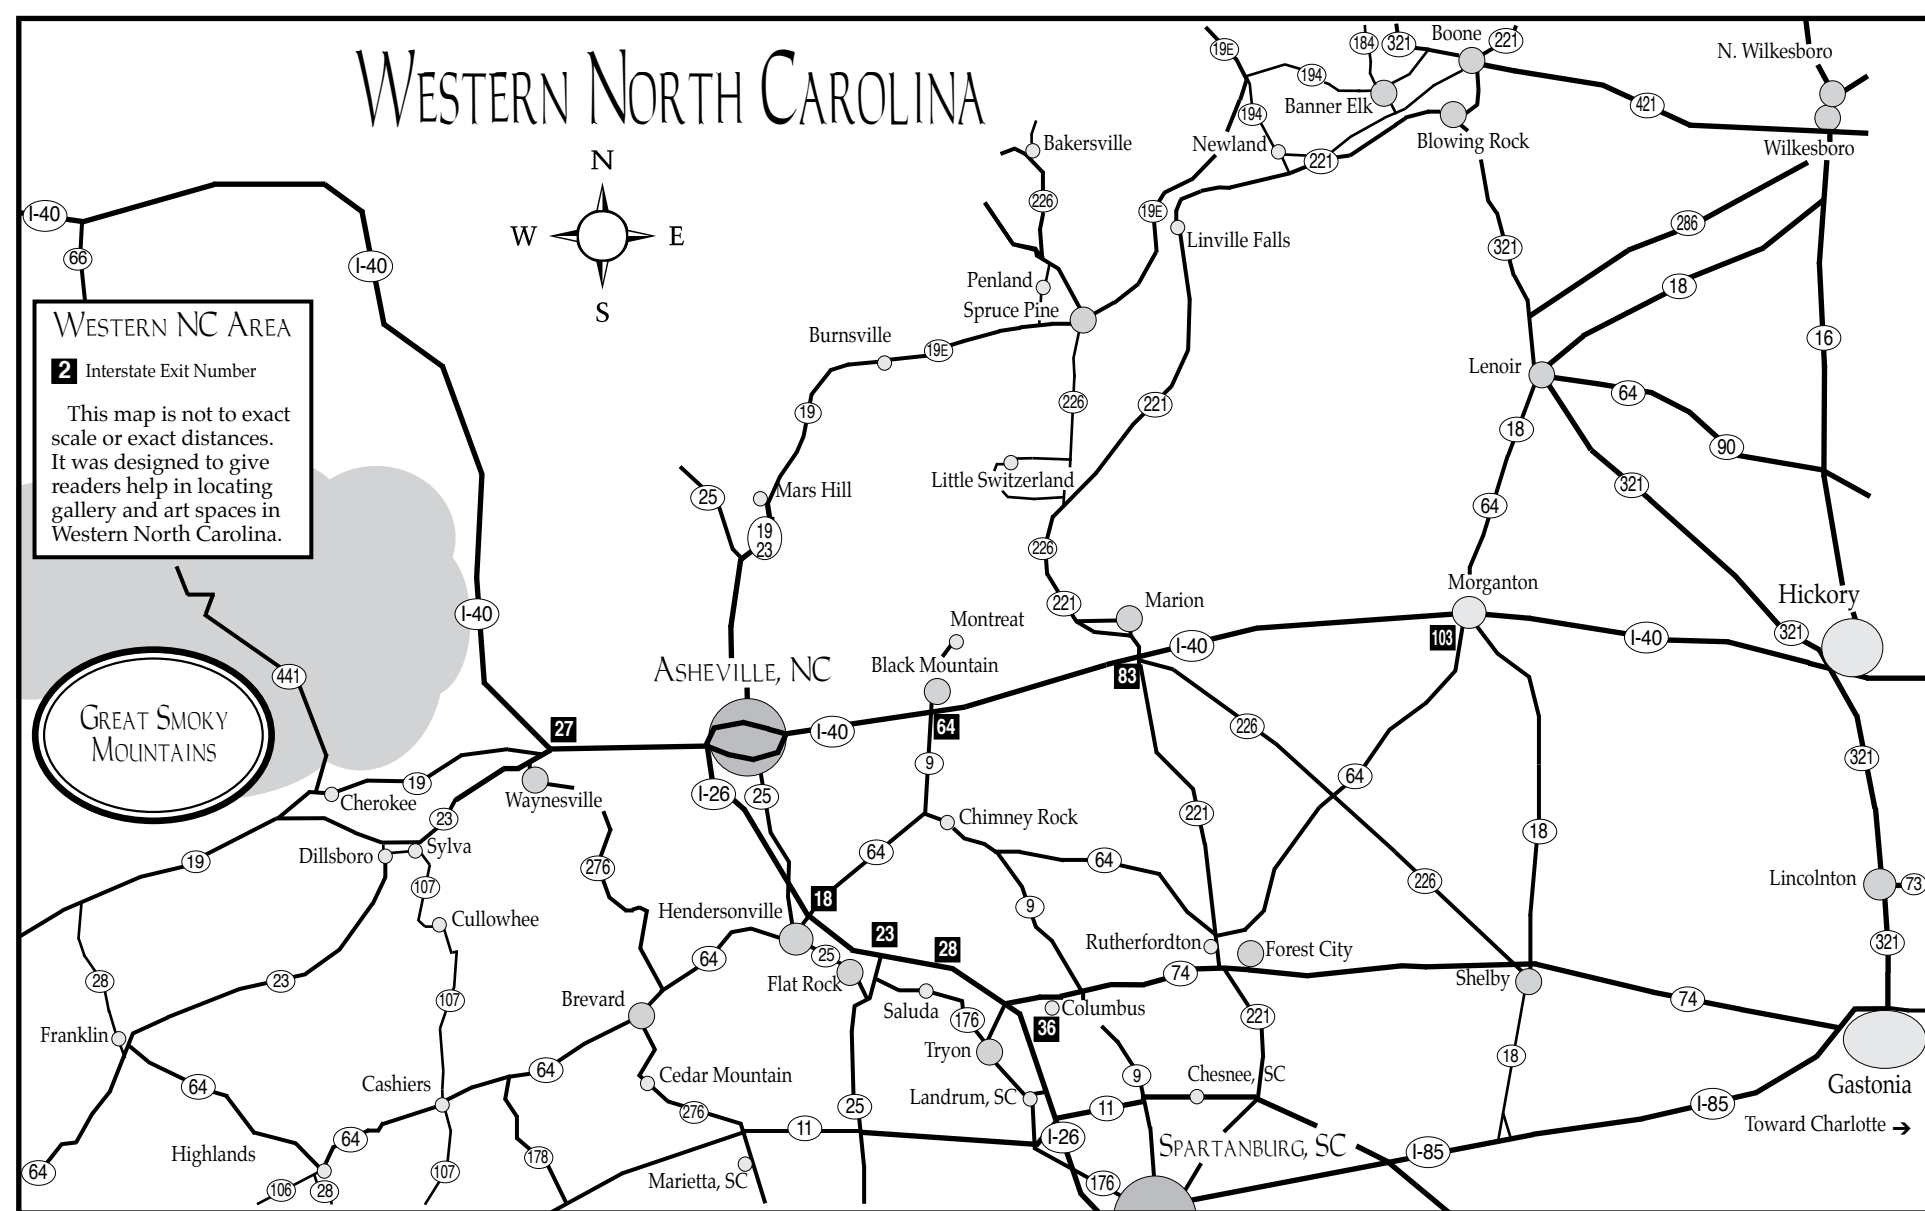

Established by artists and incorporated in 1948, the Asheville Art Museum is committed to being a vital force in community and individual development and to providing lifelong opportunities for education and enrichment through the visual arts. The Museum's mission is to engage, enlighten, and inspire individuals and enrich community through dynamic experiences in American art of the 20th and 21st centuries. The Museum is dedicated to advancing diversity, equity, access, and inclusion - now and in the future - and we welcome all visitors without discrimination. The Museum acknowledges that it is situated upon the ancient, southern Appalachian ancestral homeland of the Cherokee Tribe and that this region is still the home of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians today. The Museum is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization accredited by the American Alliance of Museums.

Many Haywood graduates have become individual members of the Southern Highland Craft Guild and have served the Guild in various capacities.

Instructor Brian Wurst of the Professional Crafts Wood program says, "Our programs have thrived for nearly five decades, and our relationship with the Southern Highland Craft Guild has been a key part of that. We're always thrilled to have work showcased at the Folk Art Center, and in turn scores of our alumni have gone on to become active Guild members. The Graduate Show is the capstone of two hard years by these students, and it's a delight to share it in this beautiful space."

Haywood Community College is located in Clyde, NC, just west of Asheville. The college's Professional Crafts Program began in recognition of the region's strong craft heritage. It was envisioned that students would learn the basics of craft media and how to transform that craft into a business. The clay studio was the first to open in 1974. With the addition of jewelry, wood and fiber studios, a comprehensive curriculum was in place by 1977.

American Folk Art in Asheville, NC, Offers Group Exhibition

American Folk Art in Asheville, NC, will present Chasing Joy, a group exhibition, on view from June 5 - 26, 2024. A reception will be held on June 7, from 5-8pm.

For many of the artists represented at American Folk, finding happiness and delight in their surroundings and in their connections is what drives their work. Chasing Joy is a celebration of all those precious things that make our hearts beat faster: the exhilaration of birds in flight, the wild abandon of romping children, the deep, soul-nourishing communion with nature, or the quiet glee that comes from being close to someone who shares part of your soul.

With bird feeders hanging from any available real estate and a cherry tree on hand, Danette Sperry's lush backyard oasis is the place to be for the local avian population. Her garden visitors often serve as the focal point of her textural paintings and moments of the everyday. You can see her soul in her paintings, as well as her deeply-rooted connection to her environment and the people who inhabit it with her.

An avid hiker and lover of the outdoors, Jackson Hammack seeks to capture the wild gaze of his woodland subjects. He says their eyes invite us to reconnect with the natural world from which we originate. After retiring to our Blue Ridge mountains a few years back, Hammack found himself back in step with his environment, an experience that has had an incredible impact on his inspiration and his creativity.

"A central theme at American Folk is joyful artwork," says owner Julia L. Mills. "Often, that's one of the first things visitors to the gallery comment on: how bright and spirited our space feels. The artists we represent create with joy in their hearts, and folks can sense that energy as soon as they

Mark Bettis Gallery in Asheville, NC, Offers Works by Nabil El Jaouhari

Mark Bettis Gallery in Asheville, NC, will present The Color of Air, featuring works by Asheville artist Nabil El Jaouhari, on view from June 8 - 22, 2024. A reception will be held on June 8, from 5:30-7:30pm.

This new collection of work by Nabil El Jaouhari consists of paintings and 3D work using air's elemental, emotional and conceptual nature. The exhibit explores the extensive and intensive limits of the force through its various forms. It relies on the literal forms air takes, from the calm to the violent, to inform the physical presence of the pieces. Using wood burning, collage, and air brush, Nabil creates abstract images on back-lit, frame-less pieces. As a result, the pieces have a floating physical presence imitating air.

El Jaouhari describes his show as, “the metaphorical and emotional connotations of air that are present, the calm of a warm breeze, the violence of a storm, the winds of change; these temporary and ungraspable shapes form from the always present substance that surrounds us. Only when it is condensed and abstracted from the totality are we reminded that air is always there.”

Originally from Lebanon, El Jaouhari studied fine arts at the Lebanese University in Beirut before moving to the United States

The gallery is located in the River Arts District in The Wedge Building on Roberts Street in Asheville. The Gallery features unique and distinctive works of art in a variety of mediums including contemporary paintings, glass, sculpture and mixed media.

Trackside Studios in Asheville, NC, Features a Group Exhibition

Trackside Studios in Asheville, NC, will present An Emergence, featuring works by Deborah Kolp, John Diamond-Nigh, Lanie McKeever, Li Newton, and Nancy Moore, on view in the Stairway Gallery, from June 8 through July 11, 2024. A reception will be held on June 8, from 2-6pm. Sips and snacks will be served with artist demonstrations throughout the day.

Personal and global events, introspection, chaos, changing seasons, people and places - countless currents affect the ebb and flow of an individual's life and how it is reflected back in their choices, actions, and art. Each of the works in this exhibition is accompanied by the artist's description of how their art reflects their journey or their interpretation of emergence.

Deborah Kolp is a teaching artist inspired by inner states of consciousness revealed by the human face. In Adam, she examines the concept of the “first created person” in the three major monotheistic religions (Jewish, Christian, Muslim) merged with the themes of the earliest known human remains found in Ethiopia and the current “bubbling to national awareness” of the civil rights movement in America after the death of George Floyd.

Chaos may emerge from tyranny and global discord with “appalling swiftness,” shares John Diamond-Nigh, a poet, artist, and teacher. Yet, he states that “all things emerge, and maybe something as simple as old beauty has a minute role to play.” In The Librarian, he works with gold, paper, and black and white colors. His “use of gold in particular asks how even the smallest heresies of beauty may emerge against chaos.”

Describing herself as a “land-locked mermaid who loves painting with shredded paper,” Li Newton introduces us to herself and her sojourn in True Colors. When she moved to the Bahamas at almost 50 years old, she carried almost crippling self-doubt. “Then,” she says, “I dipped my head underwater for the first time and was welcomed into a new universe of coral reefs and magical creatures.” She explored, learned about the environment, and “became physically and mentally stronger than I’d ever been.” She credits those years with transforming herself and her art into what they are today.

Sharing “the breakdown process of my identity and what is emerging over the last few years” was the impetus for Lanie McKeever to create Welcome to My Garden. The mixed media painting reflects the emergence of new life after death. She began the piece imagining a portal to a garden filled with the “love and presence of many who have come before.” As she continued her personal healing process, she blended this painting with her “first love – photography” and states, “What is emerging is something new, something I do not fully understand – but it is here and it is ME.”

In The Road Not Taken, Nancy Moore reflects on the emergence of the dancing of one's heart when one is creating from a

Pink Dog Creative in Asheville, NC, Features Works by Ginger Graziano

Pink Dog Creative in Asheville, NC, will present FULL CIRCLE, Conversations in Art and Poetry, featuring works by Ginger Graziano, on view in the Pink Dog Gallery, from June 14 through July 14, 2024. A reception will be held on June 21, from 6-8pm.

New York City native Ginger Graziano reached a point where she knew she had graduated from her chaotic life as a single mother raising two children while working as a design director for children's educational publishing in Manhattan. She kept asking herself “where are all the trees?” She had a vision of where she would move to and searched America until she came to Asheville, NC, twenty-three years ago and took a hike. As she turned around on the top of Lookout Mountain, she said “here they are.”

Her life as a painter, published author, and graphic designer blossomed. Her show focuses on paintings both evocative of our human journey and weirdly playful. A selection of her published poems will accompany her paintings.

Graziano offered the following statement, “My art invites mystery to emerge. I work with image and symbols in mixed media, primarily acrylic, pastel, gesso, ink and crayon on high-quality paper. Color is an important element. My work is a combination of figurative and abstract. My subjects are frequently women or groups of people, the focus being emotional and spiritual. Nature speaks to me - the seasons of birth, growth, and death. New life returns, bringing continuity, forming a circle - a recurring image in my paintings.

Citron Gallery in Asheville, NC, Features Works by Lauren Betty and Rand Kramer

Citron Gallery in Asheville, NC, is presenting Resonance, featuring new work by Lauren Betty and Rand Kramer, on view through June 30, 2024.

The exhibition harmoniously weaves together the distinctive styles of two artists, each navigating the delicate balance between spontaneity and control in their unique mediums.

In this captivating showcase, the ethereal paintings of fabric and mixed media artist, Lauren Betty, and the textured wonders of oil, cold wax, and mixed media by Rand Kramer converge to create an immersive experience.

Betty transforms delicate fabrics into ethereal paintings that seem to defy gravity. Using spontaneous gestures, she allows the fabric to take on a life of its own, capturing the fluidity of emotions in each piece. The work emerges as she delicately arranges and manipulates the fabric, creating an otherworldly tapestry that invites viewers to explore the boundaries between reality and the sublime.

Kramer's controlled technique involves layering and scraping, building up rich textures that exude both depth and mystery. This deliberate process reflects an artful balance between spontaneity and control, inviting viewers to witness the evolution of his creations.

Additional works are on view by Allison B. Cooke, Anna Carll, Dorothy Ganek, Elliott Schuessler, Joshua Meyer, Kento Saisho, Kieta Jackson, Kim Goldstein, and Ruth Hunter.

Southeastern Center for Contemporary Art in Winston-Salem, NC, Features Works by Allana Clarke

The Southeastern Center for Contemporary Art (SECCA) in Winston-Salem, NC, will present Allana Clarke: Tender, featuring body- and word-based sculptures explore intertwined layers of Black identity, history, and hope, on view in the Center's Potter Gallery, from June 19 through Sept. 15, 2024.

SECCA is proud to present Tender, an exhibition of sculptures by Trinidadian-American artist Allana Clarke. An opening reception with the artist and curator will be held on June 19 from 6pm to 8pm. Admission is free and open to the public.

The visceral performance art and sensual sculptures of Detroit-based artist Allana Clarke (b. 1987) embody a profound interest in conveying the lived narratives of Black women within the African diaspora. Her deliberate choice of materials, such became the first in her family to attend college. Her fine-art education was markedly shaped by Black visionaries like artists Jules Allen and Deborah Jack. Through their introduction and from Clarke's self-motivation, she discovered artists like sculptor Maren Hassinger and interdisciplinary artist Adrian Piper, who share a similar interest in conceptualizing the body.

Originally a photographer, Clarke slips between several mediums to disclose the conflicted, inherited, and politicized histories of materials associated with Black culture. "My work contends with the complexity of my articulation as a subject," Clarke elaborates, adding that by investigating herself and these materials, she unravels "a presence intertwined with shame, violence, and generational trauma." Motivated by a desire to heal and "an insistence upon freedom," Clarke produces art envisioning tomorrow, where bodies are not constrained by prevailing structures.

In this exhibition, Clarke's sculptures, including her largest hair-bonding glue sculpture to date, call attention to the multi-faceted layers of language while engaging and interrogating the principle of controlling one's body. At a moment of distinct polarization, Clarke invites viewers to surpass their subjectivity and engage in the tender act of looking and listening.

Allan Clarke: Tender is organized by Jared Ledesma, curator of 20th-century art and contemporary art. Learn more about the exhibition, upcoming programs, and visitor information at (SECCA.org).

Artworks Gallery in Winston-Salem, NC, Features Works by Owens Daniels and Seth Moskowitz

Artworks Gallery in Winston-Salem, NC, will present two exhibits including: Owens Daniels: Something Bold: The Art that Broke the Mold, and Seth Moskowitz: Sounds of Spring, on view from June 2 - 29, 2024. Reception will be held on June 7, from 7-9pm, and on June 9, including a Gallery Talk, from 2-4pm. An Art Crush will take place on June 21, from 7-9pm.

Freedom. That is what art is, it's the something inside of everyone given the chance will break the rules, stand out and boldly go when you would dare not. Owens Daniels new collection of works, Something Bold: The Art That Broke the Mold, has the ability to provoke, uplift, and transform. It is Daniels' intention to ignite a sense of curiosity and wonder in those who encounter it.

Ultimately, Daniels' artistic journey is about pushing boundaries, embracing vulnerability, and celebrating the limitless possibilities of creative expression. In a world that often demands conformity, this new work stands as a testament to the enduring spirit of courage and the profound impact of daring to be different.

Work by Seth Moskowitz

Owens Daniels' photographic career started at the US Army Photographic School of Cartography, learning the basics of photography and photo printing. In addition to his formal training, he continues to work as a freelance photographer with a distinctive and intimate photojournalistic signature style in visual storytelling which has led to various opportunities that include Artist in Residences, Fellowship of American Art, Public Art Installations, and Grants and varied other commissions.

birdsong or any of the other sounds you might associate with spring. Unless you have synesthesia, a condition that causes some people to see shapes or colors when they hear music, or taste foods when they read or see shapes or patterns.

None of that happens to the artist. However, this spring Moskowitz noticed that the splendor of the world reawakening from winter filled him with the same type of emotions and sensations experienced when he was captured by music. This work represents an effort to recreate some of what he felt while wandering around Winston experiencing the season in bloom.

Seth Moskowitz is a Winston-Salem based artist who creates and combines photographic images into artworks that rarely resemble photography or the images that they incorporate. He made a living for more than four decades immersed in a constant chatter of written and verbal communications. He began to create visual art in 2004 as a way to enter a peaceful, magical place that is literally, beyond words. Moskowitz has been a member of the Artworks Gallery since 2017, and a member of Associated Artists of Winston-Salem since 2005. Since his retirement in 2019, he has devoted himself full-time to appreciating the beauty of the natural world, exploring and creating art, and helping to encourage, nurture and promote the growth of local artists and their artwork.

Wilson Arts Center in Wilson, NC, Features Works by Frans van Baars

The Wilson Arts Center in Wilson, NC, is presenting Painting Journey: Awakens Memories, featuring works by Frans van Baars, on view in the Truist Events Gallery, through June 30, 2024.

The exhibition will feature a selection of land and seascapes, Whirligigs, community events, still life, and abstracts. It embodies a series on Wilson and our county in addition to his travels to other parts of North Carolina as well as South Carolina, Virginia, Ohio, the Netherlands, and more.

