Winston-Salem

Work by Kathy Schermer-Gramm

Artworks Gallery, 564 N. Trade Street, Winston-Salem. Sept. 1 - 28 - "The Woods: Paintings of and on Wood," featuring works by Karen Kopf and "Earth(L)y Discoveries: Botanicals on Paper," featuring works by Kathy Schermer-Gramm. Receptions will be held on Sept. 6, Irom 7-9pm and Sept. 15, Irom 2-4pm, with a Gallery Talk at 2:30pm. An Art Crush will be offered on Sept. 20, from 7- 9pm. While living on a river, Karen Kopf became fascinated by the stumps of trees dredged out and left on the river bank. She has delved into the many shapes within these forms and depicted them realistically and abstractly using a textured technique called decalomania. The forms swirl and crest like waves of wood. Kathy Schermer-Gramm, the botanical illustrator, is an obsessive observer of plant life, a visual documenter of that which grows from the soil, dwelling on identifying species and describing it with imagery. Kathy's interpretations expand upon this. She does not look for the classical plant portrait based on Carl Linnaeus's system of taxonomy where the focus is on the reproductive cycle. Reynolda House Museum of American Art,

Reynolda Road, Winston-Salem. Northwest Bedroom Gallery, Through Oct. 27 - "Good Impressions: Portraits Across Three Centuries from Reynolda and Wake Forest". Portraits are often taken at face value - as accurate representations of a person's appearance, sometimes removed by decades or centuries. But portraits are often the products of delicate negotiations between artist and subject. Sometimes they flatter, exaggerating the sitter's beauty or rich attire. Sometimes they capture the subject engaged in his or her occupation, whether pausing during study or painting in his or her studio. Sometimes they celebrate an auspicious occasion, such as a recent engagement or the imminent birth of a child. This exhibition features three centuries of portraits of men and women, Black and White, solitary and companionate, classic and modern. "Good Impressions" was mounted to mark the recent conservation treatment of John Singleton Copley's 1762 Portrait of "Mrs. Daniel Rogers" (Elizabeth Gorham Rogers) in the collection of Wake Forest University, and Reynolda House's recent acquisition of Kwame Brathwaite's 1973 photograph "Changing Times". Mary and Charlie Babcock Wing Gallery, Through Dec. 5 - "Founder's Vision: The Private Collection of Barbara Babcock Millhouse". The exhibition features works of art from the personal collection of the founder of Revnolda House Museum of American Art. Audiences will have a unique opportunity to view more than 50 objects reflecting the best of American modernism from artists including Romare Bearden, Alex Katz, Edward Hopper, Joseph Cornell, Georgia O'Keeffe and John Singer Sargent among 40 other artists from the late 19th and 20th centuries—all under one roof. "The 'Founder's Vision' exhibition traces the entire arc of modernism in America," said Phil Archer, the Betsy Main Babcock Deputy Director at Reynolda and the exhibition's curator. Master Bedroom Gallery, Through Dec. 31 - "Still I Rise: The Black Experience at Reynolda". "Into a daybreak that's wondrously clear / I rise. Mava Angelou's poem "Still I Rise." published in 1978, was an assertion of dignity and resilience in the face of oppression. In the 1980s, Angelou used Reynolda as her stage, sharing words of humanity, survival, and triumph. But before her, numerous Black lives impacted and intersected with the story of Reynolda. "Still I Rise: The Black Experience at Reynolda" examines the lives of the Black women and men who helped shape
