The Nasher Museum of Art, Duke University Central Campus, 2001 Campus Drive, Durham. Through July 15 - "Art of the Andes". Art of the Andes features ceramics, textiles, metalwork, and carvings produced by cultures across the Andes region, a 4,500-mile-long mountain range on the Pacific Coast of South America. These objects, many on view for the first time, reveal the diverse and sophisticated artmaking techniques through which ancient Andeans expressed ancestral beliefs and personal and political identities. The wall case provides a comparative view of the ceramic production of several prominent Peruvian civilizations, presented chronologically from left to right. From the colorful painted motifs of the Nasca and the sculptural realism of the Moche to the whistling vessels of the Chancay, the ceramics depict both realistic and stylized animals, people, deities, food, and scenes of warfare, performance, and pleasure. Through July 20 - "Art of the U.S.: American Stories/American Myths." What comes to mind when you think of the history of the United States? The "discovery" of the continent by European explorers? The American Revolution and founding of the country? Westward expansion, or perhaps the turmoil of the Civil War? This re-installed gallery incorporates historical and contemporary works of art from the United States to tell some of these stories and confront some of these myths. The gallery includes a variety of works to encourage visitors to think about how these narratives shape our understanding and may preserve or counter fallacies of nationhood and democracy. Ongoing - The Collection Galleries feature rotating installations of the Nasher Museum's extensive holdings of historical art. Eight galleries, as well as the entrance to Wilson Pavilion, are dedicated to the museum's strengths, which represent a brief history of human creativity from different times and parts of the world. Just beyond the entrance, visitors will find the Incubator, a flexible space for rotating student- and faculty-curated exhibitions. Visitors are invited to return again and again to The Collection Galleries, where Nasher curators continue to refresh the galleries with gems from the collection. The museum's contemporary collection is showcased through rotating exhibitions within a separate pavilion. Works from the contemporary collection create new conversations and connections among historical works in The Collection Galleries. A breakthrough work by New York artist Fred Wilson from 1990, Colonial Collection, anchors the Arts of Africa Gallery. A painting by Kehinde Wiley is on view in the European Art Gallery. Ongoing - Nasher Museum Café and Museum Shop. Admission: Yes, but free to Durham residents, courtesy of "The Herald-Sun" newspaper. Hours: Tue.- Sat., 10am-5pm; Thur. till 9pm; & Sun., noon-5pm. ## Fayetteville

Throughout Downtown Fayetteville, July 2025 - June 2026 - "ArtScape 9," the latest installment of its transformative public art initiative. Celebrated for converting downtown into an immersive open-air gallery, ArtScape continues to define Fayetteville's creative spirit while attracting thousands of visitors each year. "ArtScape 9" will showcase a dynamic collection of outdoor sculptures and installations in prominent locations throughout downtown Fayetteville. This year's program builds on the momentum of previous cycles, which collectively draw more than 150,000 residents and visitors annually. Public art is more than a cultural enhancement—it's an economic catalyst. "ArtScape" increases foot traffic, stimulates spending at nearby shops and restaurants, and reinforces Fayetteville's growing reputation as a regional destination for arts and culture tourism. Visitors from across the state and Southeast seek out the installations, often using the Arts Council's Otocast mobile app to explore the exhibition through an interactive audio tour. Weatherspoon Art Museum, University of North Carolina - Greensboro, Cone Building, Tate and Spring Garden Streets, Greensboro. First Floor, Space for Engagement, Through July 26 - "The Opioid Project: Changing Perceptions Through Art and Storytelling," highlights mixed media works by students currently participating in UNCG's Spartan Recovery Program. In partnership with Health Story Collaborative, an award-winning story-telling and art non-profit focused on de-stigmatizing addiction, the museum hosted a four-hour art-making and storytelling event that provided students additional avenues to explore their experiences with addiction and mental health challenges. The exhibition situates art and the museum as a location for education, dialogue, and action for supporting physical and mental health. With a focus on opioid addiction, the exhibition will serve as a launching pad to talk about our broader community members' experiences of the opioid/addiction crisis and its impact on their lives. 1st Floor, Louise D. and Herbert S. Falk, Sr. Gallery, Through Jan. 10, 2026 - "Pattern Recognition". Patterns permeate our lives. Visual patterns abound in textiles, décor, and architecture. Natural patterns define the branching structures of trees and the cycles of the seasons. Mathematicians work with number patterns, psychologists discern thought patterns, and musicians arrange melodic patterns. "Pattern Recognition" is the result of generous collaborations with UNCG faculty. The Gregory D. Ivy Gallery, Weatherspoon Guild Gallery, and