His early art is detailed in exquisite draftsmanship and masterful watercolors, the latter of which he turned into a series of Watercolor Memories. "As I got older, I got bolder. Drafting and drawing helped me become loose, and more abstract over time. It was as though I was liberated and free," van Baars says of the use of oils and acrylics.

His composition or subject matter is usually not contrived or constrained. Oftentimes he works in plein air as it allows him to capture the spirit and form of the place while on location. It's there that he enjoys, "Painting what I see, the life before me," he said. It's the beauty he seeks when composing each piece of art and an integral part of his work spanning over forty years.

Work by Frans van Baars

Frans van Baars is a Dutch American artist from the Netherlands. His father was a merchant marine captain. His mother was the daughter of a fisherman. As a child, growing up in the Netherlands during WWII was difficult. It left him with an everlasting memory of hardship, destruction, and fear when his province was occupied by the Nazis. After the war was over, he took great reprieve while traveling the world on his father's merchant ship. It was in those times where on occasion, they would stop and visit galleries and museums along their way.

In 1956, van Baars arrived in the United States intended on giving back to the country who saved him as a child. It was the day before his nineteenth birthday. Not long afterwards, he enlisted in the Navy where he enjoyed his time in a submarine and at sea. A freak accident and a broken neck later changed his trajectory in life. He received a medical discharge, then chartered his way into the arts.

van Baars studied art at the Ivy School of Arts in Pittsburgh, PA, after leaving the Navy. After college, he started an art program and was the art instructor at Coastal Carolina Community College in Jacksonville, NC. In 1980 and 1981 he participated in a series of classes with Artist-in-the-Schools near the coast of NC, teaching art to students in the public-school setting. He went on to become a full-time employee. Frans' artworks have been sold commercially and individually all over the world.

van Baars and his wife, Brenda owned a gallery in Washington, NC, for twelve years prior to moving to Wilson in 2002. The House of van Baars Gallery on Douglas Street is where they currently reside while also featuring a collection of his artworks. Throughout his life, he's stayed true to what guides him. For over thirty years, he has participated in the Mile of Hope for children with cancer. Additionally, he took part in the East Carolina Telethon benefitting a children's hospital, has given to St. Jude's Children's Hospital, and donated art that amassed a remarkable amount in fundraising for moving Cape Hatteras Lighthouse.

The Wilson Arts Center is located on Nash Street South in Wilson. The show will feature watercolor, pen and ink, oil, and acrylic works.

University of North Carolina at Wilmington, NC, Offers Group Exhibit

The University of North Carolina at Wilmington, NC, is presenting Here There: (Re)collecting Labor on the American Railway, a collaborative exhibition by Stefani Bryd, Caroline Louise Miller, and Alarm Will Sound, on view in the CAB Art Gallery, through Aug. 29, 2024. A closing reception will be held on Aug. 22, from 5:30-7pm. An Artist Talk will be offered in Room 2033 on Aug. 22, at 5pm.

Work by Stefani Bryd

Here There is an immersive multimedia installation exploring complex historical relationships among labor, industrial infrastructure, and collective memory through an examination of three significant Transcontinental Railroad sites in Northern California: Donner Pass, Bloomer Cut, and Roseville Train Yard. The project weaves together film spanning both coasts, archival materials, audio interviews, field recordings, and a chamber orchestra score. Here There creates a dance between the everyday and the epic, past and present, noise and silence. The work is a collaboration between UNCW Professor Stefani Bryd, Composer Caroline Louise Miller, and world-renowned contemporary music ensemble Alarm Will Sound.

Sunset River Gallery in Calabash, NC, Features a Small Works Show

Sunset River Gallery in Calabash, NC, will present a new Small Works exhibition, on view from June 14 through July 20, 2024. A reception will be held on June 14, from 5-7pm.

The group show will feature beach-scapes, wildlife scenes, waterway paintings and more in a range of media – all measuring 12 by 12 inches or smaller.

Gallery director Samantha Spalti said, "Our visitors come from near and far to experience all that the gallery offers. Locals count on us for fine art for their homes and businesses. Visitors often seek local work that commemorates their trip here – especially if it travels easily."

Work by Donn McCrary

Sunset River Gallery offers a wonderfully eclectic mix. The Small Works show is ideal for any art lover who wants to take a small piece of the Carolina coast home with them. "We invite everyone to come out for the opening reception on Friday, June 14 from 5-7pm, to enjoy some refreshments and meet the artists."

Francis Marion University in Florence, SC, Features Creations by Jim Gleason

Works by Jim Gleason

Francis Marion University in Florence, SC, will present Jim Gleason: A Study in Brass, on view in the Steven F. Gately Gallery in downtown Florence, from June 4 through July 26, 2024. A reception will be held on June 13, from 5:30-7:30pm. Admission is free.

In a quiet corner of Florence, SC, lives a man fluent in creativity who opens the doors to whimsical worlds, inviting others to join him in seeing in new ways. These are worlds that Jim Gleason creates as easily as he breathes.

Works by Jim Gleason

As a Marine veteran and professional musician, Gleason became a master technician repairing brass and woodwind instruments. Now, after decades of experience, he is intimately aware of every particle that makes up an instrument allowing it to give voice to notes on a page. When they can no longer do so, despite his best efforts, he gives them new lives as fanciful creatures and characters that flow steadily from his imagination, populating his studio, putting a smile on your face as soon as you see them.

Though reluctant to call himself an artist, visitors may have encountered Gleason's work in numerous other locations such as on display at the South Carolina Artisan Center in Walterboro or the State Fair, galleries such as the Seacoast Art Gallery or the Art and Soul Gallery in Myrtle Beach, SC, as well as juried shows throughout the Pee Dee region.

This exhibit will feature close to 100 pieces plus framed art prints. Prices range from approximately $75 to $5,000. An interesting point to note is that profits from the sale of artworks go to support repairs of brass and woodwind instruments for school music programs.

Jim Gleason: A Study in Brass is an exhibit for young and old alike. It is designed to let you relax. Let go of the cares of the day and simply enjoy the fanciful pieces before you. It is an ideal introduction to the art world for those who don't think galleries are their thing.

Durham Arts Council in Durham, NC, Features Works by Jalen T. Jackson

Durham Arts Council in Durham, NC, is presenting Searching for Liberation, featuring large and moving portraits that show snapshots of the Black experience by Jalen T. Jackson, on view through July 6, 2024. A reception will be held on June 21, from 6-8pm.

"Oil painting has given me the opportunity to tell stories about how and why I've become the person I am today. With each brushstroke, I recall memories and scenarios that I've experienced throughout my life. My work combines surrealism and naturalism, depending on the message I explore. My ideas blossom from flashbacks from my childhood memories or words that touch my soul, both positively or negatively," said Jackson.

"I create a sense of nostalgia and give a representation of Black soul for whom ever interacts with my work. My art is a reminder to acknowledge my past and where I come from. As an African American, I am aware that the urge to survive when facing adversity is within my bloodline," adds Jackson. "My paintings feature cultural references in the form of symbols, patterns, and figures, that aim to motivate those who face adversity. The woman who raised me has been the best mother, teacher, role model and muse I could ever ask for. My creations are the best way I can show my gratitude for my mother's support and motivation throughout my journey as an artist."

Jalen Jackson is a visual artist whose paintings explore African American culture, collective memory, and experiences. His paintings depict flashbacks of his childhood and other memories, especially growing up as a son of a single mother. Jackson began college as a Business Management student at North Carolina A&T University. During his junior year, he signed up for a painting class and rediscovered his love for art he had fostered as an African American child growing up in Durham, NC. He received his BFA in Visual Arts from NC A&T State University in 2021 and has exhibited locally at CAM Raleigh, 311 Art Gallery, Anchorlight Studios, Wake Tech, Barton College, The Fruit and Artspace. He was the Inaugural HBCU Artist in Residence at Artspace in downtown Raleigh.

Maybe you're the owner of a commercial art gallery and you've never seen your exhibits included with others presented in your area. You might even be an individual artist who is having an exhibit in a non-profit space or commercial space and you don't see your exhibits included. My question to you is - How long will you put up with that before you ask someone, "Why that is the case?" If you're not included - it's your fault.

Durham Arts Council in Durham, NC, Offers A Youth Curated Exhibit

Durham Arts Council in Durham, NC, is presenting (RE) Clamation by the Beautiful Project, a youth curated photography exhibition, on view through July 6, 2024. A reception will be held on June 21, from 6-8pm.

Featuring photographic and mixed media works from four young artists, Avery Foster, Le'Isys Diaz, Vivian Njoroge, and Naomi Nelms. Their work varies in themes but centralizes on the healing and representation of Black girls, nonbinary youth and women.

We all have a right to define ourselves. But for Black youth that right to define ourselves is not a given one. Colorism, texturism, racism, homophobia, sexism, and so much more tell us stories of ourselves that hurt. The ideas circling around about what it means to be good enough, Black enough, pretty enough, dignified enough ... and just simply enough cause stress and anxiety that affects their mental health and sense of identity. So what does it look like to powerfully (re)claim oneself as a practice of radical healing?

This exhibition explores art as a medium for confronting harmful experiences, affirming your worth, and reclaiming your power. (RE) Clamation is a testimony to the artists' determination to be well and to claim themselves as loved, worthy, and more than enough.

This is a youth curated exhibition by the Arts & Activism Apprentices at The Beautiful Project, a group of trained Black girls and nonbinary youth activists who use photography, visual arts, writing & care to explore cultural activism within their artistry. Under the art direction of Madylin Nixon-Taplet and curatorial direction of Khayla Deans, (RE) Clamation's co-curators and featured artists are Avery Foster, Le'Isys Diaz, Vivian Njoroge, and Naomi Nelms. The Beautiful Project is a community-based arts organization in Durham, NC, that uses storytelling and visual arts to advance the healing and representational justice of Black girls, nonbinary youth, and women. This exhibition is made possible through the support of the Durham Arts Council and Tides Foundation. This exhibition is part of the Durham Arts Council Exhibit Program.

Pastel Society of North Carolina Hosts 2024 Statewide Art Exhibition in Historic Hillsborough, NC

Artists from the three pastel societies in North Carolina will compete in the On Common Ground: From the Mountain to the Sea statewide juried exhibition. Finalists' work will be on display and for sale at the Orange County Arts Commission Eno Arts Mill Gallery, a vibrant artistic hub located in historic West Hillsborough, NC, from June 7 - 29, 2024.

The exhibition is hosted by the Pastel

Society of North Carolina and sponsored, in part, by the Orange County Arts Commission. The 2024 statewide event begins with a three-day pastel technique workshop followed by a First Friday award reception on June 7, from 6-9pm, in the Eno Arts Mill gallery located on Dimmocks Mill Road, in Hillsborough, NC.

The exhibition is a collaboration between The Pastel Society of North Carolina (PSNC), The Appalachian Pastel Society, and the Piedmont Pastel Society. According to PSNC president, Daphne Boder, the goal of the statewide competition is to collaborate with the other regional societies in promoting the beauty of the soft pastel medium. Artwork on display will showcase the talents of these member artists some of whom have earned "master" status both nationally and internationally. Winners are awarded cash and art prizes sponsored by North Carolina merchants and member groups.

Soft pastel is a loved medium used by many modern artists such as Zaria Foreman and Deborah Stewart and classical greats including Vermeer, Degas and Renoir. Prized for its brilliant color, pastel was first used in the sixteenth century, notably by Leonardo da Vinci. It flourished in the eighteenth century, again in the late nineteenth century, and remains popular today.

Craven Allen Gallery in Durham, NC, Offers Works by Renzo Ortega

Craven Allen Gallery in Durham, NC, is presenting Renzo Ortega: Acts of Serenity, on view through July 13, 2024.

Renzo Ortega is a contemporary painter who is also a performer, musician (of techno cumbia and punk rock) and an installation artist. Best known for his fantastical compositions which incorporate elements of mythology and popular culture, Ortega takes an entirely different approach for Acts of Serenity, turning the tradition of still life painting into a meditative practice.

Ortega begins by carefully arranging and lighting the objects on a specially constructed set in his studio. He paints in silence, integrating his breath and posture with the act of applying pigment on linen. With their subtle color gradations and painterly qualities the still-lives showcase the mastery and immediacy of his technique, and reference inspirations both historic and contemporary. In Nirvana, an old pair of Converse sneakers and a guitar pedal become a monument to Kurt Kobain, while a hat and tulip in another honor Van Gogh's Spirit.

Ortega is well known for his engaging and insightful artist talks. The public is invited to The Power of Painting: Renzo Ortega in conversation with painter James Keul, at the gallery, on June 22, at 4pm.

Born in Peru and based in Carrboro, NC, Ortega received a BFA in painting from the Escuela Nacional de Bellas Artes del Peru (1999), studied at the Art Students League of New York (2000-04) and received his MFA in painting from Hunter College (2014). He has shown widely at galleries and museums, including the recent show at the Nasher showcasing major artists working in North Carolina. He was Artist-in-Residence at the Rubenstein Arts Center at Duke University, and was the inaugural artist of the New Wave Art artist-in-residence program in West Palm Beach. Ortega is also a devoted painting and drawing teacher and has been a Visiting Lecturer at UNC Chapel Hill and a Brock Family Visiting Studio Arts Instructor at Duke University.

Ortega offered the following statement about this exhibition, "My new body of work, a collection of still-lives made especially for this exhibition, arises from the stimulation of ideas through observation and introspection. To achieve multidimensionality using the formal tradition of easel painting with oils, I create a set in my art studio to display the objects. I paint in silence, focus on my breathing, and with an awareness of my body posture concerning the object I paint, forming a unit with the canvas and the easel. Painting is a physical experience; my process helps to create an environment where I can materialize the intangible, capturing the essence of what I see and experience."

"Painting is not just creating pictures, it is more--it is the whole art object, from the stretcher to the canvas to the paint to the brushstroke marks. I made most of these works on linen instead of cotton canvas, since linen adds a particular resonance - I like to call it a sound - to the paintings, helping to create multidimensional atmospheric spaces," adds Ortega. After a couple of decades of painting from intuition, fantasy, and symbolic narrative, this body of work follows a different path, going hand in hand with the conventions of classical painting. That change gives me freedom, allowing me to open new doors in my work. The paintings are an invitation to an alternative world, a better world, in which I seek to receive and embrace the viewer."

"I think of art as a human essence, from one's inner being, linked to the development of thought and the spiritual. Since the beginning, painters have forged painting from the mystical path, achieving pictorial developments with discipline and mastery of the craft. A continuous mantric repetition of a physical-mental exercise, such as painting, is what I seek to embody in Acts of Serenity."

Renzo Ortega (Lima, Peru 1974) is a painter based in Carrboro, NC. He received a BFA in painting from the Escuela Nacional de Bellas Artes del Peru (1999), studied at the Art Students League of New York (2000-04) and has his MFA in painting from Hunter College (2014). His artwork has been exhibited in solo and group shows in the United States and Peru, and has been commissioned to create public art projects and community murals. He partook in the Visiting Artist Residency at the Rubenstein Arts Center at Duke University in 2019, and in 2020, he was the inaugural artist of the New Wave Art artist-in-residence program in West Palm Beach.

Ortega is also a devoted painting and drawing teacher and has been a Visiting Lecturer at UNC Chapel Hill and a Brock Family Visiting Studio Arts Instructor at Duke University. Renzo's artwork has been exhibited in museums such as the Cameron Museum of Art in Wilmington, the Nasher Museum of Art, Southeastern Center for Contemporary Art SECCA (Winston-Salem), the Weatherspoon Art Museum in Greensboro, in the S-Files Biennial at El Museo del Barrio in New York and the Queens International Biennial at the Queens Museum. He is a recipient of a North Carolina Arts Council Artist Fellowship Award, an Ella Fountain Pratt Emerging Artists Grant Durham Arts Council, an Orange County Arts Commission Artist Project Grant and a Queens Council on the Arts New Work Award. In 2013, as a Kosak Travel Grant recipient, Renzo traveled to Berlin to study German Expressionism, and in 2015 traveled to Honduras as a part of the U.S. Department of Cultural Affairs Cultural Envoy Program.

Hillsborough Gallery of Arts in Hillsborough, NC, Offers New Exhibit

The Hillsborough Gallery of Arts in Hillsborough, NC, will present Creating with Color and Form, featuring works by Nell Chandler, Ellie Reinhold, and Evelyn Ward, on view from June 25 through July 24, 2024.

"When we throw around titles for our featured artists' shows we try to suggest titles all three of us are familiar with and challenged by," says jeweler Nell Chandler. The title Color and Form got her thinking of how she regularly uses all sorts of mixed media to embellish her jewelry creations with color. "For weeks I have been forming rings around ring mandrels and forming cuffs around cuff mandrels and incorporating gemstones for my color: purple amethysts, pink tourmalines, green peridots, sky-blue topazes, yellow citrines, red garnets, and blue aquamarines to create a clean, polished look. I love the way a titled title can send me in an inspiring new direction."

"I would say that I'm staying within my recent purview of little structures" explains painter Ellie Reinhold, "but running with the title (Color and Form) in trying to shake it up a little bit with both a different approach to color and new venues for it. We'll see if I manage it!"

"Color, form, function. Not necessarily in that order," says potter Evelyn Ward. "Balancing the shape of a pot (or its form), how it will look on the surface and how it will be used are basically the job requirements of being a potter. The great thing is that this is an endless pursuit, an endless endeavor." Ensuring that the pots she makes perform their function while being a pleasure to use, is her primary focus. "Take a vase for example, I've found a wide base and somewhat narrow neck allows the stems of the flowers to fan out and therefore the blooms do, too, making flower arranging effortless. But then I also want the vase to be enjoyable on its own when not in use and that's

Your Passport to Summer Is Here at Museums in Raleigh, NC

Calling all adventurers! Beat the summer heat by embarking on an exciting journey through North Carolina’s museums with the Summer Passport Program. Presented by the North Carolina Museum of History, North Carolina Museum of Art, and North Carolina Museum of Natural Sciences, all in Raleigh, NC, this collaborative initiative offers exciting activities for families seeking adventure.

Interested travelers can participate in this free program from June 1 through Aug. 31, 2024, by picking up a complimentary passport - a pocket-sized activity booklet - at any participating institution. Then, dive into an array of engaging activities, including scavenger hunts, exhibit explorations, and interactive sessions. As you journey through these cultural landmarks, collect stamps in your passport to mark your progress. Upon completing visits to all three museums, participants will receive an exclusive North Carolina Traveler patch commemorating their exploration of the state’s rich heritage and scientific wonders.

Nancy Pennington, the youth and family programs coordinator at the North Carolina Museum of History, shares her excitement: “The passport is a fun, free way for kids and families - and others - to investigate our state together. Raleigh is called the Smithsonian of the South for a good reason. Come travel with us!”

NC Museum of Art in Raleigh, NC, Features Exhibition of Quilts

The NC Museum of Art in Raleigh, NC, is presenting Layered Legacies: Quilts from the Museum of Early Southern Decorative Arts at Old Salem, on view in the Museum’s East Building, Level B, Joyce W. Pope Gallery, through July 21, 2024.

Quilts materialize the bonds of home, family, and community as they are passed down from generation to generation. Yet they are also records of our shared history, interwoven with broader social, cultural, and economic legacies that make up the complex fabric of the United States.

Layered Legacies invites audiences to consider the multilayered stories stitched into quilts made in the American South between the late eighteenth and mid-nineteenth centuries. Featured are more than 30 bed coverings and related objects from the collection of the Museum of Early Southern Decorative Arts and Old Salem collections. Foregrounding the masterful artistry of women, these bed coverings are expressions of love, objects of exquisite craftsmanship, and material documents containing hidden stories of long-forgotten women, both white and Black, wealthy and enslaved, whose hands created and cared for these important textiles.

Organized by the North Carolina Museum of Art in partnership with the Museum of Early Southern Decorative Arts. This exhibition is made possible, in part, by the North Carolina Department of Natural and Cultural Resources; the North

North Carolina Museum of Art in Raleigh, NC, Celebrates 100 Years

This year the North Carolina Museum of Art (NCMA) in Raleigh, NC, celebrates the 100th anniversary of the founding of the North Carolina Art Society, a group of citizens who developed and led an ambitious plan to build a public art collection and museum for the people of North Carolina.

On April 5, 1947, their grassroots vision was supported by a public appropriation of $1 million from the North Carolina General Assembly and later matched with a gift of 70+ works of art from the Samuel H. Kress Foundation. This philanthropic dynamic reflected one of the nation’s early public-private museum partnerships, building the NCMA’s People’s Collection, a permanent collection of art that belongs to all North Carolina citizens, and establishing the North Carolina Museum of Art as one of the premier art museums in the South.

Since that time the Museum has expanded its collection from 158 paintings to 4,353 objects in multiple mediums, created one of the largest public art museum parks in the nation, delivered thousands of educational resources and public programs across all one hundred NC counties, added the

CAM Raleigh in Raleigh, NC, Features Works by Samantha Everette

Contemporary Art Museum of Raleigh in Raleigh, NC, is presenting Crowning Glory, featuring works by Samantha Everette, on view in the CAM Main Gallery, through Sept. 8, 2024.

“One of the most intimate yet universal experiences of Black women is the braiding of our hair. Our African and Indigenous ancestry endows hair with significance beyond physical beauty; our long flowing braids are a conduit for spiritual anointing, a symbol of tribe and belonging, and a method for intergenerational bonding,” says Samantha Everette. Inspired by her own experiences and by the Black women who make up her closest friends and family, Everette creates a scene that highlights their strength and beauty through the ritual of hair braiding.

A ritual experienced around the world, the women tightly encircle Zya - a deeply intimate expression of sisterhood and inter-generational connection. Dressed in white, reminiscent of those worn by Orisha and Houdeoun priestesses throughout the Diaspora. As the braiders slowly, patiently create this elaborate East African braided style and Zya and the braids extend out in their splendor, she rises higher on a pedestal in strength and confidence. Taking hours or even days to complete, braiding is a labor of love, patience, and artistic precision resulting in a breathtaking headress.

Crowning Glory tells the story of sisterhood, motherhood, community, collective care, triumph, and the complex elixir of beauty and spiritual mystique car-

Samantha Everette is a lifelong artist, designer, world traveler and photographer. She is a Durham, NC, native and graduated Summa Cum Laude from North Carolina State with a BA in Industrial Design. After graduating she spent ten years as a shoe designer. As a designer, Everette spent half of the year living in China and traveling throughout Asia. She was inspired to capture the world around her during these travels. This interest has since blossomed into a full on passion for photography.

The definition of photography is “drawing with light” and Everette believes that the brightest light is the one that shines from within. Her mission is to help her subjects show their light to the world. It’s her dedication to making her subjects look their best while having fun that sets her apart. Her goal is for everyone that steps in front of her lens to leave a little brighter and more in love with their own light.

Everette has a knack for finding everyday people and capturing something extraordinary within them. Her subjects range from travel, fashion, beauty to lifestyle. But one thing remains constant, and that is her dedication to celebrating Blackness.

CAM Raleigh in Raleigh, NC, Offers Works by UNC Chapel Hill MFA Art Students

Contemporary Art Museum of Raleigh in Raleigh, NC, is presenting UNC Chapel Hill MFA Thesis Exhibitions, on view in the CAM Lower Level Gallery, through Sept. 8, 2024.

The Department of Art and Art History at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and the Contemporary Art Museum of Raleigh is proud to present four Masters of Fine Arts thesis exhibitions: Mark Anthony Brown Jr., Molly English, Matthew Troyer and Vera Weinfield.

The MFA Thesis Exhibition is the culmination of an intensive two-year degree program in the visual arts driven by individual research. The program encourages interdisciplinary practice and experimentation. The four graduating artists present individual thesis exhibitions that each explore focused themes and materials, utilizing mediums ranging from painting and sculpture to photography and textiles.

In her thesis exhibition, Sap, Molly English invites viewers into a candy-colored world of tufted forms. Her large, lush tapestries feature hybrid characters that violently transform from panel to panel, fusing and severing the bodies of artist, animal, and land. Part bestiary, part blood ritual, Sap seeks to excise spiritual substance from these embodied relationships, using narrative tapestry as a meaning-making form. Doing so reimagines the possibilities of a story told through fiber, rejecting the flattening warp and weft of the loom in order to embrace the wild textures of the ignoble tufting gun. In this way, English tends to Western tapestry’s history of justifying state and religious dominance both in form and content, opting instead to tell a story in which justification itself is questioned.

From English’s own lived and researched understandings of Irish Catholicism, Anarchism, Feminism, and Animism, the work grapples with the fallibility and necessity of liberatory and salvatory beliefs in a nihilistic world. Sap invites guests to navigate these struggles through their sense of touch, and to experience tactility as an intimate layer of the story. Like a secret shared through tender contact, Sap guides the audience through an exploration of faith and fiber - the ways in which they hold together and fall apart.

Melancholia, nostalgia and sentimentality are just a few of the feelings that a photograph can evoke. Mark Anthony Brown Jr.’s thesis exhibition, reminiscer, expands on this phenomena - the potential of the physical photograph as a conduit for memory and emotion. Utilizing materials from a range of archives - his own family photos, institutional archives and “found” photos & objects - Brown Jr. upends notions of what constitutes a “proper” archival practice and expands on vernacular visual language. His work asks viewers to consider the vernacular as a visual language, that is more expensive than just the consideration of vernacular photographs, and to include notions of aesthetics, symbols and a shared experience.

In the ongoing photography series by Matthew Troyer, The Uniformed States of America documents the commodification of military surplus garments, initially designed for warfare and financed by tax dollars, as they transition from instruments of conflict to symbols in a consumer-driven context.

Work by Molly English

This visual exploration unfolds within surplus stores nationwide, capturing scenes of individuals, artifacts, and the retail environments that facilitate the peculiar life cycle of these garments.

The series critically examines surplus stores’ cultural impact and aesthetic allure, offering a contemplative narrative on the commodification of war gear, and the remnants of warfare embedded in these commercialized artifacts. From depicting store interiors to individuals interacting with these repurposed military materials, this series illuminates the multifaceted dynamics surrounding surplus stores and the oddity of garments born from conflict, finding a second life in the civilian domain.

Through drawing, installation, puppetry performance and video, Vera Weinfield investigates the normalization and repression of trauma, its lingering effects and repercussions within generations of North American Jews. In her thesis exhibition, Unraveling The Threads, Weinfield uses masks and puppets to explore embodied traumas, embedding mundane domestic objects and spaces with antisemitic archetypes that ask the viewer to consider what happens when trauma becomes an integral part of one’s identity.

Weinfield pieces together familial and cultural archives and myths. In these works, oral, written, and visual histories morph into an anthropomorphized time and space in which Jewish pack peddlers, matriarchs and daughters-left-behind simultaneously confront and hide from what haunts them. In collaboration with Greensboro, NC, based artist, Terri Jones, Weinfield explores how Jewish and Black North American diasporic histories collide in complex, messy and often troubling ways. Through masked performances, inspired by a deep research process into Jewish and Black southern histories, family and cultural myth, and their own internalized generational traumas, Jones and Weinfield unravel these threads and in doing so find themselves tangled up inside of them.

Molly English (b. 1993) is an artist from Chicagoland. She received her BA in studio art and poetry from Columbia College Chicago in 2016, and will receive her MFA in Studio Art from the University of North Carolina in 2024. In her work, English reimagines the traditional flatness of narrative tapestry as a more abundant form - one that positions faith as both a necessary and fallible mode of relating to an increasingly nihilistic world.

Mark Anthony Brown Jr. (b. 1991), is a journeyman of sorts. Not dedicated to a single given location for too long, he currently lives and works between Cincinnati, OH, Durham, NC, and Atlanta, GA. Brown Jr. has received a Bachelor of Science Technology from Bowling Green State University and is currently in pursuit of a MFA from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where also is a fellow in Museum Practice at The Ackland Art Museum. Brown Jr.’s art practice is research driven and interdisciplinary; utilizing photography, sculpture, drawing and painting with an interest in vernacular aesthetic practices and sensibilities, the manifestation of African retentions in the diaspora, semiotics and archival practices.

His work has been exhibited nationally; including the Cincinnati Art Museum, Mint Gallery in Atlanta, GA, and Block Gallery in Raleigh, NC. Brown Jr. has received various fellowships and awards including an Emerging Lens Fellowship from ArtWORKS in Chicago (2022), the Nexus Grant from Atlanta Contemporary (2022), and a Visiting Researcher Fellowship at Wilson Special Collection Library at University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill (2023).

Matthew Troyer (b. 1988) is an American artist and former US Marine Corps Combat Photographer. Serving actively for nine years, he transitioned from the military to earn his Bachelor of Fine Art in Photography and Imaging with Honors from Ringling College of Art and Design in 2022. He is attending the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where he will receive his Master of Fine Arts in Studio Art in 2024.

In his work, Troyer examines the intricate relationship between war and American culture. By illuminating these dimensions of American life, he invites viewers to

NC Museum of Art in Raleigh, NC, Features Works by Steven Paul Judd

The NC Museum of Art in Raleigh, NC, is presenting Park Billboards: Steven Paul Judd, on view in the Ann and Jim Goodnight Museum Park, through Oct. 2024.

Self-taught artist and filmmaker Steven Paul Judd (Kiowa/Choctaw) works across media, creating paintings, murals, mosaics, street art, posters, stickers, and T-shirt designs. His work disrupts American Indian stereotypes, often using humor, and reinterprets Native imagery through a pop culture lens.

Judd participated in the Disney/ABC writing fellowship program in Los Angeles in 2008 and was a staff writer for the Disney XD series Zeke and Luther before transitioning to visual art and filmmaking. He has received a United States Artists fellowship and several Emmy nominations. He is based in Oklahoma City, OK. This installation is presented in conjunction with the exhibition To Take Shape and Meaning: Form and Design in Contemporary American Indian Art, on view in the NCMA galleries through July 28, 2024.

Commissioned by the North Carolina Museum of Art and made possible, in part, by the Hartfield Foundation; Libby and Lee Buck; the North Carolina Department of Natural and Cultural Resources; the North Carolina Museum of Art Foundation, Inc.; and the William R. NC Museum of Art in Raleigh, NC, Offers Exhibition of Contemporary American Indian Art

The NC Museum of Art in Raleigh, NC, is presenting To Take Shape and Meaning Form and Design in Contemporary American Indian Art, on view through July 28, 2024.

Organized by guest curator Nancy Strickland Fields (Lumbee), director/curator of the Museum of the Southeast American Indian at the University of North Carolina at Pembroke, NC, the exhibition features works by 75 Indigenous artists from over 50 tribes throughout the United States and Canada, including eight from North Carolina.

To Take Shape and Meaning brings together a wide range of Indigenous world views, ideas, experiences, traditions, cultures, and media and emphasizes the continuity and evolution of Native arts, both collective and individual expressions of Native America. The exhibition, composed exclusively of 3-D artworks, includes baskets made of blown glass, cars transformed into works of art, and cutting-edge fashion ensembles embellished with elaborate beadwork and feathers.

This project supports the NCMA’s ongoing goal of presenting expansive and inclusive art historical narratives in all aspects of the Museum and of bringing in contemporary artists whose works focus on themes that are particularly relevant to the concerns of the current moment.

“For thousands of years, Native artists have manipulated their materials into fantastic expressions of art. The contemporary artists featured in the show are among the most acclaimed in their genres and are credited with pushing their art forms in ways that retain meaning and continue to evolve culture,” said Nancy Strickland Fields, Guest Curator.

Organized by the North Carolina Museum of Art. This exhibition is made possible, in part, by the Hartfield Foundation; Libby and Lee Buck; the North Carolina Department of Natural and Cultural Resources; the

Some Exhibits That Are Still On View

Our policy at Carolina Arts is to present a press release about an exhibit only once and then go on, but many major exhibits are on view for months. This is our effort to remind you of some of them.

Work by Corrie McCallum

The George Gallery in Charleston, SC, is presenting Other Worlds, featuring works by Corrie McCallum (1914-2009), on view from through June 8, 2024. The George Gallery presents an exhibition from the estate of Corrie McCallum, including prints on paper and paintings on canvas. McCallum, a Charleston local and art educator, played a pivotal role in advancing the modern art movement in the South alongside her husband, William Halsey. McCallum studied art at the University of South Carolina and the Boston Museum School of Art. Her work is largely inspired by her travels, her own city of Charleston and the years she lived in Mexico. McCallum was a curator of Art Education at the Gibbes Museum of Art as well as a professor at the studio art department at the College of Charleston from 1971 through 1979. For further information call the gallery at 843/579-7328 or e-mail to (info@georgegalleryart.com).

Work by Bonnie Goldberg

The Arts Center of Kershaw County in Camden, SC, is presenting Reflections of An Artist - A Collection by Bonnie Goldberg, on view in the Bassett Gallery, through June 8, 2024. Reflections of An Artist is a powerful meditation on what it means to discover art, to evolve as an artist, and then to pass on that art form to a new generation. Featuring pieces from across Bonnie Goldberg's this exhibition invites patrons to explore an artist's work as she discovers and then shapes her voice. It is a powerful exhibition. Goldberg has always been inexplicably drawn to figure drawing, but never to creating a direct likeness. Instead, she looks to capture what can't be expressed with words, and in search of that deeper expression, her work has become more abstract over time. This evolution is well charted throughout the collection. Goldberg is the recipient of a 2016 arts award and honor from the Palmetto Center for Women for outstanding work in her field and her many contributions to the community. She is a self-taught artist who has studied with many notable painters including Alex Powers, Katherine Chang Liu, Glenn Bradshaw, Ernest Velardi, Don Andrews, Sigmund Abeles, and Carole Barnes. For further information call the Center at 803/425-7676 or visit (www.fineartscenter.org).

Work by Joyce Vollmer

Samantha Spalti, gallery director for Sunset River Gallery in Calabash, NC, has announced that oil painter Joyce Vollmer is the Spotlight Artist, on view through June 15, 2024. Southern raised, Vollmer's art has been profoundly influenced by her Southern roots. The warm and earthy Carolina landscape is prominent in most of her work, from dramatic coastal marshes to bucolic rural landscapes. Spalti said, "Joyce is well known among our regular visitors for her beautiful skies, some serene and others dramatic. We always love when she brings us new work!" The artist says, "Skies are ever present, ever changing. Often overlooked or added as an afterthought, I see skies are much more. They are the focal point of my recent work and a metaphor for life. Each beautiful in its own way, the skies above us are in a constant state of evolution." For further information call the gallery at 910/575-5999 or visit (sunsetrivergallery.com).

Work by John Claude Bemis

The Hillsborough Arts Council in Hillsborough, NC, is presenting Mythic Masks, featuring sculptural crowns and masks based on woodland spirits by John Claude Bemis, on view in the HCA Gallery, through June 23, 2024. John Claude Bemis is a sculptural mask-maker based in Hillsborough, NC. He makes his home on the banks of the Eno River where the woods and the magic of the natural world are the portal for his imagination. In his other creative career, John writes novels, picture books, and graphic novels about magic and wonder. This is his first solo art show. "My masks are drawn from Southern folklore and woodland mythology to represent manifestations of spirit guardians and guides who help transform the way we see ourselves, our lives, and our world," said Bemis. For further information call the Council at 919/643-2500 or visit (www.hillsboroughartscenter.org).

health awareness organization, is presenting Mental Health Moonshot, on view in the Center's Community Gallery through June 26, 2024. Mental Health Moonshot is a group exhibition that beckons us to embark on a monumental journey aimed at unraveling the complexities of mental health and dismantling the barriers of stigma. Through paintings, photography, drawings, and mixed media, the exhibition delves into the triumphs and tribulations of individuals grappling with mental health conditions. Walt's Waltz in partnership with GCCA is committed to erasing stigmas and reducing suffering as they work as a catalyst for change. With a dual-fold theme of hope and resilience, the exhibition becomes a beacon of hope piercing the darkness of mental health struggles. Work by Fred Smith

Charlotte, NC, is presenting Fred Smith: From This Disposition, on view through Sept. 1, 2024. Fred Smith (b. 1987) is a human navigating their day to day existence through the act of making drawings, paintings, and sculptural objects. Their work is developed with a sense of subversive irony, exploring societal norms and situations that seem off or odd. By bending physicality and destabilizing reality, Fred Smith's uncanny creations prompt us to ask complex questions about our surroundings and our imagination. The artist has a similar mission in mind while creating the work, stating that he's "simply asking questions that I don't know how to ask with words." Molding form and spaces into open-ended queries, Smith delivers us to a site where "the world is a stage." For further information call the Museum at 704/337-2000 or visit (www.mintmuseum.org).

Work by John Crum

USCB Center for the Arts Gallery, USC-Beaufort, 801 Carteret Street, Beaufort. Through June 27 - "Art Beyond Tradition: Visual Theatrics". The Art Beyond Tradition Group began exhibiting on Hilton Head Island in 2006. The goal was simple: to make abstract art approachable to those who might find it hard to understand. Founders of the group believed that mounting regular exhibitions of purely abstract work could foster an understanding and appreciation of this sometimes-perplexing visual art. Participating artists include: Earline Allen, Joanna Chaison, Cindy Chiappetta, John Crum, Jo Dye, Mark Larkin, Sharon Collings Licata, and Donna Varner. A special exhibit of past participant, Mary Sullivan, will be included, commemorating her recent passing. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 10am-5pm and during events. Masks and social distancing required. Contact: 843/521-4145 or at (<http://www.uscbcenterforthearts.com/>).

Bluffton

Society of Bluffton Artists Gallery/Learning Center, 6 & 8 Church Street, corner of Calhoun and Church Street, Bluffton. Through June 2 - "LowCountry Backyard", featuring works by John Meckley. Meckley's exhibit will reflect the South Carolina Lowcountry's beautiful marshes and majestic egrets. "What inspires my brushstrokes to a canvas here in the Lowcountry are the images of soft, warm breezes floating on top of the many coloring changing marsh grasses," Meckley said. June 3 - 30 - "Bring the Light," featuring works by Julia Kamenskikh. A reception will be held on June 8, from 5-7pm. The Society of Bluffton Artists is thrilled to announce the upcoming art exhibit featuring the captivating works of Julia Kamenskikh. "SOS for a Shipwreck at Sea", 2012, by Reynier Llanes (Cuban-American, b. 1985). Coffee and acrylic on paper, 20 x 30 inches. Loan courtesy of Richard Weedman and Jonathan Green Collection. Image ©Reynier Llanes

Gibbes Museum of Art, 135 Meeting Street, Charleston. Gallery 2 & 3, Through Aug. 18 - "Artist Spotlight: Merton D. Simpson and William M. Halsey". Focusing intently on small groups of works, the artist spotlight series features engaging profiles of artists held in the Gibbes permanent collection. The rotating series launched with Abstract Expressionist painters, Merton D. Simpson and William M. Halsey. Both artists born and raised in South Carolina had long and successful careers in the arts - Simpson in New York and Halsey in Charleston. Galleries 8 & 9, Through Sept. 15 - "Reynier Llanes: Passages". The exhibition presents the vibrant narrative paintings of Reynier Llanes an established Cuban artist (Pinar del Rio, 1985) now based in the United States. Llanes combines and contrasts scenes from nature and daily life with a mystical and imaginative elegance. Drawing from his own memories and experience as an artist, an émigré, and an immigrant as well as his studies of literature, history, and science, Llanes invites viewers into unique dreamworlds. His explorations of personal and societal passages, both physical and spiritual, sensitively communicate common threads in humanity. Currently living in Miami, Llanes spent 6 years working in Charleston. This exhibition pulls from the artist's recent series of large-scale oil paintings, as well as his unique coffee watercolor paintings - a style he has dubbed Expressionism. Galleries 1, 4, and 5, Permanent Exhibition - "18th and 19th Century American Paintings and Sculpture". American paintings, from colonial portraits to Civil War-era landscapes, occupy the Gibbes Main Gallery. Portraits of leading political, social, and military figures include works by Jeremiah Theus, Henry Benbridge, Benjamin West, Gilbert Stuart, Thomas Sully and Samuel F.B. Morse. The gallery also features landscape and genre scenes by Angelica Kaufmann, Louis Mignot, Eastman Johnson, Conrad Wise Chapman, and William Aiken Walker. The paintings collection is complemented by examples of neoclassical sculpture on view in the Campbell Rotunda, and decorative art objects on loan from the Rivers Collection. Gallery 5, Permanent Exhibition - "Miniature Portraits". The first American miniature portraits were painted in Charleston, and today the Gibbes is home to one of the most prestigious portrait miniature collections in the United States. Containing more than six hundred objects, the collection spans nearly two hundred years and represents the work of over a hundred artists. Small enough to fit in the palm of the hand, these tiny portraits were treasured remembrances of loved ones in the age before photography. Presented in state-of-the-art display cases, and in viewable storage drawers featured miniatures include works by Mary Roberts, Jeremiah Theus, Henry Benbridge, Charles Wilson Peale, Pierre Henri, Edward Greene Malbone, George Engleheart, and Charles Fraser. Gallery 6, Permanent Exhibition - "20th Century American Regionalism and the Charleston Renaissance". At the turn of the twentieth century, American artists looked to their European counterparts and beyond as they developed identifiably American artistic movements. Two particularly strong influences during this time period were French Impressionism and Japanese woodblock prints. Another prevailing theme during this period was the growing interest in American subject matter. American regionalism and social realism played important roles in the development of art in Charleston, which flourished as a destination for artists, particularly during the years of 1915 to 1945 a period now known as the Charleston Renaissance. Gallery 7, Permanent Exhibition - "Modern and Contemporary". Modern and contemporary art in America encompasses a wide range of styles, subject matter, and media. As a whole, the diversity of modern and contemporary art reflects the rich and varied heritage of our nation and the lowcountry region. Works in this gallery were created over the past forty years by artists who are native to the area, who have worked here, or who have created objects that reflect the complex story of the region. The works are grouped to reflect several themes including the southern landscape, the human figure, abstraction, and the legacy of slavery in America. Museum Shop - Now offering the inventory of the Tradd Street Press, reproductions of works by Elizabeth O'Neill Verner among other exhibit related art objects. Hours: Mon.-Thur., 10am-5pm & Sun., 1-5pm. Admission: Yes. Contact: 843/722-2706 or at (www.gibbesmuseum.org).

Halsey Institute of Contemporary Art, The Marion and Wayland H. Cato Jr. Center for the Arts, College of Charleston School of the Arts, 161 Calhoun St., Charleston. Main Gallery & Exhibition Hall, Through July 20 - "Elsa Harkins: Teach Me A Song". Elsa Harkins's ongoing project, Teach Me a Song, builds on the artist's interests in translation, language preservation, and Indigenous musicology. The multifaceted work is structured on a series of exchanges, wherein she invites collaborators to teach her a song. With the recordings of these songs—which may be ceremonial, religious, rock & roll, electronic, etc.—Harkins's practice of nation to nation sharing and trading music is presented as a means of decolonizing traditions of Indigenous musicology. This exhibition is the first time the entirety of this project has been exhibited. Through July 20 - "Spandita Malik: Meshes of Resistance". Spandita Malik is a visual artist from India who is currently based in New York. Her work is concerned with the current global socio-political state of affairs with an emphasis on women's rights and gendered violence. Malik specializes in process-based work in photography, recently with photographic surface embroideries and collaborations with women in India. Malik's work in expanded documentary and social practice consciously emanates from the idea of decolonizing the eye and aesthetic surrounding documentary photography of India. Hours: Mon. - Sat., 11am-4pm; until 7pm on Thur. and by app. Contact: 843/953-4422 or at (<http://halsey.cofc.edu/exhibitions/>).

"Couple," is from the exhibition "Follow the North Star." Credit: James Van Der Zee, 1932, silver gelatin print. James Van Der Zee's interest in the everyday lifestyle of his people resulted in this portrait of a couple he happened to encounter one afternoon in Harlem.

International African American Museum, 14 Wharfside Street, Charleston. Through Nov. 3 - "Follow the North Star: Freedom in the Age of Mobility Throughout African American History". This exhibition portrays the destination of "freedom" as it proves to be an elusive location. The search for this "promised land" has taken many forms, including travel, migration, and imagination. "Follow the North Star: Freedom in the Age of Mobility," explores this multifaceted journey through three distinct perspectives: Transportation, The Great Migration, and Spirituality/Imagination. In this multi-media exhibition, visitors will learn about historic events related to African Americans' search for freedom, as well as lesser-known forms of escape, including folklore, story-telling, and metaphysical travel. From the Montgomery bus boycotts, to Afrofuturist visions of other planets, visitors will be encouraged to see the African American journey through a renewed lens, one of possibility and agency. Ongoing - The IAAM, which sits at the site of Gadsden's Wharf - one of the nation's most prolific former slave trading ports - includes nine core exhibition galleries and a special exhibition gallery, as well as a "floating" gallery that weaves contemporary art throughout the museum. The museum will open with more than 700 artifacts dating from 17th century to contemporary objects, alongside 1000 image and media collection pieces - all of which help connect the African American journey to its roots and connections to African and African Diaspora communities and cultures. The museum also houses the Center for Family History, a world-class genealogy and ancestry resource center, which began hosting genealogy classes and workshops in 2020. Admission: Yes. In an effort to increase access and decrease obstacles to participating in arts and cultural experiences, International African American Museum (IAAM) has joined Bank of America as a new partner in the bank's Museums on Us program, which offers free general admission on the first full weekend of each month to Bank of America, Merrill and Bank of America Private Bank credit and debit cardholders, at some of the nation's greatest museums and cultural attractions, which now includes IAAM. Hours: Tue.-Sun., 10am-5pm (last entry at 4pm). Contact: 843/872-5352 or at (iaamuseum.org).

Work by Joe Karlovec

Redux Contemporary Art Center, featuring Redux Studios, 1056 King Street, Charleston. Main Gallery, Through Aug. 10 - "Creative Corridors" is the annual Redux studio artist exhibition. The 2024 theme: "Experimentation". Artists were asked to create new work and with experimentation in mind. The Annual Studio Artist Exhibition is an opportunity for Redux resident artists to showcase a sample of their work, as it relates to a specific prompt and is curated as a group exhibition in Redux's main exhibition space. Gallery 1056, Through Aug. 10 - "Hale Horstman". Drawing from her archive of nearly 40 years as a professional photographer, Hale Horstman presents her first solo art exhibition entitled Bathed In Light. In this series of black and white images taken in swimming pools in the 1990s, Hale explores her transmedial relationship to light and the magical suspension of time experienced under the surface of the water. Lightening Resident Gallery, Through Aug. 10 - "Loose Joints," featuring works by Dylan Beckman & Joe Karlovec. Dylan Beckman is an artist from Houston, TX. She makes objects based on unreliable memories and early experiences with moral instruction, as well as found imagery and archival research. She places these fabrications within photographic compositions that speak to desires for control and manipulation. Joe Karlovec relocated from Florida to Charleston with his wife & two kids in 2023. They live in a historic church that's been retrofitted into living spaces in the North Central neighborhood near Redux. He received his BFA in Interior Architecture from the Cleveland Institute of Art, then briefly studied Landscape Architecture at Ohio State before earning his MFA in Painting at Kent State University. Ongoing - In May, 2017, Redux relocated to 1056 King Street with 38 studios, three galleries, a larger print shop, classroom, dark room, and photo studio. Hours: Tue.-Fri., 11am-4pm, or by appt. Contact: 843/722-0697 or at (www.reduxstudios.org).

Saul Alexander Gallery, Charleston County Public Library, 68 Calhoun St., Charleston. Saul Alexander Gallery, June 1 - 30 - "Nothing Is Ever the Same as They Said it Was," featuring works by Angela Askeland. A reception will be held on June 5, from 6-7pm. Askeland says, "As a passionate painter since my early age, I always felt inspired and imaginative, using a colorful and emotional palette to create and exploring my feelings. My art is a representation of my introspective journey." Hours: Mon.-Thur., 9am-8pm; Fri. & Sat., 9am-6pm; and Sun. 2-5pm. Contact: Megan Summers at 843/805-6946 or at (www.copl.org).

The Charleston Museum, 360 Meeting Street, Charleston. Founded in 1773, is America's first museum. Historic Textiles Gallery, Through Sept. 15 - "The Art of Abstraction: Modernism in Quilting". Quilting has always been a means of creative expression, uniting color and pattern to form an object of purpose. Just as paint on canvas functions, the fabric pieces often work as artistic parameters, testing the visual acuity and imagination of the individual. We are pleased to announce a collaborative exhibition with the Gibbs Museum of Art in which abstract artwork will be displayed alongside the Museum's quilts to showcase the artistic beauty of both mediums. Lowcountry Image Gallery, Ongoing - "A Historical Timeline of America's First Museum: 1773 - 2023". This timeline highlights the rich history of The Charleston Museum from its beginning to the present. Selected events from the past 250 years are showcased using iconic photographs from the Museum's Archives. The forebear of The Charleston Museum was founded on January 12, 1773, by members of the Charleston Library Society, when South Carolina was still a British colony. Although the form and substance of the institution has changed over two and a half centuries, its general purpose at the time of its creation - to educate - is still central to its mission today. Throughout its history, the Museum has experienced wars, natural disasters, and most recently a worldwide pandemic, yet it has continued to thrive. Today, The Charleston Museum houses more than 2.4 million objects, and each year over 100,000 people, from around the world and from all walks of life, come here to learn. We invite you to enjoy this timeline highlighting selected events from the Museum's rich past, from its beginning to the present, with iconic images from the Museum's Archives. Ongoing - Featuring the most extensive collection of South Carolina cultural and scientific collections in the nation, it also owns two National Historic Landmark houses, the Heyward-Washington House (1772) and the Joseph Manigault House (1803), as well as the Dill Sanctuary, a 580-acre wildlife preserve. Admission: Yes. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 9am-5pm & through the Summer months, Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 843/722-2996 or at (www.charleston-museum.org).

Columbia Area

Henry François Famy, "Indian Encampment", 1911, Montgomery Museum of Fine Arts, Gift of the Ida Belle Young Art Acquisition Fund, 2021.3

Columbia Museum of Art, Main & Hampton Streets, Columbia. Through June 30 - "Sergio Hudson: Focused on the Fit". This exhibition showcases the remarkable moments of a designer who fell in love with fashion at 5 years old while living in Ridgeway, South Carolina, and has become one of the biggest names in the industry. Sergio Hudson's high-profile clients include Beyoncé, Michelle Obama, Serena Williams, Rihanna, Kamala Harris, Kendall Jenner, Issa Rae, Rachel Brosnahan, and Keke Palmer, a close friend whom he has called a muse. Hudson's philosophy is that fashion should be for everyone and include everyone. He designs to empower the wearer and often includes a nod to the '90s of his youth. See eight signature garments from key moments in his revolutionary career alongside more than 20 sketches and drawings exploring his career from the early days winning Bravo's Styled to Rock in 2013 up through the present day. June 15 - Sept. 8 - "(Un)Settled: The Landscape in American Art". From natural wonders to the open road, the landscape has long been a muse in American art. "(Un)Settled" questions the shaping of national identity through objects from the colonial era to present. The variety of media and makers helps to redefine whose view is considered and expands on landscape's relevance and resonance in art. "(Un)Settled" explores the rich, complicated, and evolving topic of what it means to be American. The exhibition presents historic artworks in conversation with modern and contemporary pieces to examine ideas such as defining national identity, the question of land preservation, the meaning of boundaries, the complexity of cultural landscapes, and how location shapes our sense of self. Building upon noted Hudson River School paintings, "(Un)Settled" features works by artists including: Fiedelia Bridges, Marsden Hartley, Georgia O'Keeffe, Benny Andrews, William Christenberry, Ana Mendieta, Ed Ruscha, Jeffrey Gibson, and Jacqueline Bishop. Through 40 artworks including examples of material culture such as furniture, glass, ceramics, and baskets, the exhibition highlights the evolving conversations around landscape and its relationship to establishing cultural and national identity over the last two centuries. Through Jan. 1, 2025 - "The Collection". Come see the newly organized collection. We've gathered ancient and modern works of art, together in one space, that explore our shared archetypes, myths, and ideals. Galleries 5 & 6, Ongoing - "Modern & Contemporary Art from the Collection". Celebrating some of the CMA's greatest hits, this exhibition features over 30 paintings, drawings, photographs and sculptures from the Museum's collection that have not been on view recently. It offers the visitor experiences both serious and sensual and is designed to both entertain and enlighten. Notable works included are by Jasper Johns, Howard Thomas, Sally Mann and Edward Ruscha, whose famous image of the Hollywood Hills (on view) has become a staple of the art world. Ray Taylor Fair Gallery, Ongoing - Featuring a new and permanent installation of its ancient art collection. The installation includes approximately 50 objects that introduce the major ancient civilizations from the Mediterranean and Near East. Examples of the art of the world of writing from 12th century B.C. Mesopotamia, are shown next to Egyptian scarabs and Greek painted vessels. The world of the

"Lola's World, installation by Susan Lenz, part of the Mill District Public Art Trail

Mill District Public Art Trail (MDPAT), throughout the Whaley, Olympia and Granby neighborhoods, known as Columbia, SC's Mill District, Columbia. Ongoing - The MDPAT was conceived as a project in 2017 by 701 Center for Contemporary Art board and staff to connect the three neighborhoods through a creative endeavor. The inaugural works on the trail were created by 11 South Carolina artists - collaborators David Cianni (Aiken) and Anna Redwine (Columbia), Diana Farfán (Greenville), Susan Lenz (Columbia), Robert Lyon (Columbia), Doug McAbee (Greenwood), Philip Moody (Rock Hill), Carey Morton (Charleston), Jordan Sheridan (Columbia), Brittany Watkins (Columbia), and Fletcher Williams III (Charleston). The works on the Mill District Public Art Trail invite us to explore the art and highlight the unique character of the distinctive neighborhoods within the Mill District. Part of this journey is discovering art in unexpected and surprising spaces. It is also an indication of the ongoing transformation taking place in this historically important community. SC State Museum, 301 Gervais St., Columbia. Ongoing - "The 521 All-Stars: A Championship Story of Baseball and Community." Featuring 40 photographs exploring the story of a Black baseball team from Rembert, SC, and their fans. Based on the 1998 book by Frye Galliard with photographs by Byron Baldwin, the exhibition highlights the story of the 521 All-Stars team of Rembert, SC, a Black baseball team with roots going back to the 1920s. Named for Hwy 521, which runs past their baseball field, the 521 All-Stars play for the love of the game and the pride and solidarity it brings. Featuring more than 40 framed black and white photographs taken during the team's 1996-1997 season, 521 All-Stars depicts baseball in its purest form: scrap metal bases, rotten wood bleachers, teams made up of brothers, fathers, sons and, most importantly, fellowship within the community. Ongoing - The South Carolina State Museum, the state's largest and most comprehensive museum, is located along the banks of the beautiful Congaree River in downtown Columbia, South Carolina. Founded in 1988, the State Museum is the primary storyteller of the history of South Carolina. Through rich and diverse collections displayed through interactive and engaging exhibitions, the State Museum strives to honor the groundbreaking nature of its setting, providing both residents and visitors an in-depth picture of the state's past, present and future. There is much to see and do every day at the State Museum through a variety of exhibitions and educational programs both offered at the museum and through distance learning programs, as well as through entertaining community events of all kind. The Crescent Café, second floor mezzanine of the Museum. The house menu offers a variety of baked goods, juices, coffee, hot chocolate and tea. Lunchtime offerings include deli sandwiches and alternating daily soups, as well as grilled chicken salads and sandwiches. And let's not forget the house specialty: spectacular fudge, handmade on-site. Admission: Yes. The South Carolina State Museum is proud to be part of the Blue Star Museums initiative, a national appreciation program to thank our military families for their service and share with them America's cultural treasures. As a part of Blue Star Museums, active military and their families are invited to enjoy free general admission to the South Carolina State Museum from Armed Forces Day, through Labor Day, Sept. 2, 2024. Florence County Museum, 111 West Cheves Street, across the street from the Francis Marion University Performing Arts Center, Florence. Through Dec. 1 - "Kindred Spirit: The Personal Worlds of William H. Johnson". William H. Johnson (1901 - 1970) was a man between worlds: raised in the rural South, but educated in New York; black, but his unknown father was white; American-born, but lived much of his adult life in Europe. This diverse heritage gave Johnson a unique perspective and insight, but at times it was also a difficult shadow which followed him as he traveled the world in search of his true artistic voice. Eventually, after many years away from his hometown of Florence, SC, Johnson returned to the United States. Although living in New York,

William Henry Johnson, "Aunt Alice", Oil on compressed cardboard, 1944. On loan from James E. Lewis Museum, Morgan State University - Florence County Museum

his art began to focus almost entirely on the lives and experiences of African Americans in the rural South. "My travels taught me that an artist must live and paint in his own environment... This development shall continue for the rest of my life, and it is the painting of my people," said Johnson in 1941. Special Exhibit Gallery, Through July 14 - "Inside Out," an exhibition of works from Asheville, NC collectors, Ray Griffin and Thom Robinson. This exhibition features contemporary Southern Appalachian art in conjunction and contrast with self-taught "Outsider" art and artists, and their unique position relative to fine art in the American South. "Inside Out" also addresses the role of private collecting in the art world, and explores the unique connections and relationships that form between collectors, artists, and art institutions. Educational Gallery, Ongoing - "Hutty: The Art of Observation". How does an artist's rendering increase observation? What do the lines of an artist tell us? "Hutty: The Art of Observation" invites discovery in nomenclature through line and dendrology. Study the characteristics of trees and challenge yourself to identify them in this exhibition featuring the renowned prints of Charleston Renaissance artist, Alfred Hutty. During World War I, Hutty served as a marine camouflage artist. Shortly after the war, he visited Charleston, South Carolina and would spend the rest of his life living between Charleston and Woodstock. His depictions and understanding of Charleston during that time secured his place as a renowned Charleston Renaissance artist. Community Gallery, Ongoing - This exhibit introduces visitors to the history of the museum and its formative collections. This gallery also exhibits the histories and diversity of the City of Florence, and the incorporated municipalities of Florence County. Additionally, the Community Gallery communicates the lives, stories and accomplishments of significant past and present citizens of Florence County and members of its communities. This gallery is one of two permanent exhibit spaces designed by award winning exhibit design firm, HaleySharpe Design. Pee Dee History Gallery, Ongoing - This is the largest gallery space in the facility, comprising 3,300 sq. ft. of exhibit space. This permanent collections gallery occupies the entire second floor, east wing of the building. Artifacts are supported by historical images and narrative interpretation, giving a comprehensive introduction to the Pee Dee region from prehistory to the present. This gallery is one of two permanent exhibit spaces designed by award winning exhibit design firm, HaleySharpe Design. Admission: Free. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-5pm & Sun. 2-5pm. to whimsical worlds, inviting others to join him in seeing in new ways. These are worlds that Jim Gleason creates as easily as he breathes. As a Marine veteran and professional musician, Gleason became a master technician repairing brass and woodwind instruments. Now, after decades of experience, he is intimately aware of every particle that makes up an instrument allowing it to give voice to notes on a page. When they can no longer do so, despite his best efforts, he gives them new lives as fanciful creatures and characters that flow steadily from his imagination, populating his studio, putting a smile on your face as soon as you see them. Ongoing - The Steven F. Gately Gallery is a visual arts gallery located on the first floor of Francis Marion University's charmingly renovated University Place building on N. Dargan Street, Florence, SC. The gallery hosts rotating exhibitions from a variety of artists. Named for the late Steven F. Gately, a long time art professor at Francis Marion University, The Gately Gallery is an extension of Francis Marion University. The gallery's mission is to provide the community with a venue to experience a wide range of culturally diverse regional, national, and international visual artwork from emerging and established artists. Hours: Tue.-Wed., noon-6pm; Thur.-Fri., 10am-6pm & 2nd and 4th Sat., 10am-3pm. Contact: 843/661-4637, 843/661-4638 or at (<https://www.fmarion.edu/universityplace/>).

Greenville

Throughout Greenville. Ongoing - "Public Art in Greenville". The City of Greenville's long-standing support for public art is a testament to our belief that the arts enhance the quality of life for residents and visitors, and strengthen our community - socially, economically, and culturally. The City's permanent collection includes more than 120 works of public art (including sculptures, statues, murals, architectural elements/structures, historic pieces, etc.).

Ongoing efforts to enhance the built environment through public art and creative placemaking contribute to the area's unique aesthetic identity, and create platforms for community engagement and dialogue. Work by Will Crooks

Greenville Center for Creative Arts, 25 Draper Street, Greenville. Main Gallery, June 7 - July 24 - "Silent Surfaces: Mapping Spatial & Personal Discoveries." A reception will be held on June 7, from 6-9pm. This is a three-person exhibition featuring the artwork of Donnie Copeland (Arkansas), Ryan Lewis (Michigan), & Matthew McLaughlin (Maryland)—each offering distinct avenues of exploration into introspection, spatial cognition, and nuanced patterns of existence. Community Gallery, Through June 26 - "Mental Health Moonshot." Presented by the Greenville Center for Creative Arts (GCCA) in partnership with Walt's Waltz, a non-profit mental health awareness organization. "Mental Health Moonshot" is a group exhibition that beckons you to embark on a monumental journey aimed at unraveling the complexities of mental health and dismantling the barriers of stigma. Through paintings, photography, drawings, and mixed media, the exhibition delves into the triumphs and tribulations of individuals grappling with mental health conditions. Walt's Waltz in partnership with GCCA is committed to erasing stigmas and reducing suffering as they work as a catalyst for change. With a dual-fold theme of hope and resilience, the exhibition becomes a beacon of hope piercing the darkness of mental health struggles. The featured artists are: Traci Wright Martin, Will Crooks, Kara Bender, Aldo Muzzarelli, Amanda Barbarito, Elisa Golden, Connie Lippert, Terrell Washington, Sherrill Hill, Barbara Castenada, Samantha Goss, Tania Ro, and local poet and psychiatrist Frank Clark, whose poetry is paired with artist Lisa Teo's work courtered to GCCA from Malaysia. The Shop at GCCA - In celebration of our eighth anniversary, Greenville Center for Creative Arts is thrilled to announce the opening of our official gift shop! As another opportunity for GCCA to support local artists, visitors can shop for consigned artworks from Greenville-based artists including prints, small originals, jewelry, pottery, and more! The Shop at GCCA will also have novelty merchandise for sale so you can show your love for Greenville arts everywhere you go! Ongoing - Home to 16 studio artists. Hours: Wed.-Fri., 1-5pm. Contact: call 864/735-3948 or at (www.artcentergreenville.org).

Greenville County Museum of Art, 420 College Street, Greenville. Through July 28 - "This Is Not: Aldwyth in Retrospect". A Gallery Tour with guest curator Mark Sloan will be offered on May 19, at 2pm. Organized by guest curator Mark Sloan, this retrospective spans nearly seven decades of Aldwyth's work, beginning with photography and continuing through experimental painting, assemblage, and collage. The exhibition considers a number of personal themes that have remained consistent throughout her career. Now in her late 80s, the artist, who uses the singular name Aldwyth, has lived and worked alone in an octagonal house overlooking a salt marsh on one of South Carolina's sea islands since 1980. While maintaining her seclusion from the larger art world, she has employed the history of art and ideas as a catalyst for complex found-object sculptures and increasingly epic-scaled collages that often recall medieval manuscripts writ large. Through June 16 - "Kevin McNamee-Tweed: Saying the Sun". "One can only gather if indeed [one is] looking. I am obsessively, hungrily looking. . .". Born in Stanford, CA, in 1984, Kevin McNamee-Tweed grew up in North Carolina. He graduated from New York University with a BFA in 2008 and earned an MFA from the University of Iowa in 2017. In addition to working as a studio artist in various media, he served as Chief Curator of Big Medium Gallery, Austin, TX. The exhibition Saying the Sun features wall-hanging ceramics that characteristically embrace McNamee-Tweed's simultaneous high- and lowbrow intentions, allowing the viewer to simply see and feel. As the artist has said, "At the point when beauty and humor emerge, we feel relief. I think, that our logic and computations are, at last, not necessary." Through Sept. 8 - "Horace Day in the Lowcountry." A plein air realist, Horace Day helped to extend the Charleston Renaissance into the post-World War II era by modernizing the genre, combining the punch of brilliant colors and textured brushstrokes with the same love of place expressed by Alfre Huddy, Alice Ravenel Huger Smith, Anna Heyward Taylor, and Elizabeth O'Neill Verner. His fresh interpretations of Carolina Lowcountry subjects documented vibrant city streets and their inhabitants, bucolic landscapes, rural cabins hidden beneath massive oaks, and churches still identifiable today by their distinctive architectural details. This exhibition will focus on the artist's work that was painted over four decades of traveling along the coast - from Charleston to Hilton Head Island. Ongoing - "Art and Artists of South Carolina: For Real". The GCMA's newest exhibition is drawn from the Museum's permanent collection. Celebrate the Palmetto State with a diverse selection of watercolors by Mary Whyte and Stephen Scott Young, sculptures carved by Grainger McKay, and varied South Carolina landscapes. Ongoing - "Collection Highlights: African-American Art," features 17 works by as many artists. At the forefront of the exhibition is a realistic sculpture by John Wilson, whose monumental bronze head of Martin Luther King, Jr. captures the dignity and strength of the civil rights leader. Post-World War II non-objective painting is reflected in works by Beauford Delaney, Hale Woodruff, and Frank Wimberley. A lighter, but no less powerful, touch is embodied in a brilliant Color Field painting by Thomas Sillis. The exhibition also includes evocative examples by Romare Bearden, Frederick Brown, Jacob Lawrence, Betye Saar, Merton Simpson, and Bob Thompson. Ongoing - "Andrew Wyeth: Running with the Land". This stunning retrospective showcases 59 works on paper, capturing Wyeth's preference for painting intimate subjects that were tied to the homes established by his father in both Chadds Ford, Pennsylvania, and Cushing, Maine. Wyeth drew inspiration from the distinctive characteristics and denizens of these locations, revealing universal traits in his depictions of landscapes, objects, and people. Ongoing - "All in the Family (Connections)," which assembles work by three generations of Wyeths--the first family of American painting--taking advantage of several rarely exhibited loans from a private collection and complementing the exhibition "Andrew Wyeth: Running with the Land". Admission: Free. Hours: Wed.-Sat., 10am-6pm and Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 864/271-7570 or at (www.gcma.org).

Lancaster

USC Lancaster Native American Studies Center, 119 South Main Street, Lancaster. Five Points Gallery, Through Aug. 5 - "More than a Game: Indigenous Sports and Athleticism." This exhibit is on display in conjunction with the 18th Annual Native American Studies Week, "Indigenous Athletes and Athleticism: Vital Contributions to a National Passion." The athletics-focused exhibit highlights information about Indigenous athletes- some with Carolina connections, such as Buck George, who played football for the Clemson Tigers and the team now known as the Washington Commanders- and their contributions to the Olympics and competitive sports such as basketball, hockey, football, wrestling, track and field, and more. "This exhibit takes a look at a subject we've never covered before," said Center Special Projects Coordinator Elisabeth Avelar. North Gallery, Through Sept. 1 - "Backyard Vines: Artwork by Nancy Basket". View the beautiful weavings and sculptures made of wisteria, kudzu, long leaf pine needles, and more from traditional artist Nancy Basket. Red Rose Gallery, Through June 20 - "Painted Voices". Discover the two-dimensional array of landscapes, abstracts, and portrait-style artwork from Catawba Nation artists DeAnn Beck and Nicole Fox Braxwell. DeAnn Beck is a self-taught Catawba artist who has done quilting and crochet work in the past, learning quilting at a young age from her grandmother Evelyn George. She became interested in working with watercolors around 2015 and enjoys painting flowers and botanical items; the new exhibit features her renderings of these flowers, animals, and other natural items. Daughter of Charles "Buster" Fox, great-granddaughter of Mary Evelyn Ayers, Braswell, also self-taught, recalls being introduced to the world of art by coloring with her grandmother for hours when she was a child. She began sketching as a child and as a young adult, honing her craft in painting. Duke Energy Gallery, Through Aug. 5 - "Native American Archaeology in the Wateree Valley". Artwork and artifacts tell the story of Indigenous mounds in the Wateree Valley region. D. Lindsay Pettus Gallery, Ongoing - "The Story of Catawba Pottery". This National Endowment for the Arts funded exhibit traces the art, culture and history of Catawba pottery, the oldest Native American pottery tradition in the United States. Back Gallery, Semi-permanent Exhibit - "This is Us: Native American Studies". This exhibit celebrates the history and 10th Anniversary of USCL's Native American Studies, including artifacts and artwork from Collections, and a history of the building our Native American Studies Center calls home. Ongoing - The Center is 15,000 square foot facility in historic downtown Lancaster. Guests will have the opportunity to tour the NAS Center's gallery spaces, archives, classrooms, and archaeology, language, and audio-visual labs. Home to the world's largest collection of Catawba Indian pottery, the NAS Center will offer exhibits of regional Native American Art, classes and programs focused on Native American history, culture, archaeology, folklore, and language. Hours: Hours: Tue., Wed., Fri., & Sat., 10am-5pm; Thur., 10am-7pm; by appt. Closed Mon.&Sun. To make an appointment for visitation, call the Native American Studies Center at 803/313-7172 or e-mail to (uscinsp@ mailbox.sc.edu). Myrtle Beach / Grand Strand

Work by Richard Segalman

Franklin G. Burroughs - Simeon B. Chapin Art Museum, 3100 South Ocean Blvd., beside Springmaid Beach, Myrtle Beach. Through June 2 - "27th Annual Waccamaw Arts & Crafts Guild Juried Art Exhibition". The Art Museum was conceived by a small but visionary group of local art enthusiasts, among them a group of artists formed in the late 1960s called the Waccamaw Arts & Crafts Guild. Beginning in the spring of 1969, a pattern of art exhibitions was established that continues today. To honor the integral role that the Guild played in the Museum's establishment, the Museum proudly hosts the Guild's annual spring juried art exhibition. A diverse array of media in both two and three-dimension, all completed by local artists within the past two years, will be exhibited. The work this year was juried in by Coastal Carolina University Visual Arts Professor Steven Bleicher and Associate Professor Charles Clark, as well as the Academy for the Arts, Science and Technology's Advanced Art Teacher, Jamie Franklin. Returning to judge the exhibition is South Carolina painter Alicia LEEKIE, who uses digital technology to incorporate scientific-research-related imagery into her work, thereby blending her passion for art and science. Through Sept. 1 - "Richard Segalman: Ebb and Flow". Born in Coney Island, NY in 1934, Richard Segalman (d. 2021) is renowned for his luminous depictions of beautifully and voluminously draped female figures posed in the artist's studios in Manhattan and his home in Woodstock, NY, as well as on the beaches of Naples, FL, and Coney Island. "My first influence was being surrounded by hats, color and fabric," he once wrote. "My mother was a milliner. Being in this atmosphere, began my life in art. I saw the work of Degas, Sargent and Sorolla, and it was like coming home." Segalman's work is permanently housed in over 40 museum collections, including the Metropolitan Museum of Art (NY), the Hirshhorn Museum (DC) and the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston (MA). He has been represented by the Harmon-Meek Gallery in Naples, FL, since 1981. Ongoing - Myrtle Beach's Franklin G. Burroughs-Simeon B.

North Charleston

Work by Doug McAbee

Park Circle Gallery, formerly the Olde Village Community Building, 4820 Jenkins Avenue, in the bustling Park Circle neighborhood of North Charleston. June 5 - 29 - "Plastic Beach," featuring mixed-media assemblages by Charleston-based K. Kim Thomas, who creates works that are a visual discussion around climate change, nature, and our insatiable consumer culture. In manipulating debris through a variety of media - primarily sculpture, installation, and printmaking - she presents the viewer with an everyday object in an unexpected, new form. In her exhibit, "Plastic Beach", Thomas presents imagined future relics pieced together from the debris of both the natural environment and our plastic single-use culture. Thomas will offer a guided tour on June 8, from 1-2pm. A reception will be held on June 28, from 5-7pm. June 5 - 29 - "It Don't Cost Nothin' To Be Nice," features works by Laurens, SC, based artist Doug McAbee. He presents a collection of colorful drawings on uniquely shaped wood panels, vibrant hollow-form steel sculptures, and site specific drawings with acrylic paint marker. The result is an immersive opportunity for the viewer to walk through the interior of McAbee's mind. Characters from McAbee's imagination create narratives about interpersonal relationships in his ink drawings and steel sculptures. Even his most abstracted imagery is derived from organic forms with recognizable heads, eyes, and feet. A reception will be held on June 28, from 5-7pm. Ongoing - In addition to the monthly exhibitions, the "gift shop" at the North Charleston City Gallery, which features a variety of items by local artists, will also be moved to PCG. Cultural Arts will also continue to host art workshops and recurring meetings for art groups and guilds in the space once gatherings are safe to resume. Admission: Free.

ALTERNATE ART SPACES - North Charleston North Charleston City Hall, 2500 City Hall Lane, North Charleston. 1st & 2nd floors, Through June 16 - "17th Annual African American Fiber Art Exhibition, Celebrating Black Music," curated by award-winning master art quilter and curator Torreah "Cookie" Washington. African American fiber artists from across the nation were invited to participate. The exhibition is a component of the 2024 North Charleston Arts Fest. African Americans have a rich, deep, vibrant musical culture. Black musicians, singers, and songwriters are the undoubted pioneers of American music, laying the foundation for genres such as hip-hop, R&B, jazz, blues, country, rock 'n roll, and more. Black Music is the soundtrack of our lives, offering one of the most inescapable examples of the importance of the African American experience to the cultural heritage of all Americans, regardless of race or origin. This year's theme pays homage to legends of Black American music, challenging artists to create a fiber art piece that honors and uplifts Black music and musicians. Hours: 8am-7pm daily. Contact: 843/740-5854, at (<https://www.northcharleston.org/residents/arts-and-culture/>) or (NorthCharlestonArtsFest.com).

Orangeburg

Cecil Williams Civil Rights Museum, 1865 Lake Drive, Orangeburg. Ongoing - Established in 2019, the exquisite ultra-modern facility displays 1000 images of the Civil Rights Movement, but from the perspective of The Epochal South Carolina Events That Changed America. The massive archives comprise the largest collection of images of this type among all museums in the United States; including the Atlanta based High Museum which archives 300 images. The images were created by the founder, Cecil Williams, who began photography at age 9 and covered almost all historically significant events in South Carolina; from 1950 Briggs v. Elliot in Summerton, thru the 1969 Charleston Hospital Workers' Strike...and Beyond. From 1955 through 1969, Williams was a freelance journalist for "JET" magazine. His images have appeared in thousands of magazines, newspapers, historical publications, and motion picture productions. The museum design itself is part of the founders' DNA because; upon graduating from high school, Williams wanted to attend Clemson University to study architecture but denied because of his race. He then purchased a drafting board and through the years, designed three residences; including one featured in "EBONY", and the museum's design which has evolved into a living history facility. Hours: call ahead for hours. Contact: call 803-531-1662 or at (www.cecilwilliams.com).

Spartanburg

Throughout downtown Spartanburg, 3rd Thursday, from 5-8pm - "Spartanburg Art-Walk," a free self-guided tour through participating galleries across Spartanburg's Cultural District. Contact: visit (www.chapmancultural-center.org).

Throughout downtown Spartanburg's Cultural District, Ongoing - The Creative Crosswalk Project is a public art initiative in which local artists and designers design and paint a series of crosswalk murals, transforming the crosswalks into works of art, on Main Street in Spartanburg, SC. The downtown cultural district area is often bustling with events and pedestrians, and the pedestrians rely heavily on a multitude of crosswalks to safely traverse the downtown Spartanburg area. The problem is that crosswalks are incredibly easy to overlook, they are rarely visually appealing, and they can even be quite dangerous. In an effort to remedy these issues, Chapman Cultural Center, the City of Spartanburg, and the Spartanburg Area Chamber of Commerce came together to organize the Creative Crosswalk Project. Work by Logan Foster Artists Collective I Spartanburg, 578 West Main St., Spartanburg. Solomon Gallery, Through June 29 - "Interconnections," featuring paintings by Robert Poe. Poe says his paintings begin as doodles. "I look for the energy in my doodles as a composing force. What begins as a line, may become an edge, a color, a shape, or a space. The composition changes as the dynamics/energy of the marks change. It tells me whether it is too small, too big, too sweet or sour, too load or too quiet - interconnections." Gallery II, Through June 7 - "Colors: And Poems," featuring mixed media works by Pat Cato. Gallery III, Through June 1 - "Spring into Summer," featuring works by Patrick DeCrane and Gale Roberts. June 4 - 29 - "Daydreamin: Love Is Blue," showcases oils, acrylics works by Logan Foster. A reception will be held on June 20, till 8pm, as part of Spartanburg ArtWalk. Upstate artist Logan Foster, aka Divinity, welcomes those viewing her oil and acrylics works and poems into her daydreams to help them recapture feelings from childhood in her exhibition. "This exhibition in particular is a meditation on my daydreams," Foster explains. "The color blue is usually seen in my work. Blue, for me, represents the essence of love and pain, being met with both in my life. I use acrylic and oil paints to form Black/Indigenous beings so that we can be seen in our full glory. Ongoing - The Collective features a twenty thousand square foot facility offering affordable studio space, retail space, three galleries, a full ceramics studio, printery, and works by 50 local artists. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-4pm; with extended hours on the 3rd Thur. of each month until 9pm for Spartanburg's Art Walk. Contact: 864/804-6501 or at (artistscollectivespartanburg.org/).

Beer and wine are available for those 21+. Ongoing - Works by Carl Tait and Harold Krisel are on display. Tait was a successful painter, textile designer, and interior designer. His ties to the Spartanburg community originate from his longtime employment at Milliken and Company. Tait was born in Old Town, Maine in 1917 and graduated from the New Hampshire Institute of Arts and Science. In the late 1940s, he moved to New York City where he designed an exclusive line of ladies' handkerchiefs for the department store B. Altman, now considered vintage, collectible items. He also became associated with the American Artist Group designing Christmas cards, an occupation which he kept up throughout the majority of his artistic career. Krisel was a distinguished artist, architect, and teacher as well as a loving father and husband. Though Krisel may not be a household name among Spartanburg residents, he has made a significant artistic contribution to the Spartanburg community. Born in Brooklyn, NY in 1920, Krisel's interest in art and design started at a young age. He attended the American Artist School in New York city as a teenager where he met renowned modern artists, including Piet Mondrian, who greatly influenced his abstract style. After studying architecture at the New Bauhaus in Chicago from 1946-1949, he received his graduate degree from Illinois Institute of Technology in 1952. The following year, he began working for architectural firm Skidmore, Owings and Merrill when Roger Milliken hired them to design Milliken's new research facility in Spartanburg. Upon realizing Krisel was also a sculptor, Milliken hired him to design the spray fountain outside of the facility which functions as a recycler of air conditioning water. He then went on to design the Trident Fountain located outside of the Papadopoulos building on Wofford College's campus. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 10am-7pm & Sat. 9am-3pm. College's Professional Crafts Program". This new generation of craft is led by instructors Amy Putansu in fiber, Brian Ward in wood, Emily Reason in clay, and Angela Ubahsh in metals & jewelry. This show continues the historical relationship between the Southern Highland Craft Guild and Haywood, an educational center of the Guild. Students of the Haywood program come from all over, with or without prior experience of craft, and sometimes pursuing it as a second or third career. The course of study is challenging, combining craft concentrations with supplemental classes in design, drawing, craft history, business, marketing and photography. Permanent Collection Gallery, Ongoing - "Craft Traditions: The Southern Highland Craft Guild Collection". The Guild's Permanent Collection is comprised of approximately 2400 craft objects and dates from the late 19th century to present. Beginning with a donation from Frances Goodrich in 1931, the Permanent Collection serves the Guild's mission of craft conservation and education. This new installation will feature over 200 works that highlight our holdings in traditional art: wood-carving, pottery, dolls, basketry, weavings and furniture. The subject of this ongoing exhibition is craft history – that of the Southern Highland Craft Guild and the Studio Craft Movement. Wells Fargo of Asheville has donated Hardy Davidson's Carvings to the SHCG's Permanent Collection. Hailing from Swannanoa, NC, woodcarver Hardy Davidson became a Guild Member in 1944 and was awarded Life membership in 1973. Hours: daily from 9am-6pm. Contact: call 828/298-7928 or at (www.southernhighlandguild.org).

Blowing Rock

Maud Gatewood, "Untitled (Molly Skating)", c. 1982, acrylic on canvas. Collection of Lee Fazzi & Christine Burns-Fazzi

Blowing Rock Art and History Museum, corner of Chestnut and Main streets, downtown Blowing Rock. Fort Gallery, Through June 2 - "Pulp & Bind: Paper & Book in Southern Appalachia". The exhibition brings together 18 artists working across Southern Appalachia who are deeply engaged with the mediums of paper and book as forms and concepts. The exhibition is the culmination of a series of survey-oriented group exhibitions undertaken by BRAHM to map the state of Craft across the region through a lens of artists working with an acute focus on craft-associated mediums. Canon Gallery, Through June 30 - "Highlights: Selections from BRAHM's Permanent Collection". BRAHM stewards a growing Permanent Collection of over 800 objects. Museums build collections for a variety of reasons preserving artworks and other objects of historical importance for future generations; cataloging, documenting, and researching said objects; and displaying and interpreting the collection for the public through exhibitions, publications, and other educational programs. Schaefer Gallery, Through Apr. 20, 2024 - "Crafted Modern: The Collection of Rob Williams. Schaefer Gallery, Through Nov. 2 - "Two Headed Diver: Lynne Hobaica & Rickie Barnett". This is an exhibition in three entangled parts, featuring the individual yet mutually-informed studio practices of Lynne Hobaica, Rickie Barnett, and their collaborative work under the moniker "Two Headed Diver." Their characters—often simultaneously fantastic and mundane—are produced through a heady concoction of personal myth-making, morality tale, and a distinct sense of New World wonder. Both artists' work is driven by narrative, though their singular approaches to storytelling are often pleasantly obscured by layered surface treatments and enigmatic symbology. Hobaica's work utilizes recurring patterns and decorative elements to elevate seemingly humble or alien subjects—chihuahuas and antlered beasts seen here, for example. While gauzy glazes and sheer fabrics shroud her characters in a fog that reinforces an almost mythological interpretation of them. Working in both ceramic and textile, Hobaica's compositions prioritize the inexplicability of the human experience. Fort, Atwell, & Rankin East Galleries, June 28 - Jan. 5, 2025 - "The Hard Edge & The Soft Line: A Retrospective of Maud Gatewood". Maud Gatewood (1934–2004) is an exceptional figure in the art history of North Carolina and the American Southeast. A painter of exacting technique with a keen eye for composition and cultural commentary, her pictures capture the Carolinas (and the expanding world beyond) across much of the 20th Century. A native of Yanceyville in Caswell County, NC, Gatewood's paintings reveal rural landscapes and their denizens in the midst of transformation while also cleverly framing the experience of modern life with aerobic wit and a surprising wealth of empathy. "The Hard Edge & The Soft Line: A Retrospective of Maud Gatewood" is a major undertaking by BRAHM. This retrospective project provides a comprehensive narrative of Gatewood's career, considering the evolution of her oeuvre and her significant contributions, as an artist and an educator, to the field of contemporary representational painting in North Carolina and the region. A recuperative exercise, the exhibition and its accompanying scholarship will feature a broad range of her works, including paintings, works on paper, and archival material, excavating Gatewood's rigorous technical experimentation, coded but no less rich explorations of gender and sexuality, and reverence for depicting the built and natural landscapes of her native state and elsewhere. Ongoing - the BRAHM will host exhibits, educational programs and classes that promote the visual arts, history and heritage of the mountains of western North Carolina. Admission: Yes. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-5pm & Sun., noon-4pm. Contact: 828/295-9099 or at (www.blowingrockmuseum.org).

Southern Highland Craft Guild at Moses Cone Manor, Milepost 294, Blue Ridge Parkway, Blowing Rock. Ongoing - Featuring the work of members of the Southern Highland Craft Guild members in various media. Corinne Jones, "Allegory of the Unnamed Cave", 2020

Turchin Center for the Visual Arts, Appalachian State University, 423 West King Street, Boone. Community Galleries, Through June 8 - "The Anti-Uranium Mapping Project: Shayla Blatchford". The project is an interactive audio/visual storytelling exhibition and website designed to create an efficient way to educate audiences about the environmental issues of uranium mining on the Navajo Nation and surrounding lands. The various components of the project provide an immersive multimodal learning experience. This project serves as both historical documentation of the uranium mining era as well as a platform for storytelling and community building. Gallery A and Pettit/Peiser Gallery, Through Nov. 2 - "2024 Art Department Faculty Biennial". The exhibition showcases the work of Appalachian State University's talented multidisciplinary faculty, including Jessica Greenfield, Jody Servon, Daniel Rich, Erica Ethridge, and Greg Banks, working across art and design. Providing direct engagement with current creative and scholarly research, the exhibition initiates critical dialogue about the nature of contemporary art. This non-juried exhibition offers student interaction with familiar faculty while also providing other faculty and staff at Appalachian State University and the extended Boone community a chance to engage with the creative ideas and art practices being explored and taught within the university. The Department of Art at App State offers courses in art and visual culture, art history, art management, art education, graphic communications, graphic design, fine and commercial photography and studio art which includes ceramics, fibers, metalsmithing and jewelry design, painting and drawing, print-making, and sculpture as well as special topics in non-media specific areas. Mayer Gallery, June 7 - Nov. 2 - "Flowstones: Corinne Jones". A flowstone is created by mineral deposits laid down by water, slowly, quietly, in one place, over time. Flowstone grows approximately one inch every one hundred years. In one hundred years, how many societal changes have occurred in one place? Flowstones is a site-specific installation consisting of sound, sandbags, paintings, window works, and a text piece. The exhibition is the debut of a new body of paintings which share the title "Flowstones". Each painting is made of modular shapes that make up figurative units of measure. They are fragments of a larger puzzle. The surfaces are thickly layered and clouded by an ambiguous haze. Two window works "Double Trap" and "Single Use II" mirror each other and parallel the modular units in the paintings. The interlocking shapes form large mazes made of window film. The transparent material suggests that we look through the maze motifs and find alternate ways to solve problems. Hours: Mon.-Thur., 10am-6pm; Fri., noon-8pm; & Sat., 10am-6pm. Contact: 828/262-3017 or at (www.turchincenter.org).

ALTERNATE ART SPACES - Boone Throughout Appalachian State University campus, Boone, Through May 14, 2025 - "38th Rosen Sculpture Competition and Exhibition". This is a national juried competition presented annually by An Appalachian Summer Festival and the Turchin Center for the Visual Arts. Since its establishment by Martin and Doris Rosen in 1987, the Rosen Competition continues a tradition of showcasing contemporary American sculpture in outdoor settings across the beautiful campus of Appalachian State University. The competition, in its 38th year, has become firmly established as a cultural treasure and a significant point of pride for Appalachian State University and our entire region. The competition has garnered national praise for the free access to the "best of the best" in contemporary sculpture it offers for countless residents and visitors across North Carolina and beyond. The Rosen Family proudly continues the legacy of Martin and Doris by generously supporting this important program dedicated to sharing the power and joy of public art, creating a fascinating glimpse into the world of contemporary sculpture, and building new audiences for the visual arts. This program is made possible by the generous support of the Martin & Doris Rosen Giving Fund/Debbie Rosen Davidson and David Rosen and the Charles & Nancy Rosenblatt Foundation. Hours: daylight hours. Contact: For more information, please visit (tcva.org). Free guided tours for classes and groups are available upon request. Bond Park Community Center, 150 Metro Park Drive, Cary. Through July 14 - "Vicki Rees: Waltz of the Flowers". A reception will be held on June 28, from 6-8pm. Vicki Reese specializes in contemporary realism executed in color oils. She draws inspiration from an appreciation of the beauty found in the everyday and in the intricacies of nature. During quarantine, she began a series of flowers in close up portrait. Dramatic lighting and unusual angles, and the feeling that reflections and light against dark convey, all infuse her oil paintings. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 9am-10pm and Sat., 9am-6pm. Contact: 919/462-3970 or at (www.townofcary.org).

Cary Arts Center, 101 Dry Avenue, Cary. Cary Arts Center Gallery, Through July 14 - "Laurie Hoien: Our Storied Journey". This exhibit of oil paintings, combines elements of still life and allegory, challenging viewers with questions about social and environmental issues facing America. Visual allegories are puzzles to be solved. They depend on both insight and suggestion. The traditions of still life offer us quiet ways to pause—to peer into a setting of familiar objects that reflect our own experience. The elements of allegory ask us to consider our experience in the context of the social commentary that animates the objects. Are the birds or animals in the paintings disconcertingly oblivious to us, or do they turn and invite us in, asking us to play a role? Some art challenges the viewer to figure out what they're looking at. Laurie's art asks you to figure out not what it is, but what it means. Hours: Mon.-Thur., 9am-10pm & Fri.-Sat., 9am-11pm. Contact: 919/469-4069 or at (www.townofcary.org).

Cary Gallery of Artists, 200 S Academy St. Ste 120, Ashworth Square, Cary. Ongoing - The gallery offers high quality art in a variety of styles. Paintings, pencil and colored pencil artwork varies from traditional still lifes and landscapes to abstracts. Portraits of people or animals are available. Photographic work captures magnificent landscapes, small moments in life, portraits, and far away places. The pottery and clay art includes edgy handbuilt pieces, thought-provoking sculpted masks, and decorative and functional pottery that captures images of nature. Our jewelry artists provide a wide range of hand-crafted necklaces, earrings, bracelets and other ornaments from metals, stones, beads and fused glass. Our glass artist creates stained glass hangings, custom stained glass windows and fused glass art. You can also find unusual hand-made books and hand-painted porcelain both antique and new. Hours: Wed.&Thur., 11am-3pm and Fri.&Sat., 11am-5:30pm. Contact: 919/462-2035 or at (www.carygalleryofartists.org).

Herbert Young Community Center, 101 Wilkinson Avenue, Cary. Through July 21 - "Lyudmila Tomova Clark". Movement and mood are at the core of Lyudmila's artistic style. She merges both abstract and traditional painting in a loose painterly way to create energetic and impactful artwork. Her themes mainly involve figures and portraits of people captured in their private moments of contemplation, everyday scenes, playing music or dancing. Her painting philosophy is to interpret reality and not copy it. She paints quickly with large gestural strokes free of preconceived logical steps, infusing passion and excitement. A fleeting moment is captured and transformed by means of rules and omissions, acceptance and refusal, luring the viewer round and round in circles. The brush strokes are moving, pushing, emerging and overwhelming, but never still and quiet. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 9am-10pm; and Sat., 9am-6pm. Contact: 919/4604965 or (www.townofcary.org).

Page-Walker Arts & History Center, 119 Ambassador Loop, Cary. Through June 30 - "Colored Pencil Society". Members of the Colored Pencil Society District Chapter 114 Raleigh Durham based in Cary showcase their talents that display what can be achieved through creative explorations using the media of colored pencil. Through June 30 - "Janet Place". Janet Place presents vibrant glass pieces, both functional and artistic, that are designed and formed in a kiln. Her creations feature dichroic glass accents. Hours: Mon.-Thur., 10am-9:30pm; Fri., 10am-5pm; & Sat., 10am-1pm. (It is strongly advised that you call ahead about hours this space will be open.) Contact: 919/460-4963.

Town Hall Gallery, City of Cary Town Hall, 316 North Academy Street, Cary. Through June 21 - "Val Taylor". Arts and crafts have always been an important part of Taylor's life. As a small child she would enjoy coloring and drawing. She has experimented with most artistic mediums over the years and enjoyed each for their unique qualities. It was after moving to North Carolina in October 2019, and during COVID quarantine, that she was finally able to pursue art seriously. It was during this time that she taught herself watercolors. In Spring 2021 she discovered the true versatility of colored pencils and have not looked back. It has become her passion. June 26 - Sept. 20 - "Watercolor Society of NC: Permanent Collection". The WSNC began acquiring paintings in 2009 as a way to preserve outstanding examples of watercolor art by WSNC members. The collection represents a variety of approaches, styles and subjects. Each year at the "Annual Juried Exhibition" one painting is purchased to add to the collection. This years purchase brings the collection to 16 paintings which can be seen on our website. In 2019 we began exhibiting the collection to promote WSNC and as educational outreach. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 8am-5pm. Contact: 919/469-4061.

Ackland Art Museum, UNC - Chapel Hill, Columbia & Franklin Streets, Chapel Hill. Through July 21 - "Pantheress," by Georgie Nakima. "Pantheress" is a site-specific installation by Charlotte, NC-based artist Georgie Nakima. Her vibrant and multi-layered painting highlights the complexities of the Black American experience and the indomitable resilience of the Diaspora. Featuring spray paint on cut wood with custom-printed wallpaper, the central focus of this work challenges the conventions of classical portraiture by leaning into the world of the abstract motifs and visual aphorisms that surround her subject. The title of the piece, Pantheress, is a tribute to the instrumental work of the women of the Black Panther movement. The work, featuring timeless geometric and natural forms, can be seen as both a product of this past and a harbinger for a hopeful future. Permanent Collection Galleries, Through Dec. 31, 2025 - At any one time, there are about 250 works of art from the Ackland's distinguished permanent collection on view. The displays cover many eras and cultures, including most of the Museum's collection areas: the Ancient Mediterranean, Africa, Asia, the Americas, and Europe. Occasional galleries present small selections of prints, drawings, photographs, and other light-sensitive works. You can search our online collection database and filter by works on view. Try saving your own collection of objects using the new "favorites" function! Museum Store Gallery (Franklin and Columbia Street), Store hours: Mon.-Sat., 10am-5:30pm & Sun., noon-5pm. Museum Hours: Wed.-Sat., 1-5pm. Contact: 919/966-5736 or at (www.ackland.org).

Bill and Patty Gorelick Gallery, at Central Piedmont Community College's Cato Campus, Cato III, 8120 Grier Road, Charlotte. Through July 26 - "Fragments," featuring works by Tina Alberni. Alberni divides this series of work from impact of climate change and the harm created by aspects of technological development and progress. With a deep belief that all living things possess and intrinsic value and not simply human beings, Alberni challenges the viewer to consider topics such as how natural disasters, war and social disparity contribute to the endangerment and physical displacement of all living things. Alberni uses her new exhibition "Fragments" to illustrate the narrative of fragmented lives and irreversible damage both visually and physically. In contrast to the hopeless narrative of destruction, Alberni seeks to use her artwork to create a positive, hopeful spirit for the future. Alberni assembles objects and layers in her work in a brightly colored, harmonious fashion, which invites the viewer in for a deeper contemplation of each composition. Alberni's work will be on display at Central Piedmont for 2024 and will be part of the Gorelick Gallery's traveling artwork series. Hours: open while campus is open, but reservations help us alert our security team to visitors, provide directions to the galleries, and COVID-19 security protocol instructions to the visitors. Contact: 704/330-6869 or e-mail to (foundation@cpcc.edu) to schedule an appointment. For directions to Central Piedmont's campuses, visit (cpcc.edu/locations).

Work by Marge Loudon Moody

Bill and Patty Gorelick Gallery, at Central Piedmont Community College's Central Campus, North Classroom, 1320 Sam Byburn Walk, Charlotte. Through July 26 - "Intangible Words," featuring works by Marge Loudon Moody. Moody is a Professor Emerita of Winthrop University in Rock Hill, SC where she taught for over 30 years. Widely exhibited both nationally and internationally Moody's work exists in private and public collections worldwide. "Intangible Words" broadly investigates environments inspired by Moody's travels and imaginations. Through the use of bright colors, abstract forms and continuous reworking of the composition, Moody creates the "essential" feeling of certain environments. Non-representational imagery utilizes the "essential" nature in order to illuminate the unseen or intangible spirit of the subject. "Subject matter may serve as metaphor for intangible ideas. The work examines boundaries, addresses the fragility of existence, of presence, of absence, and of memory," says Moody. Moody will also serve as this year's Juror for Central Piedmont's "2024 Annual Juried Student Art Show". Hours: open while campus is open, but reservations help us alert our security team to visitors, provide directions to the galleries, and COVID-19 security protocol instructions to the visitors. Contact: 704/330-6869 or e-mail to (foundation@cpcc.edu) to schedule an appointment. For directions to Central Piedmont's campuses, visit (cpcc.edu/locations).

Bill and Patty Gorelick Gallery, at Central Piedmont Community College's Harper Campus, Harper IV, 315 W. Hebron St., Charlotte. Through Dec. 31 - "A Journey Through Life," featuring works by Jodi Lynn McNeely. This series has been several years in the making. As you inspect each piece of work, look for the "path." It represents our journey. We all are on our own journey, have our own story. As I talk to folks about their stories, I'm amazed at how similar our experiences can be. Our life events, whether the same or different can cultivate preparedness in each of us in much the same way. Note that each individual person carved into my works of art is either touching the path or connected to someone who is. If they are extremely close, they share a hand or foot. Staying connected to someone is critical in this thing called life. As I travel through life, I am constantly reminded at how important being connected is. This is especially relevant during the rough times. Establishing strong relationships for me has been an essential part of my journey. I often carve the likeness of folks I know or have met on my journey into my work. Do you see yourself? I am constantly reminded of how important the people around me are. My life has been full of heart break, pure joy and everything in between. Sound familiar? I am determined to learn from the heart break, remember the pure joy and live everything in between to the fullest. Hours: open while campus is open, but reservations help us alert our security team to visitors, provide directions to the galleries, and COVID-19 security protocol instructions to the visitors. Contact: 704/330-6869 or e-mail to (foundation@cpcc.edu) to schedule an appointment. For directions to Central Piedmont's campuses, visit (cpcc.edu/locations).

Bill and Patty Gorelick Gallery, at Central Piedmont Community College's Harris Campus, Harris II, 3210 CPCC Harris Campus Drive, Charlotte. Through Dec. 31 - "A Celebration of Art," featuring works by: Mario Loprete, Sheridan Hathaway and Andres Palacios. The Bill and Patty Gorelick Galleries will open a new exhibition at Harris Conference Center featuring the best of the College's permanent art collection alongside featured artists Mario Loprete, Sheridan Hathaway and Andres Palacios. Works from the College's collection exhibit a variety of works from former Central Piedmont students with a special highlight on Loprete, a mixed media artist, and ceramic artists Hathaway and Palacios. "A Celebration of Art" is certain to deliver a diverse selection of 2D and 3D artwork for the 2024 year. Hours: open while campus is open, but reservations help us alert our security team to visitors, provide directions to the galleries, and COVID-19 security protocol instructions to the visitors. Contact: 704/330-6869 or e-mail to (foundation@cpcc.edu) to schedule an appointment. For directions to Central Piedmont's campuses, visit (cpcc.edu/locations).

Bill and Patty Gorelick Gallery, at Central Piedmont Community College's Levine Campus, Levine II, 2800 Campus Ridge Road, Matthews. Through July 26 - "Archival Photos Reimagined," featuring works by Central Piedmont Students and Staff. In a joint effort between the Central Piedmont Archives and Art Galleries, students and staff came together to recreate photographs from the Central Piedmont Archives. Using the photographs as inspiration, each participant artistically reimagined a selected photograph using any media of their choice. The Gorelick Galleries will exhibit this collection of works on Cato, Levine and Central Campuses as part of a traveling exhibition series. With an emphasis on College history and student engagement the exhibition celebrates the some of the best moments in the College's history and in turn shines the spotlight back on students. Hours: open while campus is open, but reservations help us alert our security team to visitors, provide directions to the galleries, and COVID-19 security protocol instructions to the visitors. Contact: 704/330-6869 or e-mail to (foundation@cpcc.edu) to schedule an appointment. For directions to Central Piedmont's campuses, visit (cpcc.edu/locations).

Harvey B. Gantt Center for African-American Arts & Culture, Levine Center for the Arts, 551 S. Tryon St., Charlotte. Extended through Aug. 25 - "A Superlative Palette: Contemporary Black Women Artists". Curated by Dexter Wimberly, "A Superlative Palette" brings together the work of twelve generation-defining, contemporary Black women artists from around the world. In the realm of contemporary art, the contributions of Black women artists have been transformative, challenging traditional narratives, and enriching the cultural landscape. Their powerful and thought-provoking work has not only redefined artistic expression, but has also played a significant role in advocating for social justice, equality, and empowerment. Black women artists have historically faced marginalization and underrepresentation within the art world. Despite these obstacles, they have persevered and crafted an artistry that encompasses a diverse range of themes, mediums, and styles. Artists in the exhibition include, Nina Chanel Abney, ruby onyinyechi amanze, Lauren Halsey, Rachel Jones, Toyin Ojih Odutola, Jennifer Packer, Calida Rawles, Deborah Roberts, Tschabalala Self, Amy Sherard, Mickalene Thomas, and Lynette Yiadom-Boakye. Through July 21 - "Christopher Myers: Please Trouble Carry Me," will be on view and features the immersive and ethereal works from interdisciplinary artist Christopher Myers. Through Sept. 22 - "Qualeasha Wood: code_anima," curated by Leandra-Juliet Kelley. The exhibition explores identity, physical and digital boundaries, and the process of individuation through analysis of complex and socially accepted paradoxes. Defined as "an individual's true inner self," anima serves as a leitmotif in Wood's introspective work, which examines the archetypes found within physical and digital societies. As the artist states, "This body of work draws inspiration from the concept of deus ex machina - a narrative device that introduces an unexpected, external force to resolve a complex situation. This device allows us to highlight the paradoxical position of Black women in society - cast simultaneously as both saviors and scapegoats within a white supremacist framework." Ongoing - Featuring selections from the John & Vivian Hewitt Collection of African-American Art, one of the nation's most important and comprehensive collections of African-American art. Hours: Thur. - Sat., noon-6pm & Sun., noon-6pm. Contact: 704/547-3700 or at (www.ganttcenter.org).

Latin American Contemporary Art Projects (LaCa), 1429 Bryant Street, in the heart of the revitalized FreeMoreWest neighborhood, Charlotte. Ongoing - LaCa Projects is a platform dedicated to the presentation, development, and promotion of Latin American art and culture within the United States. The gallery encourages cross-cultural dialogue by representing a small group of influential and thought-provoking contemporary, emerging and mid-career artists, as well as exhibiting a broader range of work by established and Master Latin American artists. The gallery, which has expertise in a number of different art media with a significant focus on paintings, will also be part of a larger planned expansion that includes open artist studios and a dining concept. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 1-5pm or by appt. Contact: Neely Verano at (neely@lacaprojects.com) or call 704/609-8487.

Levine Museum of the New South, 401 South Tryon Street, (former Wells Fargo Museum) Charlotte. Ongoing - "Charlotte: Moving Forward, Looking Back". To move forward and make the city a better place for everyone, we must look back and learn from choices made in the past. The exhibit tells the story of Charlotte from Native and early European settlement to today. The exhibition combines stories of people, places, and events in a foundational narrative of Charlotte history that answers thought-provoking questions about how we got here and where we are headed. Experience Charlotte stories through objects from the Levine Museum's collections, interactive media displays, and art by local creatives. Ongoing - Building a stronger, more equitable community by connecting people to Charlotte and to each other through history, culture, and celebration. Admission: Free. Hours: Tue.-Fri., 11am-5pm; Wed. till 9pm; Sat., 10am-5pm; & Sun., noon-5pm. Contact: 704/333-1887 or at (museumofthenewsouth.org).

Mint Hill Arts Gallery, 11205 Lawyers Road, Ste. A, Mint Hill. Ongoing - We are more than just a gallery; we are a vibrant hub of creativity, passionately committed to fostering a thriving arts community. Our gallery's mission is deeply rooted in our connection to the local community. From the moment you step through our doors, you'll be enveloped by the warmth and artistic spirit that defines our town. As artists ourselves, we understand the importance of cultivating an environment that nurtures and celebrates creativity in all its forms. Hours: Wed.-Sat., noon-3pm. Mint Museum Randolph, 2730 Randolph Road, Charlotte. Delhom Gallery, Through Aug. 11 - "The Delhom Service League: 50 Golden Years". The Delhom Service League (DSL) provided a half-century of generous support and impactful initiatives to The Mint Museum, helping to fund the acquisition of more than 200 works of art in the Mint's collection. The Delhom Service League: 50 Golden Years celebrates the Delhom Service League's enthusiastic support for the Mint by proudly displaying significant works funded or gifted by the affiliate group, plus selected publications, photographs and other memorabilia. In 2022, the Delhom Service League made the difficult decision to dissolve as a Mint affiliate. The league nevertheless remains an indelible part of the Mint's history, and its many contributions rightly deserve the museum's never-ending recognition and gratitude. In 1965, The Mint Museum purchased the exceptional collection of British, European, and Asian ceramics from Chicago collector M. Mellanay Delhom. Two years later, once the museum finished building a new wing that included a large gallery to display her holdings, Miss Delhom - as she preferred to be called - began offering weekly classes, open to the public, to discuss the works on view. Ongoing - "The Cole Family: A Dynasty of North Carolina Potters". From crocks, jars, and jugs to pitchers, candleholders, and vases, "turning pots" is one of the oldest and richest craft traditions in North Carolina. For more than 200 years, members of the Cole family have been potting in central North Carolina - Randolph, Moore, Lee, and Montgomery counties. Six generations of Coles, and no fewer than 18 individuals, are represented in The Mint Museum's permanent collection. More than 60 highlights of their wares are included in the installation "The Cole Family: A Dynasty of North Carolina Potters". One reason for its long-term success is that making pottery has so often been a family tradition in the state. Fathers taught the art of forming, glazing, and firing clay objects to their sons, and in later generations also to daughters, who in turn taught their children, and so on through the decades. These family dynasties not only helped to keep the potting craft alive, but ensured continuity in techniques and craftsmanship, as well as introduced artistic innovations in succeeding generations. "The Cole Family: A Dynasty of North Carolina Potters" presents a visual history of "turned pots" and the family that helped turn North Carolina into one of America's centers for handmade, traditional pottery. Bridges and Levine Galleries, Ongoing - "Contemporary British Studio Ceramics: The Grainer Collection". Focused on the collection of Diane and Marc Grainer, this installation is a survey of contemporary British studio ceramics. Comprising functional and sculptural objects made between the 1980s and today, the show features work by artists either born or residing in Great Britain, including established "contemporary classics" like Gordon Baldwin and Rupert Spira, and cutting-edge ceramicists such as Julian Stair and Kate Malone. Several recently-gifted works from the Grainers are included. Alexander, Spangler, and Harris Galleries, Ongoing - "Portals to the Past: British Ceramics 1675 - 1825". The Mint Museum's collection of eighteenth-century British pottery and porcelain is widely respected for its scope and quality. The collection numbers over 2,000 objects and includes important examples of both salt-glazed and dry-bodied stoneware from Staffordshire; tin-glazed earthenware from Bristol, Liverpool, and London; and cream-colored earthenware from Derbyshire, Staffordshire, and Yorkshire. Notable eighteenth-century porcelain factories represented include Chelsea, Bow, and Vauxhall in London, Longton Hall in Staffordshire, Worcester, Bristol, and others. Individual works in the collection are exceptional because of their rarity, craftsmanship, provenance, or as representative examples of particular types or methods of production or decoration. Ongoing - "American Glass". The nineteenth and early twentieth centuries represented a time of extraordinary growth for the American glass industry. Such companies as Boston & Sandwich Glass Company in Sandwich, MA; Steuben Glass Works in Corning, NY; and Libbey Glass Company in Toledo, OH, began operation and soon developed notable reputations for producing fashionable wares that were coveted by many middle- and upper-class consumers. "American Glass" showcases objects by these and other American glass companies, illustrating the variety of forms and styles that prevailed during this period. Glass-manufacturing techniques will be another focus of the exhibition, with representative examples of pressed, cut, blown, and molded glass. Nearly all of the works on view are from The Mint Museum's permanent collection of glass, which is second in size only to the ceramics collection in the museum's Decorative Arts holdings. Ongoing - "Arts of Africa". The African continent is remarkable in its geographic, social, political, and cultural diversity. This impressive diversity is reflected in the visual arts through a variety of media and forms including ceramics, masks, textiles, sculptures, prestige staffs, and shrines. With exceptional loans from private collectors and The Mint Museum's own collection of African Art, the museum is pleased to announce the expansion of its presentation of Arts of Africa, thereby providing visitors a more in-depth, meaningful, and exciting overview of African art. Heritage Gallery, Ongoing - Feature works of art, archival documents, and photographs documenting the growth and evolution of the museum, from its beginnings as the original branch of the US Mint to its founding as an art museum to the present and beyond. Ongoing - "Art for the Millions: WPA Prints" and "Carolina Clay," featuring a display of colorful wares made between 1920 and 1950 as potters from NC adapted their works to a market economy. "Art of the United States," featuring contemporary works from the Mint's permanent collection, including works by Romare Bearden, Maud Gatewood, John Biggers, Judy Logan, Tarlton Blackwell, Radcliffe Bailey, Kajo Griffin, and others. "Art in the Americas," featuring paintings, precious metalwork, sculpture, furniture and decorative arts from the 17th through the 19th centuries illustrate the unique culture that emerged from the Spanish colonization of the Americas. Crosland Gallery - Featuring a presentation of portraits with many fascinating images presented. Rankin Gallery - Featuring a presentation of the Romare Bearden Collection, including two "new" Bearden. Admission: Yes. Hours: Wed., 11am-9pm (free admission 5-9pm); Thur.-Sat., 11am-6pm; & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 704/337-2000 or at (www.mintmuseum.org).

Work by Fred Smith - Mint Museum Uptown day to day existence through the act of making drawings, paintings, and sculptural objects. Their work is developed with a sense of subversive irony, exploring societal norms and situations that seem off or odd. By bending physicality and destabilizing reality, Fred Smith's uncanny creations prompt us to ask complex questions about our surroundings and our imagination. The artist has a similar mission in mind while creating the work, stating that he's "simply asking questions that I don't know how to ask with words." Molding form and spaces into open-ended queries, Smith delivers us to a site where "the world is a stage." Craft + Design Galleries, Ongoing - "Craft in the Laboratory: The Science of Making Things" is the first installation in the Southeast to explore how craft artists and designers use science and math concepts when creating works of art. Presented by Müller Corporation, Craft in the Laboratory also celebrates a reinstallation of the Mint's Craft + Design Galleries—the first since 2010. Co-curated by the Mint's Senior Curator of Craft, Design, and Fashion Annie Carlan and Assistant Curator for Craft, Design, and Fashion Rebecca Elliot, "Craft in the Laboratory" includes 100 works from the Mint's collection that are made from precious metals, wood, steel, polymers, and even agricultural waste, that emphasize the preciseness of science used to craft works of art. Made by nationally and internationally renowned artists, the objects are organized by material and subject throughout the galleries. Now - The Mint Museum's new four-story installation "Foragers" offers a transcendent experience while celebrating the tradition of women as makers and providers. Unlike anything ever seen at The Mint Museum before, Brooklyn-based artist Summer Wheat's "Foragers" is a monumental piece of public work of art spanning 96 windows, four stories, and 3,720 square feet at Mint Museum Uptown's Robert Haywood Morrison Atrium. The myriad of vibrant panels that give the illusion of stained glass and celebrates the tradition of women as makers and providers. "Foragers" is part of a larger exhibition "In Vivid Color," which brings together four innovative contemporary artists—Wheat, Gisela Colon, Spencer Finch, and Jennifer Steinkamp—who create works celebrating the power of color and its ability to permeate the space around us. Their work is juxtaposed with a selection of paintings and works on paper, drawn primarily from The Mint Museum's permanent collection, which showcase artists' more traditional exploration of color. Ongoing - The Mint Museum Uptown houses the world renowned collections of the Mint Museum of Craft + Design, as well as the American Art and Contemporary Art collections and selected works from the European Art collection. The building also includes a café, a Family Gallery, painting and ceramics studios, classrooms, a 240-seat auditorium, a Special Events Pavilion with outdoor terrace, and an expanded Museum Shop specializing in crafts of the Carolinas. Admission: Yes. Hours: Wed., 11am-9pm (free admission 5-9pm); Thur.-Sat., 11am-6pm; & Sun., 1-5pm. Now Fri. till 9pm. Contact: 704/337-2000 or at (www.mintmuseum.org).

Pauline Dove Art Gallery, Central Piedmont Community College, located inside the college's new Parr Center, Charlotte. Through Aug. 9 - "Forever Transient," featuring works by Andrew Leventis, Kenny Nguyen, Colby Caldwell, Brent Dedas, James Henkel, Susan Jedrzewski, Deb Koo and Jennifer Minnis. "Forever Transient" visually investigates the meaning behind transience, impermanence, continuous change and the desire to preserve and prolong the temporary moment. Inspired by Dutch still life paintings and vanitas, each artist exemplifies a different creative approach and skill set to artistically render the fragility of time. Time does not sand still. It marches forward and looks back retrospectively at the past. Therefore, the experience of time is never linear, but cyclical. "Forever Transient" exhibits works by 8 nationally and internationally acclaimed artists. Through varying processes, each artist composes their work to include vibrant references, and in some cases direct interactions, with nature and humanity. Hours: Mon.-Thur., 10am-4pm or by appt. Contact: Follow us on Instagram and Facebook at Central Piedmont Arts or call Amelia Zytka, Senior Art Gallery Coordinator at 704/330-6847 or visit (<http://blogs.cpcc.edu/cpcartgalleries/>).

View of the exhibit, "A Legacy of Elegance"

Projective Eye Gallery, UNC-Charlotte Center City Building, 320 E. 9th Street, Uptown Charlotte. Through July 16 - "A Legacy of Elegance". A reception will be held on Apr. 4, from 6-8pm. The exhibition places twelve historical-ly-inspired costumes by fiber artist, Margarette Joyner, in conversation with archival portraiture from the 19th century, curated by Kimberly Annece Henderson. Drawing upon trends in formal attire spanning several centuries, Joyner merges traditional and contemporary African textiles with cowry shell embellishments; thus, reimagining high-society garments iconography of cultural significance across many African-descended populations. The interwoven narrative of fashioned textiles and early-format photography pays homage to a rich legacy of self-expression through dress, connecting visual histories past and present. Hours: Mon.-Sun., 9am-9pm. Contact: Crista Cammaroto, Director of Galleries at 704/687-0833, 704/687-2397 or at (<https://coaa.unc.edu/>).

Work by Hung Liu. © Hung Liu Estate/ Artist Rights Society (ARS), New York.

The Nasher Museum of Art, Duke University Central Campus, 2001 Campus Drive, Durham. Through June 9 - "María Magdalena Campos-Pons: Behold". This is a monographic exhibition of a visionary voice in photography, immersive installation, painting and performance. Spanning nearly four decades of visually engaging artworks, the exhibition explores Campos-Pons's prescient and sensorial work—transporting viewers across geographies, mediums and spiritual practices. In her explorations of migration, diaspora and memory, Campos-Pons draws from her family story to examine the global histories of enslavement, indentured labor, motherhood and migration. The first multimedia survey of the artist's work since 2007, "Behold" highlights the artist's dedication to creating new modes of understanding, as well as her engagement with interconnected historical and present-day challenges. These themes are examined through Campos-Pons's performance-based practice and centering of Yoruba-derived Santería symbolism, as well as her work with communities in Boston, Cuba, Italy and Nashville (her current residence). Through July 7 - "Love & Anarchy". On the surface, love and anarchy may seem like unrelated or even conflicting notions. Love is synonymous with care, compassion, and affection, and anarchy is generally accepted as an absence of authority, a state of disorder, or an ungovernable condition. These concepts, more than tangentially related, are often intertwined and even sometimes mutually dependent. Indeed, moments of disarray and frustration are intrinsic to love, while love sometimes emerges out of disorder and chaos. Drawn from the Nasher Museum's extensive historical and contemporary collections, Love & Anarchy demonstrates some of the ways in which these two concepts have inspired artists, visually and conceptually, over millennia. Incubator Gallery, June 16 - "Hung Liu: Living Memory," a student co-curated exhibit. Chinese-born American artist Hung Liu (Born in Changchun, China, 1948 – 2021) portrayed individuals who risked being forgotten in death as in life. As a child, Liu lived under the regime of Mao Zedong, who led the Communist Party during the Cultural Revolution (1966 – 1976), a turbulent period of political and social upheaval in the People's Republic of China. It was during this time that Liu realized photography's significance when she witnessed her mother burn cherished family photographs, or otherwise risk persecution for being "bourgeois," or not working class. As an adult, Liu immigrated to the United States, where she focused on the photographs of the Chinese people who came before her. By manipulating and recontextualizing found images by dripping, splattering, and layering materials, Liu blurred the lines between representation and abstraction and probed photography's role in shaping collective memory. "Hung Liu: Living Memory" explores the artist's ability to bridge past and present by manipulating the threads of visual memory. Her sensitive portraits illuminate what it means to be Chinese, to be American, and to be a woman. These testimonials make visible the faces of the forgotten. Liu's portraits remind us that memory is not merely a repository of the past; it is a dynamic force that inflects the past, informs the present, and shapes our future, forging our sense of self while connecting us to the greater human consciousness. Trent A. Carmichael Academic Focus Gallery, Through June 16 - "pov: in my nasher teen era". The Nasher Museum presents pov: in my nasher teen era, an installation of photography and collage works chosen and contextualized by the Nasher Teen Council. The works of art, all from the Nasher Museum collection, explore race, economics, culture, gender, age, and more from their point of view. The selection of artworks is both personal and collaborative, as are the accompanying responses written for each chosen work. Together, the texts form an anthology of reflections on contemporary works from the Nasher Museum's collection. The responses to the works of art are directly correlated to the individual and collective experiences of the Nasher Teen Council in Durham, North Carolina. Their identities weave through each response, offering a tapestry of diverse stories to be uncovered. Through the exhibition, they explore their own positions as young creatives from diverse ethnic, racial, and gender backgrounds. The exhibition, pov: in my nasher teen era, amplifies their voices, but also leaves room for those of the artists and the visitors who interact with the exhibition. Ongoing - The Collection Galleries feature rotating installations of the Nasher Museum's extensive holdings of historical art. Eight galleries, as well as the entrance to Wilson Pavilion, are dedicated to the museum's strengths, which represent a brief history of human creativity from different times and parts of the world. Just beyond the entrance, visitors will find the Incubator, a flexible space for rotating student- and faculty-curated exhibitions. Visitors are invited to return again and again to The Collection Galleries, where Nasher curators continue to refresh the galleries with gems from the collection. The museum's contemporary collection is showcased through rotating exhibitions within a separate pavilion. Works from the contemporary collection create new conversations and connections among historical works in The Collection Galleries. A breakthrough work by New York artist Fred Wilson from 1990, Colonial Collection, anchors the Arts of Africa Gallery. A painting by Kehinde Wiley is on view in the European Art Gallery. Ongoing - Nasher Museum Café and Museum Shop. Admission: Yes, but free to Durham residents, courtesy of "The Herald-Sun" newspaper. Hours: Tue. - Sat., 10am-5pm; Thur. till 9pm; & Sun., noon-5pm. GreenHill, a space for NC art, 200 North Davie Street, Greensboro Cultural Center, Greensboro. Through June 29 - "LEAP: Artists Imagine Outer Space". This exhibition features over 20 exceptional artists who create projected light and sound installations, fashion design, animation and comics as well as photography, sculpture, and painting. The dream of connecting with celestial planes has sparked man's imagination since Stonehenge and Chichén Itzá were erected. Jules Verne's vision of space travel today is accessible (for a price) for individuals who travel to the edge of the Kármán line and beyond. Nineteenth century railroad tycoons have been replaced by 21st century rocket barons as galactic travel agents take reservations for space hotels and weddings. Contemporary anxieties over the state of Planet Earth fuel a desire to imagine escape and even migration to space. Over twenty artists will present life-size futuristic outposts, fictional personae, and narratives of time travel. Works ranging from new media environments and comics to painterly abstractions and fashion designs will investigate the place, both in popular culture and society, the idea of life in the ether occupies. Participating artists include: Arthur Brouthers, Michael Clapp, Ian Denis, Mark Dixon, Dan Hale, Alexander

Newman Hall, Liz Haywood, Marcus Kiser, Emilio Marz, Matt Myers, Michael Northuis, Bryant Portwood, Virginia Shepley, Sloane Siobhan, Tim Rickard, Quentin Talley, Robin Vuchnich, Jason Woodberry, Nathan Xiao and Christine Zuercher. Clapp, Dixon, Zuercher, and Vuchnich will be creating site-specific installations. Hours: Wed., noon-7pm; Tue., Thur. & Fri., noon-5pm; and Sat., 10am-5pm. Contact: 336/333-7460 or at (www.greenhillnc.org).

Greenville Museum of Art, 802 South Evans Street, Greenville. The Francis Speight and Sarah Blakeslee Gallery, Ongoing - Is dedicated to the work of these two artists. Speight was born in Bertie County, North Carolina, and moved back to Greenville to teach at East Carolina University after spending a majority of his career at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. Blakeslee was born in Illinois and met Speight at the Academy as a student. The couple lived outside of Philadelphia until moving to Greenville in 1961. The Kenneth Noland Gallery, Ongoing - Celebrates the art and legacy of Black Mountain College, an innovative liberal arts college that operated between 1933 and 1957. Kenneth Noland, born in Asheville in 1924, attended Black Mountain College on the G. I. Bill from 1946 to 1948. He studied under Josef Albers and Ilya Bolotowsky, who introduced him to the work of artists interested in geometry and color. The Rachel Maxwell Moore Art Foundation Gallery, Ongoing - Features rotating works purchased for the Museum by the foundation. Rachel Maxwell Moore was a leading civic figure and arts advocate in Greenville, and was central to the founding of the Museum's predecessor in 1939. She established the Rachel Maxwell Moore Art Foundation in 1963, and before she passed away in 1964, bequeathed funds to the foundation for the sole purpose of purchasing works of art for the Museum's permanent collection. Ongoing - GMAo has a strong collection of North Carolina pottery, and especially from Jugtown Pottery in Seagrave, North Carolina. Jugtown Pottery was opened by Jacques and Juliana Busbee in 1921. They were influential at Jugtown and elsewhere in Seagrave by introducing local North Carolina potters to international ceramic styles and glazes. Much of our pottery collection was given to the Museum by Mrs. Lindsay Savage in 1948 and Dr. James H. Stewart in the 1980s. Admission: Free. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10-4:30pm. Contact: 252/758-1946 or at (www.gmoa.org).

Work by William Merritt Chase, part of the Foundations Exhibition

Hickory Museum of Art, Arts and Science Center, 243 Third Avenue NE, Hickory. All Galleries, Through June 9 - "FOUNDATIONS: Building Our Collection (1944-2024). In anticipation of the Museum's upcoming 80th Anniversary on February 4, 2024, this permanent collection take-over of our galleries pays homage to our roots and celebrates where we are going. 80 years of collecting will be anchored by HMA's foundational artists – artists who helped make the museum a reality – Paul Austin Wayne Whitener, Wilford Seymour Conrow, and Frederick Ballard Williams. Through June 30 - "CURATING LIFE: Our Museum, Our Story – A Randy Bacon Exhibition". In honor of Hickory Museum of Art's 80th anniversary, the Museum is pleased to present its newest exhibition, "CURATING LIFE: Our Museum, Our Story – A Randy Bacon Exhibition" celebrates the impact art holds in everyday life. Art plays a role in all of our lives. This is captured in a special project by humanitarian and renowned photographer Randy Bacon. Members of our community were invited to spend time with Randy Bacon, reflecting on their personal journeys with art and with the Museum. The result is a breath-taking exhibition of still photography portraits, written narratives, and conversation films. The individual films with each participant were woven together into a feature-length film. Entire Third Floor, Ongoing - "Discover Folk Art: Unique Visions by Southern Contemporary Folk Artists". A unique experience for the whole family to investigate the Museum's extensive Southern Contemporary Folk Art Collection. The Exhibition Features: - Re-creations of Artists' Working Environments - Over 200 Folk Art Objects - Sounds & Smells - and More! Free Family Guides for the exhibition are available at the Museum's check-in desk in the first floor shop/HMA. Copies of the children's book, "Discover Folk Art: An Adventure with Artie at the Hickory Museum of Art", are also available in the store for $9.95. In the book, Artie (HMA's art-loving mascot) takes a group of children on a tour of the galleries and introduces them to work by several folk artists including Sam "The Dot Man" McMillan and Q.J. Stephenson. Little Hands, Big Hands Gallery, Ongoing - "Little Hands, Big Hands". Younger visitors can be imaginative through creative exploration and play. Includes a puppet theater, mini art gallery, giant reading throne and more. Admission: Free. Hours: Wed.-Sat., 10am-4pm & Sun., 1-4pm. Contact: 828/327-8576 or at (<http://hickoryart.org>).

Highlands

The Bascom, a center for the visual arts, 323 Franklin Rd., covered bridge entrance at the end of Main Street, Highlands. Thompson Gallery, Through Aug. 17 - "Press On!" curated by Asheville Printmakers. A reception will be held on July 11, beginning at 5pm. Asheville Printmakers is an independent alliance of artists who express themselves through the medium of the print. Its membership encompasses both experienced and emerging artists, as well as those new to printmaking. The participants define "the print" broadly to encompass a wide range of processes and content, from traditional to experimental, and classic to contemporary. Joel Gallery, Through Aug. 24 - "Fragmented Reality," featuring works by The Bascom's 2024 Photography Artist in Residence, Erik Mace, curated by Alysia Fischer. The exhibition is a visual artist who uses photography, graphic design, and book arts as his tools of inquiry. As an experimental visual thinker, he is deeply curious about the power of photography and adjacent media, and how to take advantage of their limitations. Mace's exhibition will destabilize viewer expectations of familiar sensory material, transforming images, sounds, and other media into photographs to explore perceptions of the natural world. Bunzl Gallery, Through Aug. 3 - "Glass Pioneers: Western North Carolina and the Studio Glass Movement". This exhibition celebrates the rich tradition of glass art in the region, showcasing the journey of world-renowned artists, including Harvey Littleton, John Littleton, and Kate Vogel. It offers a blend of historical context, current achievements, and a glimpse into what lies ahead for glass art in Western North Carolina. Viewers have the unique opportunity to immerse themselves in the diverse and dynamic world of glass artistry, fostering a deeper understanding of the artists and their contributions to the region's cultural heritage. Curated by Alysia Fischer. Education Gallery, Ongoing - The Bascom offers our students and instructors an opportunity to display their creative works from workshops and classes. The perspectives of these talented individuals reveal self-expression, cultural awareness and technical discipline. These ongoing displays expose the viewer to the analysis, invention, exploration and decision making processes used by students during the development of ideas into a work of art. Winter Hours: Wed.-Sat., 10am-4pm. Contact: 828/526-4949 or at (www.thebascom.org).

Works by members of the ECU Ceramics Guild, Part of the exhibit "Like Buttah!"

North Carolina Pottery Center, 233 East Avenue, Seagrove. Through June 15 - "Hillside & Smithfield: A Tale of Two Potteries." Supported by Anna Graham, of New York and Pinebluff, N.C., Herman Cole opened Hillside Pottery in 1927, in Smithfield, NC. Cole, the son of potter J.B. Cole, produced the pottery; Graham, a trained artist, sketched artware shapes to be duplicated. Sales were made at the shop's roadside stand and numerous northern outlets identified by Graham. Hillside Pottery became Smithfield Art Pottery in about 1930. With talented turners like Jonah Owen, Charlie Craven, Charlie Teague, Guy Daugherty, Bill Gordy, and others, Herman Cole turned fledgling Hillside Pottery into Smithfield Art Pottery, a pottery-making behemoth with thousands of finished wares shipped out weekly. For more than a decade, in the wake of the Great Depression, superbly turned shapes, and superior glazes ensured strong sales and acclaim for the pottery's products. Through June 15 - "ECU Ceramics Guild: Like Buttah!" In collaboration with the ECU Ceramics Guild, the North Carolina Pottery Center is pleased to present this exhibition. This new exhibit features several butter-inspired works from ECU ceramics students and alumni alike that showcase their talent, creativity, and skill. Featured artists include ECU ceramics students: Alexandra McLendon (Greenville), Angela Hardison (New Bern), Anika Chhabra (Cary), Haley McElray (Greenville), Jinhua Yang (Statesville), Joshua Bolt (Apex), Kate Davis (Winterville), Nakhya Locklear (Lumberton), Nicholas Bisbee (Laurinburg), Sina Bennett (Greenville), Tamla Boone (Greenville), Tansy Obyrant (Farmville). Alumni: Andrew Linton (Charlotte), Drew Foster (Matthews), and Jennifer Mecca (Gastonia). Ongoing - Featuring permanent and changing exhibits on the history of North Carolina pottery, "The North Carolina Pottery Tradition" and "Seagrove Area Pottery". The Center also offers information on activities, maps and information about the potteries located in the Seagrove area and across the state. A display of representative works from more than 90 area potteries is also offered. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-4pm. Contact 336/873-8430 or at (www.ncpotterycenter.org).

Cultural Arts Building, ground floor, corner of Randall Parkway and Reynolds Drive, UNC-Wilmington, Wilmington. CAB Art Gallery, Through Aug. 29 - "Here There: (Re)collecting Labor on the American Railway," is a collaborative exhibition by Stefani Bryd, Caroline Louise Miller, and Alarm Will Sound. A closing reception will be held on Aug. 22, from 5:30-7pm with an Artist Talk at 5pm in room 2033. "Here There" is an immersive multimedia installation exploring complex historical relationships among labor, industrial infrastructure, and collective memory through an examination of three significant Transcontinental Railroad sites in Northern California: Donner Pass, Bloomer Cut, and Roseville Train Yard. The project weaves together film spanning both coasts, archival materials, audio interviews, field recordings, and a chamber orchestra score. Here There creates a dance between the everyday and the epic, past and present, noise and silence. The work is a collaboration between UNCWF Professor Stefani Bryd, Composer Caroline Louise Miller, and world-renowned contemporary music ensemble Alarm Will Sound. Summer Hours: Mon.-Thur., 10am-4pm. Dr. Carolyn Mazloomi, (American, b. 1948) "Sitting at the Feet of Wisdom", 2014, Fiber, 61" x 58", on loan from the artist

Louise Wells Cameron Art Museum, @ intersection of Independence Blvd. & South 17th Street, Wilmington. Through Oct. 20 - "The Work of Their Hands". The anchor work of "The Work of Their Hands" is a tulip quilt made 170 years ago by a now unknown, enslaved woman in North Carolina. Through her masterful stitchwork and time-honored design, this unknown artist sewed a story of strength and perseverance. Spinning forward from this quilt and its practice, The "Work of Their Hands" explores the continuing legacy of quilt-making and the evolution of textile art, starting with traditional quilts made for bedcoverings to contemporary fabric artworks by American artist Celeste Butler, Michael Cummings, Gee's Bend quilters, Michael James, Beverly Smith and others. Through Feb. 16, 2025 - "Thomas Sayre: Four Walls". A reception will be held on Apr. 26, from 6-9pm. An artist talk will be held on Apr. 27, from 11am-noon. The exhibit features new and never exhibited works by American artist Thomas Sayre. Each of the four large-scale pieces in the installation questions the belief systems and symbols that underpin the ideals of church, nation and creation. Made of materials that include tar, smoke, fabric gowns, gunshots, welding material, earth and fire, these works invite visitors to draw close and experience the messiness of making, and by analogy, to bear witness to the ways that life invades, entangles, and tarnishes us. Ongoing - Cameron Art Museum presents the only sculpture park in the country created to honor the United States Colored Troops and their fight for freedom. The opening of PNC USCT Park marks the one-year anniversary of the unveiling of Boundless, the public sculpture by artist Stephen Hayes that commemorates the United States Colored Troops and the Battle of Forks Road. This park creates a gathering space for the more than 60,000 visitors from across the country who come to CAM each year and the 8,000 school children who visit the museum on field trips. PNC USCT Park will become a community space for gathering, field trips, classes, workshops, storytelling, live music and USCT living history events for years to come, in which the sculpture Boundless will be the centerpiece.

Winston-Salem

Work by Owens Daniels

Artworks Gallery, 564 N. Trade Street, Winston-Salem. June 2 - 29 - "Owens Daniels: Something Bold: The Art that Broke the Mold" and "Seth Moskowitz: Sounds of Spring". Receptions will be held on June 7, from 7-9pm and June 9, with a Gallery Talk, fro 2-4pm. An Art Crush will be offered on June 21, from 7-9pm. Freedom. That is what art is, it's the something inside of everyone given the chance will break the rules, stand out and boldly go when you would dare not. Owens Daniels new collection of works, "Something Bold: The Art That Broke the Mold", has the ability to provoke, uplift, and transform. It is Daniels' intention to ignite a sense of curiosity and wonder in those who encounter it. Seth Moskowitz calls his show, "Sounds of Spring", but you won't hear any music, birdsong or any of the other sounds you might associate with spring. Unless you have synesthesia, a condition that causes some people to see shapes or colors when they hear music, or taste foods when they read or see shapes or patterns. Ongoing - The gallery is the longest running cooperative gallery established by artists for artist members, showing 12 exhibits per year in the heart of Winston-Salem's Art District. Approx. 21 artists show their work in mediums such as painting, watercolor, drawing, photography, sculpture, encaustic wax, and digital art. The gallery features the work of Marion Adams, Wiley Akers, Woodie Anderson, Mary Beth Blackwell-Chapman, Owens Daniels, Chris Flory, Jim Gemma, Don Green, Alex Hitchcock, Karen Moran, Kopf, Lea Lackey-Zachmann, Nanu LaRosee, Barbara Rizza Mellin, Seth Moskowitz, Wendell Myers, Katherine Mahler, Diane Nations, Betti Pettinati-Longinotti, Susan Snot, Jessica Tefft, Kimberly Varnadoe, and Mona Wu, as well as Associate Members: Kate Magruder and Beverly Noyes. Hours: Wed.-Sat., 11am-5pm & Sun. 1-4pm or by appt. Contact: 336/723-5890 or at (www.artworks-gallery.org).

Reynolda House Museum of American Art, Reynolda Road, Winston-Salem. Mary and Charlie Babcock Wing Gallery, Through June 2 - "Seen and Unseen: Photographs by Imogen Cunningham". Imogen Cunningham was one of the most experimental photographers of the 20th century. In this exhibition, unusual and rare images are presented alongside iconic ones, revealing why this American artist is one of the most important pioneers of photography and demonstrating how the unseen for Cunningham was eternally as important as the familiar. Embracing the times in which she lived, Cunningham (1883–1976) created images that reflect crucial movements and developments in art and photography during her 70-year career. Her photographs, seductive and dynamic, are inspired by a multitude of genres, including portraiture, family photographs, still lifes and street photography. This exhibition consists of 60 silver gelatin prints from the Imogen Cunningham Trust. West Bedroom Gallery, Through June 30 - "Art for the American Home: Grant Wood's Lithographs". In 1934, the Regionalist artist Grant Wood made an agreement with Associated American Artists (AAA) in New York to create a series of lithographs. Wood, the creator of Reynolda's iconic 1936 painting "Spring Turning," ultimately produced 19 lithographs, about a quarter of his mature work. His consummate drafting skills made him a natural for the medium. The AAA produced the lithographs in editions of 250 and sold them for $5 to $10 each. The opportunity to create affordable art during the Great Depression appealed to the artist. This small exhibition will focus on Wood's narrative lithographs ("Sultry Night," "Honorary Degree," "Shrine Quartet," "The Midnight Alarm") and still lifes. Northwest Bedroom Gallery, Through Oct. 27 - "Good Impressions: Portraits Across Three Centuries from Reynolda and Wake Forest". Portraits are often taken at face value—as accurate representations of a person's appearance, sometimes removed by decades or centuries. But portraits are often the products of delicate negotiations between artist and subject. Sometimes they flatter, exaggerating the sitter's beauty or rich attire. Sometimes they capture the subject engaged in his or her occupation, whether pausing during study or painting in his or her studio. Sometimes they celebrate an auspicious occasion, such as a recent engagement or the imminent birth of a child. This exhibition features three centuries of portraits of men and women, Black and White, solitary and companionate, classic and modern. "Good Impressions" was mounted to mark the recent conservation treatment of John Singleton Copley's 1762 Portrait of "Mrs. Daniel Rogers" (Elizabeth Gorham Rogers) in the collection of Wake Forest University, and Reynolda House's recent acquisition of Kwame Brathwaite's 1973 photograph "Changing Times". Master Bedroom Gallery, Through Dec. 31 - "Still I Rise: The Black Experience at Reynolda".

Unleashed Arts Center, 630 North Liberty Street, Winston-Salem. Ongoing - The Center is a special initiative by The AFAS Group to foster an appreciation of art and to encourage the development of emerging artists. The center provides a venue for art shows, seminars, artist demonstrations and includes working artists studios. Hours: Tue.-Fri., noon-6pm and Sat., 11am-4pm. Contact: 336/413-6667 or at (www.theafasgroup.com).

"Into a daybreak that's wondrously clear / I rise." Maya Angelou's poem "Still I Rise," published in 1978, was an assertion of dignity and resilience in the face of oppression. In the 1980s, Angelou used Reynolda as her stage, sharing words of humanity, survival, and triumph. But before her, numerous Black lives impacted and intersected with the story of Reynolda. "Still I Rise: The Black Experience at Reynolda" examines the lives of the Black women and men who helped shape Reynolda as it evolved from a Jim Crow era working estate into a museum for American art. Ongoing - Collection of 18th through 20th century art, sculpture, American art, and pottery. Admission: Yes. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 9:30am-4:30pm & Sun., 1:30-4:30pm. Contact: 336/725-5325 or at (<https://reynolda.org>).

Southeastern Center for Contemporary Art, 750 Marguerite Drive, Winston-Salem. Main Gallery, Through Aug. 18 - "David Gilbert: Flutter," featuring an exhibition of photography by Los Angeles-based artist David Gilbert. "Flutter" marks the artist's first institutional solo exhibition, providing the unique opportunity to experience twelve years of Gilbert's work in one setting. David Gilbert (American, b. 1982) creates photographs that flirt with impermanence. The artist constructs playful sculptures, backdrops, and scenes from found materials, photographing them in distinctive views and dramatic natural light. The resulting pictures capture spontaneous moments, paired with lightheartedness and sensitivity. Gilbert's artistic practice is difficult to categorize. He is a painter, sculptor, and photographer. His approaches to making art vary, alternating between vibrant and colorful scenes to more austere, melancholic constructions. At certain points, his process echoes traditional still life, portrait, or landscape painting, yet his choice in subject matter and technique resists these rigid classifications. Potter Gallery, June 19 - Sept. 15 - "Tender," featuring body- and word-based sculptures which explore intertwined layers of Black identity, history, and hope by Trinidadian-American artist Allana Clarke. A reception will be held on June 19, from 6-8pm. The visceral performance art and sensual sculptures of Detroit-based artist Allana Clarke (b. 1987) embody a profound interest in conveying the lived narratives of Black women within the African diaspora. Her deliberate choice of materials, such as 30-second hair bonding glue and cocoa butter, form part of a conceptual effort to rethink familiar material and reshape history. Ongoing - Founded in 1956, the Southeastern Center for Contemporary Art offers a front-row seat to the art of our time. Through visual art exhibitions, education, music, film, dance and theater, SECCA starts conversations that engage diverse communities and perspectives. SECCA is an affiliate of the North Carolina Museum of Art and a division of the NC Department of Natural & Cultural Resources. SECCA receives operational funding from The Arts Council of Winston-Salem and Forsyth County. Additional funding is provided by the James G. Hanes Memorial Fund. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-5pm, Thur. till 8pm; Sun., 1-5 pm, and closed Mon. & state holidays . Admission is free. Contact: 336/725-1904 or at (www.secca.org).

Virtual Exhibits

Artsville Collective in the Asheville, NC, area proudly presents the Virtual Gallery of Artists (VGA) program, an initiative designed to help elevate the careers of local artists. VGA offers artists a unique opportunity to gain global exposure, valuable marketing skills, and an array of promotional resources. The VGA program invites individual artists to apply for three months of marketing exposure through print, digital, and podcast platforms. Artsville provides guidance on building relationships with the press and art buyers, empowering artists by coming alongside them and forming connections. Notably, Artsville does not take any commissions on art sales, ensuring artists keep their full earnings. For further information about Artsville programs and opportunities, contact Meredith McBride by e-mail at (mccoy.louisemcb@gmail.com), call 828/216-8050 or visit (<https://www.artsvilleusa.com>).

This group exhibition features paintings, collages, and sculptures that embody the alluring ambience between sunrise and sunset. Plain air paintings capture the scattered, sleepy light of Dawn; Collaged drawings depict sidewalks blanketed by moonlight; Mixed-media sculptures portray nocturnal animals. Each artist reminds us of the recurrent and striking period of time when the atmosphere is neither totally dark, nor completely lit. Lower Level Gallery, Through June 26 - "Clay 24," featuring works by Will Baker, Alice Ballard, Rickie Barnett, Kenneth Baskin, Lisa Belsky, Christina Brinkman, Jim Connell, Josh Copus, Will Dickert, Judith Duff, Casey Engel, Lynne Hobaica, Maggie Jaszczak, Tom Jaszczak, Jan Lee, Eric Pardue, Peter Olson, Donald Penny, Michael Poness, Rob Pulley, Matt Repsher, Kirsten Stingle, Jim Whalen, and Kensuke Yamada. "Clay 24" celebrates 24 represented artists all working in the medium of clay. The exhibition is a diverse survey of ceramic works that are figurative, utilitarian, sculptural, and conceptual, showcasing that the medium can be rooted in traditional concepts in a way that is imaginative and inspired. Small Format Gallery, Through June 26 - "Eleanor Annand: Infiorescence". Unbound to one medium, Eleanor Annand applies varying techniques and ideas to paintings, prints, drawings, and ceramics. In her solo exhibition, a large-scale clay installation features intuitive drawings on the surface that are then echoed in her pen and ink illustrations. Each process acts as a meditative practice. Annand's explorations from one medium to another can be likened to the inflorescence of a flowering plant, that when combined, they form a succinct bloom. Showcase Gallery, Through June 26 - "Rafel Bestard: A Way to Realism". Mallorca-based painter Rafel Bestard makes his debut at Blue Spiral 1 with a series of classically rendered figurative paintings. Bestard's process starts with personal encounters, documented through photographs of studio moments and interactions with close friends. By referencing these images, he views his paintings as depictions of performance. Emotional tensions are portrayed through painterly gestures that encapsulate contradictory feelings such as, safety and uncertainty, melancholy and hope, resignation and defiance. Ongoing - Featuring works in a variety of mediums by regional, national and international artists. Works by Nabil El Jaouhari
Mark Bettis Studio & Gallery, 123 Roberts Street, in the Wedge Studios Building, Asheville. June 8 - 22 - "The Color of Air," featuring works by Asheville artist Nabil El Jaouhari. A reception will be held on June 8, from 5:30-7:30pm. This new collection of work by Nabil El Jaouhari consists of paintings and 3D work using air's elemental, emotional and conceptual nature. The exhibit explores the extensive and intensive limits of the force through its various forms. It relies on the literal forms air takes, from the calm to the violent, to inform the physical presence of the pieces. Using wood burning, collage, and air brush, Nabil creates abstract images on back-lit, frame-less pieces. As a result, the pieces have a floating physical presence imitating air. Ongoing - Featuring works by Mark Bettis, Deb Williams, Asher Zev Holman, Nabil El Jaouhari, David Sheldon, GrantPenny, Cason Rankin, Samantha Edmiston, Balsam Abo Zour, and Tess Darling. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 10am-5pm. Contact: Mark Bettis at 941/587-9502 or e-mail to (markdbettis@gmail.com).

for her beautiful skies, some serene and others dramatic. We always love when she brings us new work!" June 14 - July 20 - "Small Works Exhibition". A reception will be held on June 14, from 5-7pm. The group show will feature beach-scapes, wildlife scenes, waterway paintings and more in a range of media – all measuring 12 by 12 inches or smaller. Gallery director Samantha Spalti said, "Our visitors come from near and far to experience all that the gallery offers. Locals count on us for fine art for their homes and businesses. Visitors often seek local work that commemorates their trip here – especially if it travels easily. Sunset River Gallery offers a wonderfully eclectic mix. The "Small Works" show is ideal for any art lover who wants to take a small piece of the Carolina coast home with them. Ongoing - Sunset River Gallery is a gallery where art lovers and investors at almost every level can find extraordinary art. The gallery serves the regional community in the Carolinas by representing exceptional local artists and also carries original work by internationally renowned artists. Its location in Calabash, North Carolina gives the gallery an advantage over many in major metropolitan areas. The large 10,000 square foot gallery offers the very low overhead of a gallery-owned facility in a cost-efficient location. Online reach has made this possible. It allows Sunset River to provide excellent works from the 20th Century Modern and Contemporary categories at better pricing than high-overhead galleries. New owner Larry Johnson from Bethesda, MD, has bought and sold art through major and middle-market auctions around the world for two decades. He has been an amateur painter and sculptor for years, achieving a minor in fine art from Purdue University. The gallery has added a new 20th Century Art installation, featuring rare and valuable fine and modern art, primarily impressionist and abstract. furniture, pottery, and mixed media. June 25 - July 24 - "Color and Form," featuring works by Nell Chandler, Ellie Reinhold, and Evelyn Ward. "When we throw around titles for our featured artists' shows we try to suggest titles all three of us are familiar with and challenged by" says jeweler Nell Chandler. "I would say that I'm staying within my recent purview of little structures" explains painter Ellie Reinhold, "but running with the title ("Color and Form)" in trying to shake it up a little bit with both a different approach to color and new venues for it. We'll see if I manage it!" "Color, form, function. Not necessarily in that order," says potter Evelyn Ward. "Balancing the shape of a pot (or its form), how it will look on the surface and how it will be used are basically the job requirements of being a potter. The great thing is that this is an endless pursuit, an endless endeavor." Ongoing - HGA is owned by 21 local artists featuring painting, sculpture, photography, glass art, jewelry, wood, pottery, textiles & fiber art. Work by Wladimir de Terlikowski

Gallery C, 540 North Blount Street, Raleigh. June 1 - July 27 - "Wladimir de Terlikowski (1873 -1951): Paintings from 1920's Paris". A reception will be held on June 7, from 6-8pm. Wladimir de Terlikowski, known as "the Polish Master", spent much of his life working in Paris among a distinguished group of contemporaries including Modigliani, Picasso, Soutine, Chagall and Matisse, a group now referred to as the School of Paris. His work was greatly influenced by these masters and the art movements of the time. Traces of Fauvism, Cubism, and Impressionism, are all clearly evident in his work. Terlikowski's canvases are admired for their vibrant colors and strong sense of light with a palette largely inspired by the environs of the French countryside and coast. His recognizable palette knife technique has earned him comparisons to Paul Cezanne and Auguste Renoir. Gallery C is proud to offer these paintings from Wladimir's estate. Each presented in its original, custom, hand-finished frame by DELF, of Paris. Ongoing - Gallery C brings talented artists and fine art to the attention of serious private collectors and museums. Valdese

Work by Matthew Jaynes

Play It Again Records Building, 150 West Main Street, Valdese. Window Gallery, June 7 - July 2 - Featuring works by Matthew Jaynes. A McDowell County native, Matthew B Jaynes better known as a revolution outlaw, has been creating outsider art since the age of six. Taking inspiration from classic drive-in horror, Saturday morning cartoons, hot-rod car culture and Vincent Van Gogh, He has developed a unique artistic style. Sometimes sweet, sometimes psychotically surrealistic, his asylum artwork emerges dream-like from that liminal state between awareness and the Land of Nod. The artist's own struggle with the dualistic nature of God informs his every piece be they etched glass, ink-on-paper, or airbrushed objects. Each and every one painstakingly handcrafted inside his house of horrors! Hours: 24/7. Contact: David Mench by e-mail at (Waggletone@yahoo.com).

Burk Uzzle Studio, 106 Douglas Street E, Wilson. Ongoing - Burk Uzzle's career, like his pictures, is a nuanced composition blending American culture, individual psyches of particular places and people, and an atypical way of seeing ourselves, our values, and our community. Always respectful yet locating the poignant or quirky, the history of his narrative belongs to all of us. Initially grounded in documentary photography when he was the youngest photographer hired by "LIFE magazine" at age 23, his work grew into a combination of split-second impressions reflecting the human condition during his tenure as a member of the prestigious international Magnum cooperative founded by one of his mentors Henri Cartier-Bresson. His archive spans almost six decades. His current work rests deep in photographic appreciation of the quiet, strong, and eloquent beauty he discovers in America's small towns and its people. It is along small back roads, limned with feelings and a surety of surprise for the heart wide open, that continue to support his understanding of how America keeps its personality out on a limb. Uzzle's current bodies of work (some of which are African-American) are artful and constructed reflections of his subjects. His hope is for a graphic presentation of something universal within the particular, and all the better when involving a gentle chuckle and knowing smile. He is represented by SOCO Gallery in Charlotte, NC and Tracy Morgan Gallery in Asheville, NC. Hours: by appt. Contact: 252/363-1812 or e-mail to (burk@burkuzzle.com).
